THE WEATHER

Cloudy with probably showers is the Washington forecaster's prediction for Pittsburgh and vicinity for today and tomorrow. The sun rose clear at 4:30 yesterday and set cloudy at 7:28. The sudden showers yesterday afternoon were very unexpected and caused many persons unprepared. They lasted but a short while, however, the sky clearing toward 6 o'clock. The daily report for yesterday, furnished by the local weather office, follows:

Charles M. Schwab Is Relieved of Active Management of the Company by the Finance Committee.

WILL RETAIN HIS TITLE BUT ASSISTANT WILL DO THE WORK

Reason Is Officially Given as Ill Health—Influence of J. P. Morgan Believed to Be Responsible for Action of the Committee.

By the action of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation this afternoon Charles M. Schwab relinquished his hold as head of the largest steel combination in the world. Although he will retain the title of "President," a position he has held since the formation of the corporation, the active duties of that office will be performed by W. E. Corey, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, who was named by the finance committee in weekly meeting as "assistant to the president."

A few hours before this announcement came the new from Newark that the United States Shipbuilding Company, in which Mr. Schwab is a heavy stockholder and bondholder, had been found insolvent and that a receiver would be appointed. Mr. Schwab's connection with the ship concern, it is hinted, undoubtedly had something to do with the unlooked for action of the finance committee of the Steel Corporation.

The formal announcement of Mr. Corey's designation as assistant to the president was made by Richard Trimble, secretary of the finance committee. It is as follows:

"In consequence of the continued ill health of the president he has requested the appointment of an assistant to perform the active duties of the presidency, and at today's meeting of the finance committee Mr. W. E. Corey, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, was appointed to such position."

Is Practical Retirement.

Following the recent thick and frequent reports that Mr. Schwab was very ill, that he would be forced to resign, that his resignation had been asked for and that he had resigned, it is the common belief tonight that the appointment of Mr. Corey marks the practical retirement of Mr. Schwab. Why he was not relieved of the title is a matter of conjecture. It may be due to the fact, some say, that he had a contract for a number of years, but this is discredited, and more credence given the assumption that the members of the finance committee were taking the wisest course. It is said that Mr. Schwab cordially approved of the appointment of Mr. Corey, seeing there was nothing else to do.

During all these reports Mr. Schwab or his representatives have persistently denied that he would retire. These reports were started before the president of the Steel Corporation sailed for Europe less than a year ago. Then it was the stories of his ill-health came too fast to be denied. The fact that Mr. Schwab is a sick man and has been for some time is not denied. It is expected that he will again travel for his health.

Mr. Trimble, after the meeting, said that he had been instructed not to give further information to reporters. G. W. Perkins, chairman of the committee, a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., said:

Morgan's Man Is Dumb.

"You can draw any inference you like from the official statement. I must not discuss it."

"Yes, it is true," said P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia, who came over to attend the meeting. "Mr. Schwab is going away for his health. Mr. Corey of Pittsburgh has been made his assistant. No, I cannot explain why the changes were made. It's his health."

It is generally conceded that Mr. Morgan figured very prominently in the change. Before his return from Europe last week he had heard scattered reports of the dealings of Mr. Schwab in several industrial concerns outside the Steel Corporation, and the litigation of the United States Shipbuilding Company and the publicity given Mr. Schwab's connection therewith added oil to the coals. Mr. Schwab's part in the financing of the ship corporation and the transfer of the Bethlehem Steel Company was repudiated by J. P. Morgan & Co., and Mr. Schwab was then left to "paddle his own canoe."

Before Mr. Morgan got back to this side it was said that he had cabled from England for Mr. Schwab's resignation and that it would be considered as soon as he arrived. Affairs probably had not reached such a crisis.

Carnegie Is Consulted.

It is said, too, that Andrew Carnegie was consulted before the final step was taken. It will be remembered that when Mr. Schwab left the presidency of the Carnegie Steel Company to become president of the United States Steel Corporation the stipulation was that he was to receive something like $350,000 per year from Mr. Carnegie for looking after his interests in the new combination. Mr. Morgan was also to pay about an equal amount, and his salary as president was to be $100,000 per year. Whether these figures will remain as they are is a matter of the widest conjecture. It is quite unlikely that Mr. Schwab's salary will be reduced, and it is also quite unlikely, as a financier said tonight, that he will be allowed to remain very long in that position performing none of the duties of the office.

Another view, however, is taken of the matter. Notwithstanding the ability of Mr. Corey and other men to handle the affairs of the steel corporation, there is reason to believe that Mr. Schwab will remain just where he is for some time, at least. It is barely possible that he was given the alternative of resigning. Sentiment, doubtless, played a very small part in the transaction.

Since Mr. Schwab was placed in the responsible position he has acted as the real head of the vast corporation for less than a year. Recently most of his time has been spent abroad and in traveling. Even for the past two months he has been very little at his office in the Empire building. Much of this time has been passed at Loretto and on several occasions Mr. Schwab has been reported ill at the Lorraine, his New York residence.

Mr. Corey Not a Stranger.

W. E. Corey will not come to New York as a stranger. Already he is being referred to as one of the men Andrew Carnegie made and perhaps as far as the public is concerned this is about all that is known of him. His friends in commercial and club circles, however, are unlimited, and Mr. Corey will drop naturally into a delightful trend of pleasure and relaxation.

Since becoming president of the Carnegie Steel Company he has had occasion to visit New York frequently. In fact so well is he known in certain circles that tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria, where he has been stopping since Thursday last, it was not an infrequent thing to hear some reporter—there were a dozen if one—asking the clerk or messenger if he knew Mr. Corey and the invariable reply was "Yes." His face is seen often in "Peacock row." Tonight however, he carefully secluded himself. It was said that he had dined with Mr. Schwab at the Lorraine, where Mr. Schwab lives. But this was probably incorrect.

Mr. Corey is a member of several of New York's representative clubs and his connections in a social way are diverse. He has frequently visited the metropolis with members of his family and has entertained to some extent.

MR. COREY'S APPOINTMENT SURPRISE TO GREAT MANY

Known to But a Few 24 Hours Before Announced—Gossip About Successor.

The announcement that Mr. Corey had been made the "acting president" of the United States Steel Corporation was a great surprise to all in Pittsburgh except to those most intimately connected with the Steel Corporation's affairs in this city. The principal officials admitted that they had not known of the plan until 24 hours before it was announced.

With the official confirmation of the story the next question that suggested itself was who would become president of the Carnegie Steel Company in place of Mr. Corey. Judge J. H. Reed, a director of both the United States Steel Corporation and the Carnegie Steel Company, said: "The details have not yet been announced, it seems. I do not know even whether the position Mr. Corey has been called on to fill will be permanent or temporary. The position of president of the Carnegie Steel Company may not become vacant, therefore. No special meeting of the board has been called as yet. The regular meeting will be held on Monday."

W. W. Blackburn, secretary and treasurer of the Carnegie Steel Company, left for New York last evening. What significance this bears in the matter, if any, is not known. It is known, however, that Mr. Blackburn stands high in the estimation of those in control of the company's affairs.

Col. H. F. Bope, first vice president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and Homer J. Lindsay, assistant to the president, both would say no more of the plans than that announced in New York by the finance committee.

The Carnegie Steel Company, of which Mr. Corey is president, is the new company formed in New Jersey a few months ago. It includes the old Carnegie Company, the National Steel Company and the American Steel Hoop Company. The Carnegie Company in turn owns all the stock of the original Carnegie Company, a Pennsylvania corporation.

STEEL CORPORATION WILL BUILD RAILROAD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, June 30.—The Steel Corporation will ultimately have a road of its own connecting Cleveland, Lorain and Pittsburgh. Of this the line now the Newburgh & South Shore will be the nucleus. In all the cities named the trust has big mills.

Negotiations for a right of way for the road to connect Cleveland and Lorain are now on. It is not known locally the proposed route from Cleveland to Pittsburgh, but the line will probably pass through the iron regions of the Mahoning valley, touching Youngstown.

The move is in line with the policy of the corporation to gradually concentrate its manufacturing on the shores of Lake Erie. The proposed road will allow the corporation to be entirely independent of the tariff rates in transporting its raw and finished products. While this line will nominally be a public carrier, it will be used chiefly to carry the products of the Steel Corporation.

New Assistant to C. M. Schwab

WILLIAM ELLIS COREY,
President of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Born and Raised in Braddock, Mr. Corey's Life Has Been Active

William Ellis Corey has been identified with the steel industry for over 20 years, and has been in the service of the Carnegie interests all of that time.

Mr. Corey was born May 4, 1866, in Braddock, where his parents still reside. He attended the common schools until he had reached his 16th year, when he secured a position in the laboratory of Carnegie's Edgar Thomson works. His commercial education was continued at the same time in Duff's college, Pittsburgh. He also studied chemistry at home and mastered the theory and practice of metallurgy so thoroughly that when responsibilities of management came with his appointment to official position, he was in every way qualified.

From the Edgar Thomson laboratory he was transferred to one of the plate mills of the Homestead steel works and subsequently to the order department of the plant. He was made superintendent of the plate mill at the age of 22, to which position the duties of the open hearth department and the slabbing mill superintendencies were also added. His next advance was to the position of superintendent of the armor plate plant, which he filled until 1895, when he succeeded C. M. Schwab as general superintendent of the Homestead steel works, embracing the direction of the Carrie furnace plant, when the Carnegie Company secured that property, and the Howard axle works, when it was established.

While in control of the armor plate department, Mr. Corey invented an improved process of manufacturing armor, which is known to ordnance engineers as the "Corey re-forging process," by which the ballistic resistance of armor was greatly increased, and the weight of plate to be carried by a ship considerably reduced.

Mr. Corey was elected to the office of chief executive of the Carnegie Company and the Carnegie Steel Company, April 16, 1901. His administration of the various official positions he has filled has been singularly successful and is largely due to the fact that he held the confidence and good will of the thousands of workmen with whom he associated. Mr. Corey resides in Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Duquesne and Pittsburgh clubs of this city.

DELAY OF FILTRATION DENOUNCED BY HOLLAND

SAYS IT IS MURDER

NO NEED OF NEW STUDY

Dr. W. J. Holland, curator of the Carnegie museum and one of the best informed men in the United States on all matters relating to public health and filtration of water in particular, gave an interview yesterday in which he scored the council of this city for their delay in advancing the filtration plan. He denounced the postponement of the work as criminal, resulting in murders. He urged the immediate resumption of work on the sand filtration plan as the best method by all odds.

Dr. Holland brings to the discussion of the subject at this time all the carefully-obtained facts brought out by the investigations of the Pittsburgh Filtration commission of several years ago. The findings of that commission have become authoritative wherever the subject has been investigated, and there is constant demand from other cities for its report.

Commends the Gazette.

"I cannot too cordially commend the position taken by The Gazette in the editorial of this morning, which I have read with great interest," he said.

"I have frequently said in public and in private that in my judgment the failure to proceed with the work of purifying the water supplies of the city of Pittsburgh, is little short of criminal.

"That typhoid fever is propagated in the main by contaminated water supplies is a fact that is no longer open to question. The scientific men of the world who have given their best thought to this matter are agreed on this point.

"While it is true that oysters grown in polluted waters, fruit that has been distilled, and milk that has been contaminated, may occasionally cause an outbreak of the disease, the common source is water receiving the outflow of sewers, household drainage and the like from barnyards. When a community is compelled to drink water that is defiled in these ways, it is certain that typhoid fever will prevail in that community.

What Pittsburgh Is Drinking.

"Pittsburgh is drinking the drainage of the farms, towns and villages of western Pennsylvania in a more or less diluted form.

"Experiments carried on over 30 years ago in Europe have shown that typhoid fever germs can be eliminated from the water by sand filtration. In the German empire every city and town supplying water to the inhabitants is required by law to filter that water through sand.

"In England, in France, in fact, in all civilized countries on the other side of the Atlantic, it is now considered to be an offense against decency to compel people to drink water that has not been treated in this way, unless the supplies are obtained from high levels and non-populated districts.

"There are a few European cities of great size that get their water supplies from among the mountains, the watersheds of which are uninhabited, and kept purposely free from the habitations of men, or from lakes, the shores of which are carefully patrolled and into which no defiling substance is allowed to be cast. The experience of European cities shows that where water is sand-filtered typhoid is practically eradicated.

Berlin Banished Typhoid.

"In the city of Berlin, where typhoid fever once was rampant, cases of typhoid are extremely rare, and the majority of them are imported cases, the disease having been contracted elsewhere.

"If there is any one subject with which I can claim familiarity as the result of continued and widely extended study, it is this. I was chairman of the committee of the commission formed by the city of Pittsburgh, charged with carrying on the scientific investigations that were made, and the results of which are published in the voluminous report which was issued by the city of Pittsburgh a number of years ago. At the time that the work of investigation was begun, we resolved that we would investigate the whole subject, would open the doors wide to a full and free discussion, and that we would invite all parties who had any methods for purifying water to present their methods and subject them to rigorous scientific tests. Side by side with the sand filters which were installed, were a series of mechanical filters, which were operated for a year and a half, and the tables that are published in that report show the relative merits of the two methods of procedure. The whole matter is open to the inspection of the critic, so that he who runs may read.

Mechanical System Criticised.

"While it is true that by the use of mechanical methods water may be clarified, and a very large percentage of the morbific germs removed, nevertheless, the results were not as good as were obtained by sand filtration and the amount of care that was required to operate the mechanical filters so as to prevent them from doing bad work was such as not to commend them in our judgment to the citizens of Pittsburg.

"There is always danger with mechanical filters of carrying over into the water supply furnished to the people an excess of alum or an excess of lime.

"The water that the people of Pittsburgh are drinking now is safe water. If freed by filtration from disease-producing germs it is water fit for the gods to drink.

"If mechanical filtration were resorted to, the effect in all probability would be to make a proportion of the water hard. I have only to appeal to the housewife who knows what hard water is, and what the difficulties are in the laundry, and to the kitchen in dealing with it, to realize that if the women only control the votes upon this subject we will get back to rational filtration.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Hanna, Wyo., June 30.—Hanna was the scene of a terrible disaster at 10:30 a. m. today, when an explosion of fire damp in mine No. 1 of the Union Pacific Coal Company snuffed out the lives of 234 men, injured scores of others and caused the destruction of a vast amount of property.

The mine was not fired, as was stated in the earlier reports, but the explosion was terrific, and completely shattered the timbers of the main shaft and numerous entrances, filling the working with debris, and those of the miners who were not killed outright by the explosion were buried alive.

The explosion was heard for many miles around and attracted people from the adjoining settlements. Huge timbers and railroad iron were hurled 500 feet from the mouth of the shaft. Supt. E. S. Brooks and a large force of men began the work of removing the debris from the shaft that they might reach the entombed miners. Their progress into the mine was blocked by the foul gases and several times they were forced to return to the surface.

All day the rescuing party worked, the force being increased from time to time by the arrival of ranchmen and others from nearby settlements, and by those of a relief train sent out from Rawlins, which arrived at 2 o'clock this afternoon. About 1 o'clock this afternoon four men were taken out alive, and a half hour later they were followed by 42 others. Many were unconscious and had to be carried from the workings. Several are in a serious condition, but it is believed all will recover.

Two hundred and eighty-two men went down in the mine at 7 o'clock this morning, and up to a late hour tonight only 48 have been accounted for. Of this number two are dead. It was some time after the explosion occurred that the first man was brought to the surface. He was followed by others until 1 o'clock when the last of the 48 was brought out.

The rescuers were unable to penetrate further into the mine, as it was necessary to make another opening to permit fresh air to reach the lower levels.

OMAHA, NEB., June 30.—At the Union Pacific headquarters in this city, no details are known of the Hanna mine explosion. Until the rescuers shall have reached the scene of the explosion nothing will be known as to the extent of the damage and the number of casualties.

RECEIVER WILL NOW TAKE CHARGE

QUICK ACTION IS NECESSARY

Judge Kirkpatrick announced today that he would appoint a receiver for the United States Shipbuilding Company. The judge said something must be done at once to conserve the interests of all involved, and as today the first payment on the 5 per cent first mortgage bonds falls due, he would appoint a receiver immediately if the opposing counsel would agree upon names to submit to him.

Judge Kirkpatrick based his decision upon the insolvency of the company, both under the laws of New Jersey and also the general insolvency laws and the conduct of its affairs by the directors.

Some question was raised as to the disposition of the Bethlehem steel plant of Mr. Schwab, and until the terms of his lease are digested that point lies in abeyance, but by virtue of the possession of the stock which the receiver will hold, he may come into the equity court and terminate the lease upon any of the plants at five days' notice.

Furthermore it is to be stipulated that actions against the shipbuilding company may be instituted only after the consent of the federal court has been gained. This will preclude hasty foreclosure proceedings. On the other hand the receiver will be fully empowered to institute such suits and proceedings as in his judgment may be necessary for the protection of the properties.

NO LEGAL OBSTACLE AGAINST CRAMP LOAN

Judge Decides That the Firm Needs the Money and Commission is Not Excessive.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—So far as legal interference is concerned, the $5,000,000 loan recently negotiated by the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Company, with Drexel & Co. as underwriters, can be consummated. This morning Judge Willson filed an opinion in which he refuses the preliminary injunction asked for by John W. Grange and Andrew H. McNeal, two minority stockholders, who sought to have the company restrained from increasing its capital stock from $5,000,000 to $6,250,000 and its mortgage indebtedness from $1,500,000 to $7,500,000.

Judge Willson says the commission of $250,000 to be paid to the bankers for underwriting the loan is not exorbitant. Taking up the second point, that the undertaking to issue shares of the capital stock to the purchasers of the notes to be issued in the loan is unlawful, the court held that in view of the great exigency in the business it was necessary without great delay to obtain a large sum of money and to obtain it even at a heavy cost will be to the great ultimate advantage of the corporation.

The manufacturers have decided to hold a run to Pittsburgh in the fall.

RAILROAD IS NOT NOTIFIED

Milwaukee, June 30.—Upon returning from Chicago, Mrs. A. F. Adams, Jr., wife of the vice president of the Adams Tobacco Company, reported to the police that she had been sandbagged and robbed of $18,500 on the train en route to this city. The thief, a woman, is said to have leaped from the train while it was running 40 miles an hour.

Mrs. Adams stated she had gone to Chicago Monday to draw her $25,000 inheritance from the First National bank of that city. After paying some debts she had started back on the evening Northwestern train with $18,000 in cash and a certificate of deposit for $2,500. On the way she went into the toilet room of the car, when another woman entered and struck her over the back of the head with a slung or some other blunt instrument. She was knocked unconscious and robbed.

When asked this afternoon what report had reached him of the robbery, J. Martin, general agent in this city of the Northwestern, said:

"No report of any such robbery has been made, and, of course, a report by the trainmen would be the first thing upon reaching division headquarters. I would certainly have received a report had anything of the kind taken place. If Mrs. Adams has been robbed it would have been reported at once to the conductor."

MRS. BAER'S AMBITIONS POINT TO THE STAGE

CHICAGO, June 30.—Mrs. H. L. Baer, who was Miss Mabel McKinley, niece of President McKinley, went through Chicago today on her way to Los Angeles, where she is to do her first singing under her contract with Maurice Grau, which, according to the information here, calls for a salary of $1,500 a week. When asked today why she was going on the stage, Mrs. Baer answered with the single word, "ambition." She said she had signed the contract while her husband was away from home, and against his protest. She smilingly added her husband had become reconciled, and Mr. Baer asserted.

"It was my Uncle William," said Mrs. Baer, "who first suggested that I study under Victor Capoul, manager of the French opera in Paris. After that at Mme. Melba's suggestion, I studied under Margaret Elliott of New York. My uncle always took a great interest in my musical education, and I suppose that is one reason I have longed to excel in that line."

Her stage name will be her maiden name.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, June 30.—The announcement of the death rate among Christian Scientists caused considerable satisfaction among the 8,000 Scientists in Mechanics hall this afternoon, and the reason for this favorable showing was found in the testimonies given by members from all over the world in regard to cures effected, many of them by absent treatment. During the last three years the clerk of the Mother church has sent out printed requests asking that he be notified when any member "passed off."

Today he reported. "The result of the information thus gathered shows that the death rate in the Mother church is 2.24 per 1,000 against the death rate of 18.73 per 1,000 in the city of Boston for the year 1902. The mortality in the membership of the Mother church is lower than that of a year ago, as will be seen by the comparison 2.24 for this year, and 2.32 for 1902."

The supreme hour of the convention came this afternoon when the presiding officer called upon representative healers of the faith from all sections of this country and Europe, even including Australia, and one by one they arose and gave their reports of the condition of the faith in the sections they represented.

Growth of the Church.

A dispatch sent to Mrs. Eddy gave this information: "During the past year 90 new churches and societies have been established, making the total number at present 769, many of which have erected large church edifices. The number of additions to the membership of the mother church in Boston for the year was 3,606, 2,555 of whom were admitted at the last communion."

One report which was received with enthusiasm was that given by George W. Reeder of Berlin, Germany. It indicated a growth of 200 per cent and showed that the Christian Science text book had been circulated in Russia, Hungary, Bavaria, Italy, Belgium, Holland and South Africa.

Announcement was made that the Rev. Irving C. Tomlinson of Concord, N. H., had been elected as the new president of the mother church. Mr. Tomlinson then replaced Mr. Reeder as the presiding officer and stated that William R. Johnson had been chosen as the new clerk and Stephen A. Chase treasurer to the president. Tomlinson read the following dispatch from Mrs. Eddy, pastor emeritus:

"Give my sincere thanks to my dear church for this loving and comprehensive dispatch" (Sunday's message).

Loving Message Sent.

A dispatch was sent by the members of the church to the pastor emeritus, saying in part:

Beloved Teacher and Reader: We wish to express our high appreciation of your helpful and loving letter to the mother church and rejoice that we have been inspired by its gentle entreaty to strive for a holier consecration to God and to Christ-like service in His cause.

We beg that you will accept thanks for your cordial hospitality which welcomed us at your home at Pleasant View and made possible for us a most enjoyable and profitable visit. We were very much impressed by the gracious generosity of the people of Concord, which contributed so largely to our convenience and good cheer. And we desire to make known to them our grateful thanks.

We know that words of ours cannot compensate your never-failing devotion and labor in behalf of this success of our cause and of our heavenward progress, but we believe that you can interpret without words the song of our enduring gratitude.

ONE KILLED AND OTHERS HURT IN FREIGHT WRECK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., June 30.—As a result of a freight collision this evening, one man was killed, three fatally injured and two men seriously hurt. The collision occurred one mile east of Maynard, O., on the Columbus, Lorain & Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The dead: Fireman J. Williams of Bridgeport, O., crushed to death beneath his engine. The injured: Noah Burke, engineer; Benjamin Duer, brakeman; Read Ricker, flagman.

Besides the above, a number of other members of the crews were injured by being struck by falling debris.

The collision is said to be due to the carelessness of Conductor A. S. Boggs and Engineer Burke. The men had orders to pass train 33 at Maynard, O., and instead of waiting started ahead. There is a sharp curve at the junction, where the wreck occurred, and the crews on both trains stuck to their posts in an effort to bring their engines to a stop.

WANTS HIS DORA BACK.

Gen. Cassius M. Clay's Heart Still Yearns for Child Wife Who Loved Another.

LEXINGTON, KY., June 30.—(Special.)—Gen. Cassius M. Clay may again take under his roof his former child-wife, Dora Clay Brock, whose husband was killed by a train Sunday at Longview, Ill. Gen. Clay learned today for the first time that Brock had been killed. "Bring my Dora back to me," he said to his attendant, Joe Perkins.

Gen. Clay is 97 years old.

Perkins had a message sent asking the girl to return to "Whitehall" to see Gen. Clay. It is stated here that she will go back to "Whitehall," but it is not known if Gen. Clay will again marry her. She has one child, a boy, 3 years old. Gen. Clay divorced her because she was in love with Brock, who was her sweetheart, and he did all in his power to make their home happy.

HIGHWAYMAN HOLDS UP TWO SHARON CITIZENS

SHARON, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—Street Commissioner Taylor was held up by a lone highwayman on North Water street last night as he was returning home from a meeting of council. During the scuffle the revolver was discharged, the bullet grazed Taylor's head and the footpad ran. Later the same robber, presumably, held up John Franklin. When Franklin resisted he shot him through the hand. He got no money.

Arbitration Papers Signed.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The agreement between the Fuller Construction Company and the United Board of Building Trades was signed today and the company expects to resume building operations tomorrow. The Building Trades Employers association insists that its own plan of arbitration must be accepted by the labor unions before the general tieup is ended.

ANOTHER MURDER IN BALDWIN TOWNSHIP

There is a mystery connected with the death of Henry Sauerwilt, 40 years old, who was found dead in his boarding house in Baldwin township early yesterday morning. His skull had been crushed with some blunt instrument. Although William Oscar Willihouse, with whom the dead man boarded, is under arrest, suspected of having killed Sauerwilt, the officers have no direct evidence to sustain their suspicions. Willihouse, who is confined in No. 7 police station, says he is innocent. District Attorney Haymaker and County Detective Robinson were present at the autopsy last night.

Willihouse, his wife and Sauerwilt have only been in this country seven months. Both men are miners and Germans. Sauerwilt's wife and children are still in Germany. The men have had several quarrels about money matters, but Mrs. Willihouse always interceded in Sauerwilt's behalf. Yesterday was Sauerwilt's birthday. Monday Mrs. Willihouse and Sauerwilt came to this city and bought some refreshments with which to celebrate the occasion. Among the purchases was a jug of whisky.

They arrived home in the afternoon and Monday night Peter Rieland, a neighbor, paid Willihouse a visit. Sauerwelt and Rieland had a dispute and Willihouse separated the men. Later Rieland left. Mrs. Willihouse told Inspector P. F. Kelly of the South Side district that she left her husband and Sauerwelt together at 10 o'clock Monday night. She never heard anything after that. The men were drinking.

Early yesterday morning Mrs. Willihouse while walking out of her room into the kitchen, fell over the dead body of Sauerwelt. The woman became frightened, and taking her child went to Mrs. Udick's house and gave the alarm. Word was sent to Inspector Kelly, who, with Special Officer James Conners, hurried to the scene. Willihouse in the meantime had got up and was searching for his wife among the neighbors.

When he was accosted by Inspector Kelly he said that he left Sauerwelt sitting at the table at midnight Monday and went to bed. Later he got up and walked in the yard. He said Sauerwelt was then on the steps, unconscious and bleeding. Willihouse carried his boarder into the kitchen and went after Dr. R. E. Poole of Castle Shannon. He said he was unable to get the physician up and returned home again and went to bed.

He said he was of the opinion that Rieland, with Frank Nally and George Godich, three miners with whom Sauerwilt had frequently quarreled, had returned to the house and assaulted him. When Mrs. Willihouse was questioned her story differed from her husband's, and he was taken to the police station.

Inspector Kelly learned that Sauerwilt owed Willihouse $25 for board. Mrs. Willihouse said she did not hear the men quarrel, but knew her husband had a hatred for Sauerwilt. The condition of the room showed there had been two men sitting there. There were two pipes and two whisky glasses on the table, and one of the chairs in the room was covered with blood and hair. Detective Robinson found a small iron bar covered with blood and hair. The officers believe that both the chair and iron bar were used on the dead German.

The autopsy showed that the right side of Sauerwilt's head was fractured in nine places. The man was also beaten about the face and eyes. Sauedwilt was trying to raise money to bring his family to this country by raffling some of his effects among the German miners of Baldwin township. Willihouse is about 40 years old. The men who he says probably assaulted Willihouse could not be found by the officers yesterday. Dr. Poole denies that Willihouse was at his house during the night.

RUSSIA ASSUMES AN OFFENSIVE ATTITUDE

Uses Strong Language in an Official Utterance About Jewish Petition.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Surprise was created in administration and diplomatic circles today by the tone of the Petersburg that there had been no communication between the United States and Russia on the subject of the Hebrew petition which this government has decided to transmit. The statement that if such communication were received "Russia would naturally know what to reply to such an attempt at interference in her internal affairs," is taken as an indication of the strong feeling of that government on account of the incident.

The surprise expressed on all sides was increased when Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, confirmed that such a statement had been sent out from St. Petersburg, and that it accurately set forth his government's attitude.

When asked to explain further, Count Cassini was significantly silent. He thought the announcement was in itself sufficiently explanatory. No change of policy has been announced at the state department, and it is not believed that any is contemplated at present.

TORPEDO FLOTILLA TO GO TO ST. LOUIS

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(Special.)—That the people of the interior may have their interest in the navy's development stimulated by a sight of modern war vessels, Secretary Moody desires, if possible, to order the torpedo flotilla to St. Louis for the opening of the exposition next spring. Naval officers are opposed to risking any vessels larger than torpedo boat destroyers so far up the Mississippi.

GEN. PAYNE'S HEALTH IS SERIOUSLY IMPAIRED

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—(Special.)—Private advices from Washington say Postmaster General Payne's health is much worse than the public is given to understand. Milwaukee physicians say that absolute rest is demanded, and they are surprised that he is permitted to go on with his work in the postoffice department.

PROPRIETORS GONE, MEAL TICKETS NOT GOOD

MONESSEN, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—The hungry populace of this town is indignant. The cause is the refusal of George Shrader, manager of one of the most popular restaurants here, to honor meal tickets bought at that restaurant. The cause of Shrader's action is the disappearance of H. C. English and his wife, who have been conducting the restaurant for two months and are alleged to have taken with them nearly $500 received for meal tickets. Shrader refuses to recognize any of the tickets issued by English or his wife.

DELAYED FILTRATION IS DENOUNCED BY HOLLAND

mechanical filtration is the fact that the apparatus employed has necessarily but a very short life. It will soon wear out and rust out and have to be replaced. While it may cost a few hundreds of thousands of dollars more to install a sand filtration plant at the outset, once installed it will last practically forever. There are filter beds in operation in Europe today that have been in operation for 50 years under the sand filtration system, that are as good today as when they were first built.

"There is only one thing, it seems to me, for the people of Pittsburgh to do, and that is to rise up in their might and protest against the system of wholesale murder which is being perpetrated in our midst through the carelessness and inane neglect of those whom we have entrusted with the care of our municipal concerns.

"I have stood too often by the deathbeds of men and women whose precious lives have been burned out by this filth-begotten disease to feel indifferent in relation to the subject.

"Hundreds and thousands of the best young people of this community have been literally slain since the agitation in favor of pure water was taken up.

Philadelphia Out-Faced Pittsburgh.

"The work ought to have been begun long ago. The city of Philadelphia took up the work after the city of Pittsburgh, and a great deal of the water supply of that city today is purified, and the typhoid fever is rapidly decreasing in Philadelphia. They took from us as one of their leading experts, a man who had received much of his training in connection with the work in the city of Pittsburgh, William A. Copeland, the eminent bacteriologist.

"We call Philadelphia slow sometimes, but she has proven herself to be wise enough to adopt the results that were reached by the Pittsburgh commission, and to put them into effect within her own limits, while Pittsburgh, that paid for the original investigations, is still sitting and proposes to refer a decision in reference to questions that are no longer open to discussion to a councilmanic committee. I would like to know what more a councilmanic committee can ascertain in relation to this subject and its bearings upon our welfare than has been ascertained already by Professor Welsh of Johns Hopkins university, William A. Copeland, Allen Hazen, Morris Knowles and Dr. Walther Riddle.

Would Like to Hear From.

"If there are any members of councils who have more scientific information and accurate knowledge in relation to questions of this nature than these gentlemen have, we should be glad to hear from them. They are men whose names are known in the world of science as absolutely capable and unprejudiced.

"Every day of delay involves three deaths—practically three murders committed by the councils of the city of Pittsburgh. Every day witnesses a gathering around the bedsides of the sick in scores and hundreds of homes of anxious friends and relatives kept in suspense and agony because of the delays of the council of the city of Pittsburgh to do its duty. This is plain talk, but it is as true as the gospel.

"As to the claims that there is not enough money to do the work and do it efficiently—while perhaps, owing to the increase of cost in the prices of material and labor incurred since the estimate was made, the amount is not quite sufficient, nevertheless, there is enough money at the disposition of those in charge of this work to begin it, and I believe the people of Pittsburgh would not at all object to promptly voting enough money to carry the thing through to completion, and it can be done at comparatively little more than has already been appropriated, provided there is not going to be a whole lot of jobbery and dishonesty in connection with the work of the contracts.

Supplying the Southside.

"Arrangements should be made to supply the South Side with filtered water. If the Monongahela Water Company cannot be bought out at once, it should be compelled to take a filtered supply of water from the city of Pittsburgh and distribute it to its consumers. The history of the Monongahela Water Company is that of a corporation honorably conducted. I am not in favor of any attempt to rob those who have honestly invested their money in a great enterprise of any credit that belongs to them, or of the money they have legitimately expended, but it appears to me that the city of Pittsburgh as soon as possible should acquire possession of this propetty upon just terms.

"The revenues derived from that source through the water rates would pay the interest upon the bonds necessary to make the purchase, and in my judgment, with proper administration, would leave annually a surplus sufficient in the course of a number of years to redeem the bonds."

ANOTHER POLE WAS UGLY WITH A REVOLVER

"I'll kill you like a nigger," shouted John Yonitski, a Pole, of Mulberry alley, as he pressed a loaded revolver to his wife's head. She wrested the revolver from him, and hid it in the house. Then she went to the Twelfth ward police station and told her troubles to the sergeant. Officer A. J. Schulz was sent to the house, and arrested Yonitski.

AMMON'S COUNSEL SEEK A LOOPHOLE

Will Make an Earnest Effort to Save Client from the State Prison.

HOPE TO OBTAIN HIS RELEASE

Application for Certificate of Reasonable Doubt Will Be Strongly Opposed. in Assistant District Attorney Taylor's Argument Today.

Robert A. Ammon, who was yesterday sentenced to serve at least four years in Sing Sing for his connection with the Franklin syndicate, was still in the tombs today, while his attorneys were cudgeling their brains for some technicalities that might keep him out of prison. Those who know Ammon wonder whether, after all, this astute adviser of "329 per cent Miller" will ever be locked in Sing Sing.

Assistant District Attorney Taylor is anxious to defeat Ammon's application for a certificate of reasonable doubt, and for that reason, after he listens to the argument of Ammon's counsel tomorrow he will probably ask Judge Giegerich to give him until next Monday in which to prepare a brief disposing of the contentions of the prisoner's counsel and showing why Ammon should be sent right on to Sing Sing like any other convict, to begin serving out his term. As it generally takes a week before a decision is rendered in such ex-parte cases it may be the middle of July before Ammon will know whether he is to pass his time in Sing Sing pending his appeal or whether he is to have a chance to be at large on bail for many months. On this point Assistant District Attorney Nott who tried the case, said today:

"There is a very common, but erroneous impression that all the time a convict can save in the tombs or out on bail before going to Sing Sing is just that much less he will have to serve. But the fact is that his time does not begin to count until he actually gets in state prison, so that all his dallying with the law means just that many more days in jail before his sentence begins, provided he does not get bail. Unless Ammon succeeds in getting a certificate of reasonable doubt that would admit him to bail he will merely have subjected himself to many days of unnecessary incarceration in the tombs."

The order signed by Justice Truax giving Ammon's counsel a chance to argue tomorrow for a certificate of reasonable doubt is the usual formal order that is always issued whenever it is requested by the counsel for a person under sentence to state prison.

HAVE HAD ENOUGH BORIC ACID DIET

RESULTS ARE KEPT SECRET

After Data Has Been Tabulated It Will Be Made Public by the Agricultural Department—Chemical Was Administered in Capsule Form.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The first of the series of experiments to test the effect of preservative chemicals used upon foods, which the secretary of agriculture was authorized to conduct by act of congress, concluded today. The experiments began last December under the direction of Dr. Wiley, chief of the chemical bureau.

The preservatives used thus far are borax and boracic acid, and while it is the intention to continue the investigation after a rest of three months, it is not now considered that it will be necessary to make further use of either the borax or the acid.

Speaking today in general terms Dr. Wiley said there had been a class of 14 men, all of them engaged in the agricultural department, and most of them in the chemical bureau, and that there were two divisions of them, half of them having the preservatives administered to them at a time the period continuing 40 days.

"We have not," said the doctor, "administered the preservative with the food, but have given it separately, generally in capsules. At times the dose has been as large as the men could stand, and at other times we have given only small doses. In cases in which large doses were administered, of course, we checked ourselves when we found that the men had been pressed to the limit. We found some of them capable of taking far more than others.

"Our experiments have been conducted with a view to ascertaining the effect of the preservatives on digestion, and our observations have covered the effect on the digestion of fat, protein and gluten. We also have observed the effect on the assimilation of food, and we have carefully noted increase or decrease in weight following a certain course. We have recorded the effect of the preservatives on the blood. We found that fully nine-tenths of the chemicals passed out through the kidneys, and most of the remainder in the perspiration."

Salicilic acid will be the next article experimented with, and the experiments will continue indefinitely.

BIGELOW HAS MORE CHANGES

Director Says Additional Amendments Will Be Made to Railroad Bill.

MEETING ON FRIDAY

Compensation Clause May Be Withdrawn to Secure Other Concessions.

PLEASURE IN A LEGAL TANGLE

The battle between Mayor Hays and Director Bigelow over the Duquesne way elevated railroad ordinance will be renewed in the joint corporations committee of councils Friday night. Chairman J. W. McNeil promised yesterday to call a meeting Friday night.

Mayor Hays yesterday said he thought the ordinance might contain a cash compensation clause when it goes through councils. Director Bigelow made a flat declaration against any cash compensation for the franchise and against any amendment requiring the Pennsylvania company to permit another road to use the elevated line.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson said yesterday that the corporations committee would hold several public hearings and the ordinance would be submitted to City Solicitor Rodgers before being reported back to councils. Mr. Stevenson said that the corporations committee would call a special meeting of common council whenever it got ready to make a report. He said he thought the committee would have the ordinance ready in a couple of weeks.

May Withdraw Compensation.

It developed yesterday that the compensation advocates of common council have decided to withdraw all demand for compensation if the Pennsylvania will agree to the amendment allowing other roads to use its line.

Select Councilman John A. Murphy of the Twentieth ward declared in favor of compensation yesterday, and stated that he believed that the other select council members would vote for a compensation clause.

The question of the right of the city to give the Pennsylvania company a right of way on the Allegheny river wharf without an enabling act from the legislature is bound to be a very large factor in the contest, and one which the Hays-Stevenson faction is ready to use to force the railroad company to come to terms.

Pennsylvania railroad officials denied yesterday that they would withdraw the ordinance before further action had been taken on it by councils.

Director Bigelow went into details yesterday in defense of the Duquesne way ordinance. He said that several amendments which were not presented in common council Monday night would be offered in the corporations committee.

Clearance Between Supports.

Director Bigelow said an amendment would be presented providing for a horizontal clearance of 30 feet between all steel or masonry supporting the elevated structure along Duquesne way. He said where the road was on its own property, solid masonry or closed bridgework would be constructed.

Director Bigelow said another amendment would be offered providing that the company shall lift its Liberty avenue tracks and branches within two years after the contract between the Pennsylvania company and the city is signed.

"I am not in favor of any cash compensation," said Director Bigelow, "and do not believe that the failure of the citizens councilmen to vote for the compensation could be rightly construed as a violation of their pledges. My point is this: This is not a new franchise, as referred to in the Citizens party form. It is an old franchise, or the use of one street for another.

Director's reply, when asked if he would favor any arrangement whereby the railroads could use the Pennsylvania line along Duquesne way was in the negative.

The director took issue with Councilman W. H. Stevenson on the point raised by the latter that the proposed elevation of 21 feet and six inches, prescribed for every road that may wish to cross over the Pennsylvania elevated line, would be prohibitory. Mr. Bigelow said that this was the standard clearance between tracks crossing above grade, and he produced copies of ordinances passed which showed that this was the elevation at which the Pennsylvania Company was compelled to put bridges over its tracks at various street crossings in the East End.

The director stated that the Pennsylvania company proposed to erect a seven or eight-story building for a terminal on the wharf. This is expected to cost $500,000 or $600,000. The director stated that the company had paid $5,000,000 for the land which to build its buildings and yards and that the taxes on this property would be about three times what the city would receive from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company in return for the Monongahela wharf grant, the $10,000 yearly rental included.

Mayor Hays made the following statement yesterday when asked what he thought of the proceedings of common council Monday night and of the fight to have a compensation clause in the Duquesne way ordinance:

Hays Tells His Opinion.

"I have not changed my position on the question of compensation. It is a matter for councils to determine. I would not be surprised to see the ordinance pass finally with a compensation clause. If it does I will give the railroad company an opportunity to accept or reject it.

"I am very well satisfied with the action of council last night. I simply want amendments providing for damages to property, a specific understanding as to when the tracks are to be taken off Liberty street and permission given to other railroads to either run under or above the tracks of the Pennsylvania. Had my original plan of sending the ordinance to a committee of five been adopted, the bill would now have been a law and the unpleasant differences of the past 10 days would have been avoided."

In answer to the report that the resignation of Director E. M. Bigelow is demanded by the mayor, Mr. Hays said: "Director Bigelow and I have differed on his ordinance, but at no time have I contemplated removing him from office."

Major A. P. Burchfield, chairman of the property committee of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition society, is of the opinion that the city cannot give the Pennsylvania Company any rights on the Duquesne wharf without special authority from the state legislature. Major Burchfield will appear before the corporations committee to make a statement. He said yesterday:

"I know from the experience the Exposition society had that the city has no legal right to dispose of any portion of the Duquesne wharf without a special act of the legislature."

The rivermen are as equally positive that the railroad company cannot build a line on the wharf by permission of the city alone and they threaten to sue for an injunction if councils pass the ordinance.

Thomas Patterson, attorney for the Pennsylvania Company, said yesterday that the company was perfectly sure of its ground that the decision of the courts in the suit to prevent the Baltimore & Ohio road from building on the Monongahela wharf established the right of the Pennsylvania company to use the Duquesne way wharf.

Mr. Patterson stated that there was no intention on the part of the Pennsylvania to withdraw its ordinance until councils had acted upon it.

CITY HEADS GO TO POOR FARM

CONTROVERSY OVER HENS

Executive and Director Moore Disagree Upon Merits of Certain Fowls, but Bury Differences When Birds Are Served "Maryland Style."

Marshalsea was thoroughly inspected yesterday by Mayor Hays and a majority of the members of councils. Everything was found in splendid condition and Director Clark, and his assistants, were complimented on their management.

Each year this inspection is made. Yesterday the party left Pittsburgh about 9 o'clock over the Panhandle and returned to the city at 5 o'clock. Owing to the long session of common council Monday night and yesterday morning, many of the members did not make the trip. Dr. J. P. Sterrett, from the Nineteenth ward, and the father of the city legislature, did not stay at home. He retired at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, rested two hours and was one of the first to reach Union station. The doctor has started on the last quarter of the century run.

Mayor Hays and Director Harry Moore, of the department of safety decided that it would be pleasant to get away from the job hunters for one day and they thoroughly enjoyed themselves at Marshalsea. County Controller R. J. Cunningham, and County Recorder J. D. O'Neil were also among the invited guests. Numerous well-known Pittsburghers were also of the party and the guests of Director Clark numbered about 150.

There are almost 1,000 inmates at Marshalsea and they are receiving every attention. The new buildings for the insane are about completed. The state board of charities pronounce them the best in the United States. When the quarters are thrown into use, the crowded condition of the present insane wards will be entirely relieved.

Mayor Hays demonstrated that he is familiar with the workings of a farm. Director Moore also lays claim to being an expert. They wrangled for some time over the quality of the hogs, but finally agreed that the Berkshires were about the best porkers that ever rooted. In the hennery there was another argument. A blue Andalusian hen strutted by them and that started things. The mayor spoke glowingly of her good qualities. The director insisted that the Leghorn was his favorite. Mr. Hays declared that the silver laced Wyandottes held the medal for producing eggs. The director made the point that their fruit is too small. The dinner bell ended the argument and judging from the way both officials "worked" on the spring bird, "Maryland style," all hens looked alike to them.

In the afternoh there was a ball game between the politically insane and the councilmen. The score was 10 to 10.

Henry Wolftang is an old inmate of the home and his duties are to look after meat. While he was chopping a piece of beef, his work was interrupted long enough to renew an acquaintanceship begun 50 years ago. Rudoiph Voskamp was a guest at the farm and was very much surprised to find his old friend Wolftang an inmate. A half century ago when Voskamp stepped from a train in Pittsburgh, a raw recruit from Germany, he was directed to a barber shop by Wolftang. For a number of years they kept up the acquaintanceship and then they drifted apart to meet again at Marshalsea.

SUCCESSOR TO FALCONER.

George W. Burke Appointed Superintendent of Parks by Director E. M. Bigelow.

Director E. M. Bigelow yesterday filled the vacancies in the bureaus of parks and highways and sewers. George W. Burke, superintendent of Highland park two years ago, was appointed superintendent of parks to fill the the place made vacant by the resignation of William Falconer. The position pays $3,000 a year.

E. G. Niecewarner, acting superintendent of highways and sewers, was given the place permanently.

Burke was formerly a resident of the Twentieth ward. Niecewarner was formerly an assistant engineer in the bureau of construction. Director Bigelow stated that neither was a political appointment.

Trolley Killed Horse.

A horse attached to a buggy driven by Daniel Horn of Edgewood was struck and instantly killed by a car at South and Center streets, Wilkinsburg, shortly before noon yesterday. Mr. Horn was in the buggy with a child. They were thrown to the street. The little girl is uninjured, but Mr. Horn, who is 65 years old, is suffering from the nervous shock.

Tammany Plans Big Fourth.

NEW YORK, June 30.—(Special)—Tammany intends to have a great celebration in the old wigwam on the Fourth. United States Senator Bailey of Texas will make the principal long talk. Former United States Senator Towne will also be a long talker. State Senator Grady will make a short talk.

Father and Son Arrested.

James Chapel is at his home, near Carnegie, in a serious condition, as the result of being attacked and badly beaten last Saturday night. Orlando Black and his son, Orlando Black, Jr., were arrested on Monday night and held in $1,000 bail each for a hearing on a charge of felonious assault and battery, preferred by Mrs. Chapel.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settlement indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Pittsburgh Daily Gazette. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE BEGINNING OF THE END ONLY THREE DAYS LEFT

Come Now If You Would Save $150 to $200 On Choice of World's Best Makes of Pianos.

If there are any left that have thought of taking advantage of Ambuhl Bros.' great money-saving sale of the world's best makes of pianos, it will be necessary for them to do so within the next three days, as by that time, if not before, all will be sold.

This has probably been the most exceptional event of the kind ever known. Exceptional not only in the quality, but in the quantity of instruments sold.

Many is the household that is proud today in the possession of a piano bought at Ambuhl Bros. during this sale, and proud to know that, although they paid only a very modest sum for it, still it is one of the world's most noted makes.

Did ever anyone hear of such noted makes of pianos as Kimball, Chickering Bros., and Hallet & Davis and a few others, that always sell for $350, $400, $460, $475, $525, to $850, going for $240, $268, $290, $310, $327 to $410?

However, they are nearly all sold, and at the rate they are going, this special lot will all be gone within three days.

Remember, these are not second-hand, or even shop worn, but entirely new, direct from the factories of some of the most noted makers of the world.

Other new high-grade pianos that formerly sold for $500, $540, $575 to $600 are going at this sale for $115, $135, $160, $187, $195 to $240.

Most any piano in the house can be bought for $5 down and $10 per month. Some for $20 down and $8 per month, and some as low as $5 or $6 per month.

Here is a bargain for some one. One of the finest Chickering Bros. pianos that we ever had in our store, in a beautiful mahogany case, was damaged a little in transportation. We offer it for $200.

A fine Hallet & Davis was also damaged a little in finish. It will go for $200.

Another bargain that is making us famous in this sale, is an elegant full-size, upright piano, full iron frame and mahogany case, that we are selling for $165.

Values like these have never been approached.

As stated above, this very remarkable sale will end in three days. The purchase of a piano is a big event in any household, often postponed many years on account of the high price ordinarily asked for the best grades. Here now is your opportunity to get one of the best at a big saving in price. In some instances almost half.

An event of this kind will probably never occur again in Pittsburgh.

AMBUHL BROS., 632 Smithfield St.

First Anniversary

We have just closed the first year of our existence in the new annex. And what a year it was. We did more business than any two previous years.

We now have 15 floors of Furniture and Carpets---2 basement floors of Queensware and Art Goods. More floor space than any other store in the state.

WHEN YOU STOP TO THINK PICKERING'S

Is the key to the whole situation. There are many kinds of furniture sold. Receiver Sale, Bankrupt Sale, Sheriff Sale, Old Shop Worn back numbers that have been on show for years. Moth-eaten carpets and rugs all of which can be sold for less than half the original cost and then it would be dear, because it would be out of style—shop worn, fine holes eaten through the carpets, rugs and furniture covering that you could hardly see at first, but when you got it home you would find your bargain dearly bought.

IT'S DIFFERENT WITH PICKERING.

Every piece of furniture every yard of carpet is of this season's buying. No old style, shop worn goods with us—we do too much business to have old stock. We wouldn't carry old goods at any price.

You wouldn't be satisfied after you got the old goods home, then we would suffer. Some don't care. We do. Once our customer always our customer, that is why we grow. That is why we never sell OLD STOCK. "Nuf Ced."

Wednesday, July 1, 1903.

With the ending of the festivities at Kiel and the departure of the American fleet for Portsmouth, it is quite obvious the visit to German waters has done something to promote a friendly feeling between the two nations. The American naval representatives were hospitably entertained. They participated in the racing events, won over German competitors and were heartily cheered by German crowds for their victories. That is quite as significant a straw to show the course of the wind as the compliments of Imperial William—rather more so to our mind, for it is the good will of the German people we most desire.

Political eyes are turned toward Iowa today, where the Republican state convention will assemble to nominate candidates for state offices and express sentiments upon national policies. The "Iowa idea" had birth there last year. It was not a radical departure from fixed Republican policy, but certain events enabled the Democratic press to magnify its slight divergence and certain extreme advocates aided in creating the impression that it was "something different." The present convention is of general interest, because it is expected to more fully define the "Iowa idea" and declare whether it is something different, or whether the Hawkeye state adheres firmly to the good, old protection principle, which we believe it does.

What may prove the worst mining accident in the history of this country is reported from Hanna, Wyoming. A large number of dead have been taken from the mine and the total loss of life has been estimated as high as 175. This is considerably in excess of the number that perished in the awful disaster at Johnstown nearly a year ago, namely, 117, though it is no larger than the early sensational estimates in that case. The Johnstown loss was the largest in the bituminous mining history of this state. In no other region than that about Pittsburgh will there be keener public appreciation of the horror that has fallen upon Hanna. The people here know what it means and they know how to pity the distracted survivors.

For the first six months of this year all records have been broken in the matter of real estate transfers and building operations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. In Pittsburgh the increase in transfers over the first half of 1902 is more than $12,000,000, and in Allegheny more than $1,000,000, as shown by the comprehensive review in our local news columns. There could be no better testimony to the prosperity of the community or the faith of capital in its future. As a matter of fact there is no record of investment in Pittsburgh realty having proven a losing venture, though there are abundant examples of it proving profitable. Improvements now under way and proposed will add largely to values and give fresh impetus to city growth by relieving congestion and increasing facilities of transit.

The appointment of W. E. Corey, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, to be assistant to the president of the United States Steel Corporation, assigned to "perform the active duties of the president," indicates how little of real importance might have attached to the numerous rumors that President Charles M. Schwab would resign. No one who knows anything about the matter doubts the ability of Mr. Corey to "perform the active duties of the president," and there are yet a half-dozen of Mr. Carnegie's "young partners" after Mr. Corey who are equal to the task when needed. This is no reflection upon the ability of Mr. Schwab, but merely the truthful estimate he would himself place upon his business associates. As for the stories about friction in the company there is nothing to them. Mr. Schwab is relieved of the hard work because he feels himself unable to carry the burden without danger of a break-down. Under the new arrangement Mr. Corey will attend to all technical matters, while Mr. Schwab retains an active interest in the corporation's affairs.

We recently published some statistics showing how some cities that once had a high death rate from typhoid fever have brought it down to a diminutive factor in the mortality returns by purifying the water supply. No disease is more amenable to control than typhoid, and its existence is absolute proof of sanitary negligence. The problem of securing a pure water supply is much more difficult in crowded Europe than in this country, but in London, with a population of over four and a half millions, the typhoid fever death rate in 1901 was only 1.31 per ten thousand; in Paris, with 2,660,559 population, 1.29; in Berlin, with 1,891,900, only .47. Such is the sanitary care practiced in German cities that in none of them is the death rate from this cause so much as 1 per ten thousand, and in Nuremburg and Frankfort it is below .25 per ten thousand. But in Pittsburgh the rate in 1902 was 12.47 per ten thousand and has been on the increase since. Allegheny is a close second, the rate in 1902 being 10.08 per ten thousand. Pittsburgh has a bigger typhoid fever death rate than any city in the civilized world, and the reason for it is our neglect to purify the water supply. Hundreds of our people are killed annually and thousands sickened by our municipal negligence. But after years of talking our municipal authorities are still talking, and not doing. This inaction is shameful.

Obstructing City Progress.

The failure of common council to pass the Pennsylvania railroad ordinance is much to be regretted. It has been under consideration since last October and its merits should be fully understood, but plausible occasion for further delay was furnished by the controversy over the question of compensation. The amendment charging an annual rental of $50,000 would be reasonable and would be strenuously supported by The Gazette if the proposed grant to the use of Duquesne way stood alone as a new franchise. We doubt whether we should favor it on any terms in that case, no matter what the railroad company might be willing to pay. But that is not the issue. The railroad company already possesses a franchise for rights of way parallel to those conferred by the pending ordinance, and the question at issue is whether the old franchise shall be exchanged for the new one. With the issue fairly understood there should be no difficulty in reaching a decision. The existing franchise gives to the railroad company the use of an important downtown thoroughfare, with the right to use surface tracks. The exchange franchise removes the tracks to a thoroughfare of less importance, and provides that they shall be elevated, so as to leave the surface open to ordinary use as before.

We do not undervalue in the least the value of the Duquesne way franchise or the importance of that thoroughfare. We regret the necessity of imposing upon it any servitude. But no capable judge can doubt the immensely superior importance to the city of relieving Liberty avenue from servitude. It and Penn avenue are the only city thoroughfares extending from the Point to the East End. From it start all the numbered avenues, the principal business streets of the city. So long as it is used as a part of the roadway of the Pennsylvania railroad, the downtown section is cut in two, in a way that dwarfs the importance and depresses the value of Penn avenue and interposes a barrier to business development in the whole Point district. In fine, Liberty avenue is the key to the improvement of the business district of Pittsburgh and to the relief of the congested conditions which now oppress business development. As partial measures of relief Diamond and Virgin alleys are about to be widened into avenues, both branching from Liberty avenue. To obtain this additional street room, rows of buildings are to be removed at large expense; the city has the opportunity to clear Liberty avenue without expense.

There is nothing new in the case. As The Gazette recently pointed out, efforts for the removal of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks from Liberty avenue have been going on for over 35 years. This removal to Duquesne way has been repeatedly solicited, with large offers of public and private contribution to the cost of removal. Now that the long desired exchange may be effected without any expense to the city the opposition is standing in the way of the city's interests.

For Pure Food.

Today is the date specified in the new federal pure food law, passed by the last session of congress, for that measure to go into effect, and it will be interesting to follow the results of a measure against which there has been so much vigorous protest. It is not likely that American importers interested in the prohibitive clauses of the measure will submit to enforcement without further protest, while the foreign shippers, who will feel the effect of the law more severely than even the home importers and jobbers, will likely be heard from again when once the measure becomes operative. The statute, it will be remembered, was very stringently drawn and was intended to protect the public from adulterated food and beverages sent to this country from abroad. Provision is made for a thorough official examination of the foreign goods, or samples of them, which are to be submitted to the government chemist. If the foods or beverages are found to contain anything injurious to health they will be ordered sent back to the country from which they came or else destroyed. Our foreign consuls will be expected to co-operate with the home authorities in securing evidence and supplying information relative to the shipment of food supplies to this country.

Viewed from the standpoint of the shipper and importer this is an exceedingly severe law. But it is not any more drastic than the laws Germany has recently enacted and against which so much protest has been made. It was not the intent of congress to pass a retaliatory law, but there is no doubt it will be so construed, both by Germany and France, and we may expect to hear officially from those governments on the subject before we are done with it.

The law is on the statute books and was put there after a very thorough consideration of all points at issue, and the increasing danger from the growth of the impure food importations was thoroughly understood and proved. The American public has been eating doctored foreign foods and drinking deleterious foreign beverages until the evil has reached a point of almost unusual danger. If the enforcement of this law will stop this wholesale importation of impure supplies it should be the duty of the officials charged with its enactment to hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may.

All Facts Are Known.

Dr. William J. Holland speaks out upon the filtration question in vigorous manner as becomes one who has thoroughly investigated the subject and has no doubts upon it. Dr. Holland was chairman of the scientific section of the filtration commission created in 1896 and his opinion is based upon personal study of every known device for purifying water, operated side by side for a year and a half under his direction. Such being the case he gives testimony of the highest value and is justified in properly characterizing the criminal delay in carrying out the plans voted for by the citizens of Pittsburgh, along with funds for the purpose.

Dr. Holland makes several points in his interview that should not be overlooked in any consideration of the subject. First, medical and scientific men are agreed upon the fact that the prolific source of typhoid fever is in impure water supply. Second, that sand filtration has proven, during 50 years of practical application, to be an efficient and uniformly certain means of ridding water of its dangerous impurities. Third, that mechanical filtration with its lime and alum reactions will convert the "soft" Allegheny river water into "hard" water in the city supply system. These three facts are sufficient to convince any fair-minded, intelligent man there is but one right course for the city to pursue. That course is to take up the sand filtration matter and push it with all possible speed to full fruition of the plans.

The proposition to have another commission to "investigate" is an utter absurdity. The commission of 1896 covered the field thoroughly. It covered it ably. Its findings are embodied in an official report that is the property of the city, and the information is available to any councilman or any citizen who desires a more thorough understanding of the subject. There has been but one discovery worth considering since that investigation was made—an electrical process invented by a German scientist—and it has stood no practical test to demonstrate its value. There is no reasonable excuse for another commission and none for continued delay in carrying out the expressed will of the people to rid them of the frightful mortality, loss of time and expense of illness due to a preventable disease. The matter lies at the door of councils and the city administration and upon them rests the fearful responsibility.

Worth Thinking About.

There is a good deal to think about in the treasury statement covering the fiscal year ended yesterday. At first glance it is apparent that this is, as the late Hon. Thomas Brackett Reed said, "a billion dollar country." The total revenues of the government, exclusive of the postal service, for the year aggregated $538,887,000, considerably more than half of the billion for the biennial life of a congress. The expenditures were $506,176,000. The surplus revenues were $41,000,000 less than last year, due entirely to the repeal of internal revenue taxes by congress, but they were $9,710,000 greater than the estimate made at the time the repeal bill was passed. That nearly $10,000,000 represents a percentage upon an excess of prosperity not foreseen by the expert mathematicians of the treasury department.

The treasury, as a result of successive years of unprecedented prosperity of the people is overflowing. There are available cash assets of more than $231,000,000—enough to construct the Panama canal and improve the Ohio river to a permanent depth of nine feet. There is a stock of gold that surpasses the wildest dreams of the avaricious conquerors of the Incas. And on this first day of July there is no sign of a check in the steady stream of wealth pouring into the nation's coffers. At the present rate the surplus will pay the cost of the Panama canal—and more—during the period required for its construction. In fact, the excess over the estimate is almost equal to that task!

Yet there are people who fret for a change. There is Mr. Bryan with his unverified predictions of dire disaster heavy upon him; he is not satisfied. There is former President Cleveland, who issued bonds in time of profound peace to keep the government afloat; he is not satisfied. Mr. Bryan continues to shout for free silver and Mr. Cleveland admonishes his followers to never abandon free trade. In spite of them the country is so prosperous. In spite of their efforts it will continue so.

Yankees Farther North.

Is it that there is confusion of mind in Great Britain—or rather in England—as to who are Yankees, or is our northern frontier on the point of vanishing? In the United States Yankeedom is, in its narrower aspect, a distinct section, and its inhabitants are classified apart from other citizens of the United States as Yankees. We are, however, accustomed to have our friends across the seas classify all dwellers under the stars and stripes as Yankees, and we who are not Yankees in the narrower sense think so well of Yankees that we are proud at home or abroad to be called Yankees, just as residents of Allegheny and the surrounding boroughs when they go to New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and elsewhere complacently enroll themselves as from Pittsburgh. It is a somewhat new thing, however, and it may be significant of coming events, to find that in England things Canadian are being referred to as Yankee. "The king and queen went to the royal agricultural show, which has been attracting one-half of London," the cables tell us, and "what most interested the royal party, according to a report in a morning paper, and moved them and the spectators to laughter and applause, was the trotting of a half dozen American Canadian horses in the 'comical American trotting sulkies.'" And then the report goes on to speak of the horses and their drivers as "the Yankees." We know, of course, that our Canadian cousins as the years have gone by have become nearer akin to the people on this side the imaginary line we call the border, and have taken on a greater likeness to us of Yankeedom than to their parent country. If this process has gone so far that the likeness is so clearly established as to cause the Britons to speak of the visitors from the "great self-governing colony," Kipling's "Our Lady of the Snows," as Yankees, then it is almost time for the Canadians to abandon the union Jack and fly the stars and stripes.

When we are sweltering neath the heat
Of July's torrid clime,
We'll sign in vain for the snow and rain
Of the rare and raw June time.

Perhaps the explanation of that black rain that fell in West Virginia the other day is in the fact that having rained so much the weather man was out of the usual kind.

If Bulgaria and Turkey will go off somewhere in a quiet place and have their threatened war over before the beginning of the busy season it will be greatly appreciated.

It is believed that by using a little energy the local bootblacks can effect an organization, go out on strike and get back to work all before the busy season commences.

A telephone fight in Chicago councils has raised the hopes in aldermanic circles that a trip to Europe or a new automobile might be possible later on.

President Roosevelt desires the office hunting fraternity to understand that he has gone up on Sagamore Hill and pulled the hill up after him.

We trust Admiral Cotton did not get his uniform mussed up at Kiel. He will need it later on at Lisbon and Portsmouth.

The absence of the "Is it hot enough for you?" fiend was another June blessing that we ought to be thankful for.

Reform is sure to be unanimous in New York city. The reformers have taken to arresting all the other fellows.

Now that the "Hiawatha" craze has died down we have to look forward to the fly and mosquito season.

It was just like June to try to make up all that heat deficiency in the last day of her stay.

THE KAISER AS HOST.

The more than courteous treatment accorded the American fleet at Kiel by the German emperor and the officers and men of his fleet is certainly not only flattering to this country, but showed most clearly the real eagerness of William II. to be on friendly terms with the United States. There was at one time a misunderstanding in regard to the visit of an American squadron to Kiel, which threatened to give rise to ill-feeling toward this country in Germany. This misunderstanding was happily cleared away, however, and the cordiality of the reception accorded Admiral Cotton's fleet and the apparent good feeling exhibited on both sides at Kiel can scarcely fail to make stronger the bonds of friendship which already unite the two countries.

The relations between the American and German governments at the present time are of an essentially friendly character. So long as the peoples of the two countries keep their heads and inform themselves fully before too warmly criticising the actions or motives of the other, there is no reason why these friendly relations should not continue for an indefinite period in the future.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

In the organization of amenities the kaiser has always been particularly happy. His efforts to win American favor have been unremitting and sedulous. There is no reason to doubt that he sincerely desires the friendship of this people, and there is no ground on which it should be withheld from him. The United States and Germany are two great nations whose interests are in conflict at no point now in sight, but which have much in common that should dispose them to friendship. The felicitations exchanged at Kiel may well represent the sincere good-will between the nations. The kaiser's courtesies are appreciated here, and the kindly feeling which on behalf of the German people he expressed is cordially reciprocated.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The full reports which have come from Kiel regarding the reception of our squadron by the Emperor William are decidedly amusing. When one considers the history of the past year, the whole episode appears to be a delightful little comedy. The Venezuelan affair, the running commentary in the German newspapers upon the Monroe doctrine and upon American manners, the interchange of long-range shots between Admiral Melville and Count von Reventlow and the latter's very frankly expressed opinions about the United States navy, together, form a curious curtain-raiser for the strenuous amenities which were displayed at Kiel. One must do the kaiser the justice to say that when he makes up his mind to play a part he certainly plays it with an apparent gusto which is astonishing.

The reports say that in Washington they are delighted by the kaiser's friendliness. So are we all. He is a great actor, a Schauspieler who performs upon a vast stage with the whole world for an audience. It ought to be a source of gratification to him to know how very admirable he does it.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

+ + + +

This enthusiasm and cordiality of the kaiser's reception to the American fleet at Kiel will do much toward overcoming the American irritation at Germany's course during the Venezuelan trouble. The German emperor is probably genuinely anxious for a particularly friendly disposition of this country toward his own, for, being an astute ruler, he realizes that the kinetoscope of the future of European politics may yet show him in a position where our friendship would be worth everything to him.

The growth of our navy, which is the mark the Germans have set themselves to surpass with their own, may have a good deal to do with the extreme courtesy that induced him to dip the imperial colors to our flag; but for all that the demonstration of friendship is welcome.—New York American.

+ + + +

The kaiser has carried into middle age the enthusiasms of his youth, and there is about him a frankness and a seeming spontaneity which are exceedingly striking and attractive. Americans will take his compliments for what they are worth and will not be unduly set up by them, but there can be no question at all as to the friendliness of his intentions. Well, that's all right. We want to be friendly, too.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The bust was presented by the Institution of Civil Engineers to the municipality of Rome as a supplement to the tablet placed in the vestibule of the railway station at Rome in 1881, to commemorate the centenary of the birth of the father of the railway system.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

And then, what?

Boston is actually sinking at the rate of something like one inch per century. At least this is what the beach marks show to some of the wise men in nearby Harvard.

The cause of this subsidence is what bothers them most, and it looks now as if they are going to follow the trail of the Breathitt jury, and agree to disagree, but with the understanding that they be allowed to retain their several opinions.

To the world outside the immediate horizon of Bunker Hill the news that Boston is gradually sinking or settling down into the ocean is not at all surprising. Nor is the cause entirely obscure to those who are well protected against encroachments of the Atlantic by the great Appalachian dam; also against the Pacific by the Rocky mountain embankments.

"What causes things to settle down, to sink? Weight, unsupportable heaviness.

Isn't Boston the heaviest thing on earth?

Just think of the weighty mass of thought; or rather the immeasureable mass of weighty thought. Can you wonder at the sinking of the earth and a corresponding rising of the ocean?

Prof. Jaggar thinks it is due to a wrinkle in the earth, the trough of which is under Boston and its vicinity, as it naturally would be.

From what other spot on earth do as many new wrinkles emanate? Boston is the nest, the incubator of wrinkles. That one of these is at the bottom of this last world-startler is quite plain to observers at a distance.

The wrinkle and weight arguments seem to be not only conclusive, but irrefutable, and altogether satisfactory to the world outside of the Boston bailiwick.

Keep your weather eye on Boston harbor during the coming fortnight, as there may be a big splash—the biggest ever. The National Educational association holds its annual meeting at the Hub, opening immediately after the close of the Fourth of July doings around and about Bunker Hill.

Thousands of hefty educators loaded to the guards with weighty thoughts, ponderous ideas and stupendous schemes, the tonnage of which cannot be expressed in numerical terms. To this great and mighty weight must be added a powerful armament, consisting of crushing blows, bursts of eloquence, blasts of arguments, flights of imagination and chunks of icy logic.

Fierce, isn't it?

Dr. A. E. Winship will have a whole lot to answer for after this convention, and the winds and tides have resumed their normal courses. It looks like baiting the fates, but he has done something like it before.

It is quite clear that Dr. Winship either has the most unbounding faith in the solidity and stolidity of Boston, or temerity, the magnitude of which can only be worked out by the rules and laws which pertain to and by which four dimensions are determined.

The chap who wants to know why Winship dropped the "d" out of his name had better steer clear of Boston wind currents until the N. E. A. affair has blown over. For, notwithstanding the clever editor of "The Journal of Education" is one of the wholesomest fellows extant, he is human, and having traversed about all of traversable terra firma, there is no telling what he might do were he to lose his grip on himself for an instant.

Let us wait in patience for that which we shall see, and hear, and learn. With such an array of schoolmaster talent, such a mixture of sure cures for ignorance, and such an all-round warm lot, the world is bound to hear, or feel, or see something unusual—at least a jar.

* * * *

There are schools and schools. Once there were schools and schoolmasters. Now there are schools and school teachers, with professors and instructors galore. The new are unlike the old—unlike in manner and form, and, dare we say, unlike in spirit and in results.

A penny for your thoughts, old fellow!

Because you well remember the schoolmaster, he who mastered the school as he expected the lessons to be mastered, it does not necessarily follow that you are four-score, or more.

You needn't strip to the buff to prove that you were intimately acquainted with the schoolmaster, and that he had left the marks of his training on your back, as well as on your mind and heart.

Yes, you remember him well, quite well. Nor would you forget him if you could. That particular spot in your memory where he dwells grows more and more sacred with each passing year, and it is one of your special delights to revive and tenderly nourish back to life any little recollection that may happen to spring up before you as you retrace the paths you trod when life was young, and the world was new, and the schoolmaster the wisest, if not the greatest, man within the entire range of your vision. And you thank God from away down in your heart that the schoolmaster lived, and that you lived at the same time.

* * * * *

It is most natural, indeed, that you should think the old school was all right, and the schoolmaster was all right, and you were all right.

And, by the same token, the young folks of today may think their school, with its professors, teachers and special instructors, all right, and it is proper that they should.

In those early days we heard something about Thad. Stevens, and possibly of Horace Mann, but of those foreigners who had such wonderful ideas concerning education, constructed such formidable theories, and evolved such intricate systems of teaching, we never heard a word.

Nor was there much said about psychology, children's brains and the remote effects of esthetic culture. It didn't require the aid of an expert psychologist to determine whether a child had sense enough to learn the multiplication table, or wit enough to grasp an idea, or talent enough to master the three R's, or brains enough to get on in the world in a fair sort of way.

And they mostly managed to worry through, as you know, and the country got along after a fashion, and proved itself equal to every occasion, no matter how great the emergency. And that is why the old school fellows are so contented, and feel so kindly toward the old schoolmaster.

* * * * *

It were foolish to wish for a return of the old times and their peculiar institutions, and yet one cannot help feeling, sometimes, that the schoolmaster wouldn't be sadly out of place, even in some of our big city schools. There would be less swearing and bad talk, less chewing and smoking, and better manners, and more respect shown to seniors and to women.

The schoolmaster held that pupils were his from the time they entered the schoolhouse, and that he was jointly responsible with their parents for their conduct on the way to and from school. This was the commonly accepted idea of parents of pupils, and that was the master's justification for punishing those who acted disorderly on going or coming, or played truant, or dallied on the way.

And there wasn't much circumlocution in the matter of punishment, nor was it a trifling incident to be forgotten in an hour. Indeed, there might be suggestions of it for several days after the incident occurred. With him punishment was not a mere form, an esthetic diversion, or a purely perfunctory performance, but realistic—so realistic that the culprit could have no doubt whatever of its being the real thing.

The schoolmaster stood on the ground that to be effective and efficient instruction should be practical, and not ideal, since the pupils have to deal practically with real things in after life.

* * * * *

But when the Boston convention gets through we may know a whole lot more about schools, and schooling, learning and education.

And, by the way, some one who is an authority may explain to us the difference, if there be any, between schooling and education. Some persons have an idea that the difference is great, as great as between fattening a goose by ramming mush down its throat, or causing it to develop and flatten from within.

Anyway, we shall expect better results from the work of our teachers next year, as several of our crack educators are to be there, some of whom will say something—something to the point, and new, maybe.

Wonder if there will be any schoolmasters there? If there are, we will hear from them, sure. They may be a little uncertain in their grammar, but even educators and professors will be able to grasp their meaning.

Worth Watching.

Paris has gone wild over a 22-year-old poet. This, in addition to the fact that a New York poet has become a railway president, while a Chicago poet is the mayor's secretary, ought to show pretty conclusively that the birds are still worth watching.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Talked of in New York

(By Postal Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, June 30.—Bargain day was postponed this week from Monday to Tuesday. There are two days in the week when special inducements are supposed to be offered in New York dry goods stores. They are Monday and Friday. The rain yesterday precluded the possibility of crowds of shoppers, and the managers of stores wisely resolved to offer the spectacular chances of saving money which would have been the feature of trade yesterday again today. And how the women did turn out! Broadway was like a flower garden this afternoon, with parasols of brilliant-hued millinery extending far down Sixth avenue, and breaking out sporadically in other districts. The sun shone clearly this morning and many a New York housewife prepared herself for a field day forthwith. It was the busiest day the retail stores have had for weeks—since May, in fact. Who could go shopping in this June? The only thing to be done was to wait for a change, with no certainty that there would be any summer at all in 1903. It seems to have come today, however, and most of the bargain hunters who enjoyed themselves this afternoon have laid plans for another day of it tomorrow. A little sunshine has actually dissipated all the premonitions of another wet spell, uncertain as the season has shown itself to be from one day to another.

Capt. Flood Called to the Mast.

Steadily goes on the work of hauling policemen before the commission on neglect of duty charges. When it is only a patrolman who is on trial no one cares very much, but the arraignment of so important a functionary as Capt. Flood is a different matter. Flood was in charge of the Tenderloin in 1901, and had declared when he took charge that he would keep the precinct clean. He didn't do it, according to his accusers, and there is a heap of trouble for him. At the rate Commissioner Greene has been progressing, it looks as if there would be few of the old guard of Tammany captains left by the time he finishes his job of making them toe the line.

Something Carried Away Aloft.

Shamrock III. had her little mishap yesterday, just as Reliance had the other day. The yachts had got well off the Hook, when something parted and down came Shamrock's mainsail in a heap. She came in under jib, with Shamrock I. following, and that was all for today. The racer is expected to be all right again tomorrow.

An Ancient Eating House.

It is interesting to note that several old houses of historical eminence have been devoted to the rites of dining, breakfasting or supping for so long that even New Yorkers forget the places ever were anything but restaurants. One of the famous restaurants of great age is Moquin's, in Sixth avenue, near Twenty-eighth street. The house, of wood, with quaint gables and a great covered veranda (the latter appendage having been built only a year ago, however), was erected 200 years ago. It was formerly known as the "Knickerbocker Cottage," and a century or so ago, when New York city ended below Union square and Twenty-eighth street was out in the country, it was a sort of roadhouse, where young men took their sweethearts in buggies on Sundays and dined with them amid rural surroundings. Today it is in the heart of a thickly settled neighborhood, and everything, except the house itself, is modern—painfully modern. Still it is one of the curiosities of uptown, and as such will repay a visit.

Fads Among the Diners.

One of the fads of New York is to eat a beef stew dinner in a "dungeon." A dungeon is understood to be a cellar, where there is sawdust on the floor, and where the diners are all arrayed in white aprons and white caps such as are the pride and delight of the French chef. In this rig the diner seats himself or herself on a three-legged stool and eats cubes of beef stew with hunks of bread, washing it down with musty ale. The most noted of the places where a "dungeon" is part of the equipment is Clyde's, in Broadway, near Seventy-fifth street. This place prides itself on being able to serve every description of meat, from the expensive table d'hote in the main dining room, to bread and cheese and beer in the rathskeller. The beef-steak dinner is the principal attraction of Clyde's probably because there is nothing else exactly like it anywhere else on Manhattan island. New Yorkers put a great deal of attention to eating and drinking, and that must be my excuse for writing about restaurants.

Only a Dozen Were Hurt.

Two Third avenue surface cars crashed into each other this afternoon, injuring a dozen passengers. Only three were taken to a hospital, however, so the mishap is regarded as a trifling one.

Disappointment in Wall Street.

Down in Wall street there are a few thousand disappointed men and boys. The governors of the New York stock exchange have voted not to suspend business on Friday in compliment to the Fourth. It was hoped, particularly by clerks in brokers' offices, telephone operators and office boys that there would be a three-days' holiday, counting Sunday. The average employe in Wall street is a born holiday maker and never works when he can get away for a spree.

Vacation Season at Hand.

Now begins the real time of the year for the boys and girls of Greater New York. The public schools closed today, and except in the case of pupils who intend to continue their studies in the vacation schools, there will be a vacation until September. Many of the boys will work throughout the summer. Plenty of them will sell newspapers, while others will assist in stores and do other things which will bring in a dollar or two a week to their homes. Even a vacation gets tiresome to a boy after the first week. What he wants is change, and work seems to give it to him satisfactorily in most instances.

Steel Corporation Affairs Discussed.

Of course all New York tonight is talking about the declaration of W. E. Corey to be assistant to President Schwab in the conduct of affairs of the United States Steel Corporation. As soon as the formal announcement was made public there was a rush to purchase the evening papers containing it, and tonight at the Waldorf and elsewhere little else is talked about. The fact that Mr. Schwab appears to be in such good health is commented on, although the formal announcement says he is in "continued ill-health." It cannot be said that the announcement causes very much surprise, however. Mr. Schwab was seen in Wall street late afternoon on his way to and from J. P. Morgan's office, and it was the general remark that he never looked better.

The St. Louis weather prophet promises a revival of that burning speech, "This Is Hot Time," for a run through July. Our Washington Bureau intimates that there may be thunder showers today, though he seems to be afraid to come right out with it. We can only hope the St. Louis man is the better guesser.

The Sunbonnet Girl.

Down through the lane toward the old farm house
I saunter alone through the green hedge rows;
My heart attuned to the bluebird's song
And the rippling brook that beside me flows.
Gone for the moment are worldly thoughts,
Then of a sudden my brain's in a whirl,
As I catch a vision far down the lane,
My soul's one desire, a sunbonnet girl.

White and prim, and with grace all her own
(No earthly master could give it to her),
Like one divine, she comes down the lane,
Leaving all else to my eyes but a blur;
I stand aside as she passes me by,
Feel in my heart the veriest thrill
That I can't fall down there in the dust,
Kneel at the shrine of my sunbonnet girl.

All through my life have I dreamed of her,
The sunbonnet maid from nature's own mould
Dream of her eyes of Heaven's own blue
Her heart ever true and as pure as gold.
In all my visions she's clothed in white,
While across her forehead there steals a curl
That twines my heart and holds me enslaved,
Heart and soul, to my sunbonnet girl.

This Is a Pointer.

Out in the East End is a young woman who's little sister is much inclined to ask numerous questions, and though she is sometimes a little slow about understanding things in general, she is as quick to see a point as most little girls of six. The other day Little Sister asked Big Sister the direction to the home of a mutual acquaintance. Big Sister tried her best to make the way plain, to no avail, and finally somewhat exasperated, exclaimed:

"Oh, follow your nose, Nan, and you will finally find the place."

"Well, if you ever follow your nose," came the quick retort, "you will go up, and up, and up, and be an angel by and by, which you're not now."

A Wise Vacationer.

A certain Pittsburgher has just returned from his vacation spent in Chicago. Any one knows that Chicago is a hot place to spend a vacation in both from a mercurial standpoint and otherwise. Result: In his efforts to keep cool, the Pittsburgher ran out of large bills several days before his schedule called for leaving the Windy City. He awoke on the morning of Derby day with a little more than four dollars in his jeans.

"Might as well be broke, as the way I am," he muttered as he doffed his books.

Then he went forth to breakfast, and as soon as he had attended to the duties of the inner department he took up the treasury work. His first act was to buy a ticket to the Derby. The next a $2 note and street car fare. He showed his sublime faith by holding out just that Two and carfare one way.

In the afternoon he took the car to the track ready to do or die—that is, go broke and walk from home. Out into the paddock he wandered, listening to the alluring tales of the touts and the opinions of the trainers and horsemen. At last his mind was made up.

"Pickett will make those dubs look like dogs," was his decision, and he hurried to the ring to pin his Two to that opinion.

By the time he reached the books Pickett's price was only 7 to 1, but that didn't deter him. Sixteen round ones, neat a square. Two at a time, and he felt just as good as though he had the Sixteen in his inside pocket.

When the race was run, the man who had staked his all on Pickett was leaning on the rail.

"As Pickett passed me," he said in telling the story, "Jockey Helgerson's foot struck a funny bone, and I knew I was all right for that moment. And that Sixteen came in mighty handy. I still had some enough left not to have to get enough money to spend the whole summer in Chicago, and left the track with my winnings, and had a-plenty to see me through."

After Wrong Men.

An inoffensive newspaperman came near being mobbed out in Bellefield yesterday afternoon. He got on a street car at Center avenue, and the conductor thought he recognized him.

"This is a nice bunch of weather to work on an innocent city," was the greeting of the conductor as he collected the newspaperman's fare.

Then came a chorus of growls from other seat in the car, and the newspaperman knew that he was up against a case of mistaken identity.

"What do you take me for?" he demanded with as much nerve as he could muster.

"Well, I hope I haven't stepped on his toes," the victim, with a great show of dignity.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the conductor, and the threatened riot was thus averted.

COMBINE WILL HAVE CONTROL

OLTZMAN IS BARRED OUT

The Democratic combine was in absolute control of the eight legislative district conventions held yesterday. Its friends were elected state delegates, and the 60 representatives to the county convention will obey the orders of W. J. Brennen, George S. Fleming and County Commissioner James A. Clark. They in turn will carry out the wishes of Col. J. M. Guffey.

With the exception of the Eighth district convention, there was no friction. This meeting was held in McKeesport and would have been peaceful had not Squire L. F. Holtzman of Braddock sent a contesting delegation. His delegates were not permitted to vote and the combine put through its slates.

The country conventions all adopted resolutions denouncing the libel law. The Eighth district convention placed itself on record as favoring fusion with the Citizens this fall.

In the Third district the slate of delegates to the county convention was slightly broken. Timothy Dunn of the Seventh ward wanted to go to the state convention, but, failing, he became a candidate for representative to the county meeting. He defeated Peter Hoarity, who was on the slate. John F. Ennis wanted Dalzell's name in favor of Dunn, but Chairman J. J. Boyle insisted upon him staying in the field.

State Delegates Chosen.

First—Richard McCormick, John Geisler.
Second—Eugene Buckley, James Wallis.
Fourth—W. J. Ryan, J. J. Kirby.
Sixth—Edward F. Dillon, D. C. Casey, G. J. Conrad, Roger Cain, M. C. O'Donovan.
Seventh—Dr. W. E. Johnson, Seward H. Simmon, W. L. Louden.
Eighth—James F. Quinn, M. L. Thompson, A. McDevitt, Daniel G. Donovan.

The county convention will be held in the Pittsburgh common council chamber at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. These delegates will represent the various legislative districts:

Second—Henry Meyer, James McKay, Leslie Bole, James Foley, Humphrey Lynch, Edward Johnson.
Fourth—George S. Fleming, C. F. Anderson, D. B. Kearns, John Hesslen, Thomas Geary, J. Barry.
Fifth—W. J. Harnett, J. A. Bleechnar, Joseph Ditzelle, M. Moll, A. J. Kunzler, John Corbett, John F. Farrell, J. S. Carney, Martin Mullen, Charles Fisher, B. J. H. Carnegie, Frank Duddy Joseph Glenn, Peter Posnigut, J. J. Maloney, W. J. Brennen, John B. Larkin, William F. McGrady, Francis O'Connell, William Mullaney, Cornett, James O'Connor, Patrick Conley, W. J. Sloan, Bert Baughman, Martin Howley, H. A. Schaub, T. A. Rock, John Cornyn, John Carney, Manus Gallagher, Richard Horan.

From the Country Districts.

Seventh—John W. Reedinger, P. H. Keefe, Patrick F. Boyle, W. M. McNeal, H. McCutcheon, Peter Shanor, James Herron, J. G. Harper, George Brown.

MAGE BY CLOUDBURST.

of Water Swept Bridges and Buildings from Pawpaw Creek.

MONT, W. VA., June 30.—(Special.)—A cloudburst occurred at the head of little Pawpaw creek, 12 miles from here, at midnight Monday, causing great damage. A wall of water eight feet high swept down Pawpaw creek, washing out the covered bridge at the New Central mines and wrenching loose the railroad bridge at the same point.

Barns and houses near the stream were carried away and the stock loss will reach many. There are no fatalities so far as has learned. The creek rose seven feet in a few minutes.

D MAN WAS MARRIED BY AN AGED MINISTER

LIANCE, O., June 30.—(Special.)—Miles J. Saunders, a civil war veteran, 71 years old, and Miss Alma Jones, aged 40, were married tonight by Rev. Harrison Jones, aged 90. The bride was the groom's stenographer. They left for an eastern honeymoon.

POSED DEAD MAN HAS RETURNED WITH A BRIDE

CUMBERLAND, MD., June 30.—(Special.)—One year ago, after Alonzo Stokes had been gone from Mt. Savage some time, it was reported that he had died. Sunday he returned to Mt. Savage, bringing with him a bride from the south, where he has been making his home.

Big Coal Company Organized.

LIANCE, O., June 30.—(Special.)—Organization of the Pittsburgh & Ohio Coal Company, with a capital of $250,000, was completed here today. The officers are: President, Walter Morris of Pittsburgh; vice president, James Waveman Glance; secretary, George Roberts of Pittsburg; treasurer, J. S. Ward of Alliance; general manager, W. B. James, Akron, O.

A New Road Commissioner.

SHINGTON, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—Word was received tonight that John R. McNeal of Claysville had been appointed commissioner of the National road in Washington county by Gov. Pennypacker. The appointment is for three years. McNeal succeeds Joseph L. Myers of Washington, who was appointed by Governor Stone to fill an unexpired term.

Paper Caused Discussion.

DETROIT, MICH., June 30.—The peaceful atmosphere of the Jewish rabbi's convention was slightly disturbed today by a discussion over a paper on "Assyriology and the Bible," between Rabbi Kohler, D. D., of New York, the author, and Dr. Peter Elzas of Charleston. However, Dr. Elzas retracted when he found his criticism of the paper was objectionable.

Wouldn't Leave Cards for Work.

OSHOCTON, O., June 30.—(Special.)—A game of seven-up delayed the construction work on the New Sixth Street theater today. A shower interrupted work one morning and four brick helpers engaged in a game of cards that was so long they wouldn't go back to work when it ceased. They were discharged.

THE DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Sarah J. Blackmore.

Mrs. Sarah J. Blackmore, widow of ex-Mayor James Blackmore, died yesterday morning at 4:05 o'clock at the old Blackmore homestead, Center and Herron avenues, at which she had resided since 1876. She was in her 75th year. Her death was due to a general breakdown resulting from old age. Mrs. Blackmore was Sarah Jane Ewart before her marriage, being a daughter of Jacob Ewart. She was a sister of Samuel Ewart of S. Ewart & Co., wholesale grocers. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, but of recent years had been prevented from attending church on account of failing health. Three children survive—two sons, J. E. Blackmore and Frank P. V. Blackmore, and one daughter, Mrs. W. H. Wassell.

Samuel Weil.

Samuel Weil, one of the prominent business men of Youngstown, O., died suddenly at his home in Chapel place, Youngstown, yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, after an illness of a few hours, having been in his usual health yesterday, attending to business. Mr. Weil was 60 years old and the senior member of the firm of Weil & Riney, booksellers and stationers, and had been engaged in business there since the Civil war. He was a prominent Republican, and was recently appointed by Gov. Nash a member of the board of managers of the Hospital for the Insane at Cleveland. He was one of the organizers and a director of the Dollar Savings and Trust Company, Youngstown. He is survived by a wife and three daughters. Mr. Weil was an uncle of A. Leo Weil, a Pittsburgh attorney.

Miss Mabel Anna Jenkins.

Miss Mabel Anna Jenkins, 18 years old, died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Edward J. Davis, No. 5655 Rippey street, East End, yesterday. Miss Jenkins was born and lived the first eight years of her life in Baltimore, but after her parents died she removed to the home of her sister in Pittsburgh. She had been ill since last July. She was a member of the Highlandtown Presbyterian church of Baltimore, and attended the East Liberty Presbyterian church while in Pittsburgh. She is survived by Mrs. Davis and a brother, John H. Jenkins of Pittsburgh, two sisters, Mrs. Emma Sover and Mrs. Marian Dexter, and a brother, Augustus, of Baltimore.

Henry Vogel.

Henry Vogel, formerly a resident of Allegheny, is dead at the residence of his son, C. W. Vogel of the Republic Company's steel plant, Youngstown, O. He had been in poor health for a year and went to live with his son about four weeks ago. Mr. Vogel was born in Germany in 1849 and came to America in 1865. He settled in Allegheny and was one of the pioneer steel workers of the Carnegie steel works. He was a member of St. George's church. He leaves a widow and five children—C. W. Vogel, Youngstown, O.; Mrs. Teressa Heerman, McKeesport; Mrs. Kate Glassar, Steubenville, O.; Joseph Vogel, Allegheny, and Mrs. Solomon, Millvale.

Mrs. Sarah Murray.

Mrs. Sarah Murray, 60 years old, wife of Dennis Murray of the Second ward, Homestead, died early yesterday morning at St. Francis hospital, where she had been confined for two days, suffering from a complication of diseases. Mrs. Murray was born in Cambria county and with her husband moved to Homestead 15 years ago. She was a member of St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic church and prominently identified with the various church societies connected with the parish. She is survived by her husband and five children, Miss Mary, a teacher in the Homestead schools; John, William, Michael and Charles Murray, all of Homestead.

Benjamin Masseth.

Benjamin Masseth, senior member of Masseth & Black of Butler, died yesterday morning at Battle Creek, Mich. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1836, and began life as a bell boy for the New York Central railroad. Rising to engineer, he gave up railroading in 1862 to build the Pavilion hotel at Plummer, Venango county, and the United States hotel at Pithole. In 1866 he began manufacturing oil well implements, and had shops at Hamburg, Modoc, Parker, Karns City and Butler. He was the owner of a patent oil well packer which has come into universal use and amassed a fortune for the firm. He leaves a widow.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil Good.

Mrs. Mary O'Neal Good, wife of A. R. Good, one of McKeesport's best known business men, died at the family residence in Ninth avenue, after an illness of three weeks, from blood clot at the base of the brain. She was about 50 years of age and was a daughter of the late Michael O'Neil. She is survived by her husband and five children, her mother, two brothers and four sisters. Mrs. Good was a prominent member of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church and a number of women's societies. The funeral will take place from the church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Louis H. Pemberton.

Lewis H. Pemberton, 27 years old, died at his home, No. 1745 Fifth avenue, Monday, after an illness of two weeks of typhoid-pneumonia. He was born in Wheeling, W. Va., and came to Pittsburgh some time ago, working at his trade of steam fitter with the Iron City Heating Company. He is survived by his wife, Miss Margaret Pemberton, and his mother, Mrs. Agnes Pemberton. The remains will be taken to Bridgeport, O., for interment.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Kane.

Mrs. Sarah Jane Kane, 60 years old, died at the family residence, No. 310 Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, yesterday. Mrs. Kane was born in Washington county, and resided there until her marriage, when she removed to Franklin, Pa. A little over a year ago she removed from there to Wilkinsburg. She is survived by her husband, James Kane, two sons and three daughters.

Gregory Walter.

Gregory Walter, a pioneer resident of Unity township, Westmoreland county, died this morning from the infirmities of age. He was 84 years old, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ellen Kistner of Johnstown and Miss Anna Walter of Unity township.

Bondmaster Godfrey.

Obituary Notes.

William C. McMillan, a well-known resident of Scott township, whose home was near Woodville, died last evening, aged 61 years. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, one of the oldest residents of Allegheny county, died yesterday at her home in McCandless township, aged 90 years. Her funeral will occur tomorrow afternoon.

PUBLIC TO TAKE HAND IN FIGHT IN ALLEGHENY

Another Open Meeting to Consider Ordinance Abolishing Delinquent Tax Collector.

Another meeting of the Allegheny chamber of commerce is to be held early next week and an invitation is to be extended to the public to attend and participate in the proceedings. The meeting held Monday night in Carnegie music hall was given up to the reading and discussing the resolution sent to Mayor Wyman and councils, asking that they support and approve the ordinance abolishing the office of delinquent tax collector, and little time was given for outside expressions.

Dr. W. W. Cole, secretary of the organization, said last night: "We will hold another meeting either late this week or early next week and we want the public to attend. There was not enough time on Monday night to hear all those that wanted to speak in favor of the ordinance, but every one is to be given a chance at the next meeting. From the present look of things I think a number of public meetings will be held in Carnegie hall, and when the ordinance goes into council for action there will be no doubt in the minds of our councilmen what action they should take."

Chairman Charles F. Kirschler of the finance committee said last night that he had received scores of requests from taxpayers asking that they be permitted to speak at the meeting of the finance committee next Monday night. A special meeting of the committee has been called and will be held in the committee room in City hall.

REFORM OF LAWS WAS DISCUSSED BY LAWYERS

Interesting Session of State Bar Association Was Held Yesterday.

WANT EQUITY LAW CHANGED

Judge Harry White Made an Able Speech Against the Proposed Legislation, but the Association Indorsed the Committee's Action—Several Addresses Made.

[FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, June 30.—The Pennsylvania Bar association spent a busy day, and so occupied was it with the business before the association that very few of the members went on the trip to Erie to which they were invited by the Erie County Bar association. The association now numbers 1,157 members, 96 new members having joined today.

The report of the committee on law reform was the first business at the morning session. The first recommendation of the committee, precipitated a debate between Judge Harry White of Indiana county and Alexander Simpson of Philadelphia. The committee on law reform is composed of Alexander Simpson, Philadelphia, chairman; W. U. Hensel, Lancaster; ex-Judge Nathaniel Ewing, Uniontown; Judge Edward W. Biddle, Carlisle; Rodney E. Mercur, Towanda; J. McF. Carpenter, Pittsburgh; Judge J. B. McPherson, Philadelphia; George R. Bedford, Wilkesbarre; Judge Martin Bell, Blair county; H. C. Niles, York and Judge W. W. Hart, Williamsport.

Report of Committee.

The committee recommended in its printed report that a cause act be passed by the legislature, relating to proceedings in equity in which it is or might have been alleged, that there was an adequate remedy at law. The proposed act stipulates that when a bill in equity has been filed in any court of Pennsylvania, if the defendant desires to question the jurisdiction of the court on the ground there is an adequate remedy at law, he must do so by demurrer or answer explicitly so stating, otherwise the right of trial by jury shall be deemed to have been waived by both parties and the cause shall proceed to a final determination by the court upon appeal with the same effect as if by agreement upon a hearing before the court without a jury.

Section two provides that if the demurrer or answer alleging that the plaintiff has adequate remedy at law be filed that issue shall be decided in limine, at the beginning before a hearing of the cause upon the merits. If the court shall decide that a court of equity has jurisdiction the plaintiff shall not be permitted to question the decision upon that ground nor shall a decree in defendant's favor be reversed or set aside because the remedy at law is adequate. If the remedy at law is decided to be adequate the cause shall be certified to the law side of the court at plaintiff's cost.

Mr. Simpson Explains.

Section three provides that if upon an appeal after a decision upon the merits and the question of a remedy at law is not specifically raised the question shall be deemed to have been waived and the higher court shall not reverse or set aside the decree or because the remedy at law is adequate. The plaintiff is not permitted to raise the question of adequate remedy at law after a decision upon the merits nor shall the decree be set aside upon his appeal because the remedy at law is adequate.

Mr. Simpson explained that equity cases have been decided without the point having been made that a suit at law should have been brought, but an appeal that question was raised and the case sent back on the ground that equity proceedings would not lie; sometimes, he averred, the question was not raised even then, and yet the higher court threw out the case because there was an adequate remedy at law, thus compelling a retrial of the cause at issue in a law court and causing enormous expense and delay.

It was to avoid this that the act was proposed, and if it were adopted the higher court could no longer throw out equity cases, because it would have been more correct to have proceeded at law, when the question of adequate remedy at law had not been raised, and thus expense and delay would be saved.

White Opposes Bill.

Judge Harry White made a speech in opposition to the proposed act, averring that if passed by the legislature it would result in protracting litigation, make confusion worse confounded, cause delay and increase expense. He said if the defendant in an equity proceeding raised the question of an adequate remedy at law, that is, disputed the jurisdiction of the equity court, this bill proposed that the court should first decide the complaint of lack of jurisdiction. If the court decided it had no jurisdiction and the equity bill was therefore thrown out, then an appeal on this decision would be made to the supreme court. If the supreme court decided the court below was in error and sent the case back to that court the whole matter would have to be gone over again, thus protracting litigation and increasing expenses.

Judge White maintained that it was the latest tendency of the courts to disregard mere technicalities, to hear testimony and decide equity causes on their merits and not to throw them out only because there was an adequate remedy at law. Under existing law and practice a court would not thrown out a complainant's just and equitable cause on a mere technicality, but would proceed to hear all the testimony, and if it then appeared the equity side had no jurisdiction the court could turn the parties over to the law side.

Then an appeal could be taken to the supreme court and if it was decided the court below was in error the case would be sent back to the court to make a proper decree, and the testimony already taken could be utilized, a final decree made and the litigation ended. If the court below decided it had equity jurisdiction and this was affirmed that would also end the litigation.

Seek to Reduce Costs.

Richard C. Dill and Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia sided with Judge White. A motion to adopt the proposed law as the sense of the association was, however, carried.

The committee on law reforms also drafted proposed acts of assembly on the subject of sheriffs and coroners' deeds, and deeds and mortgages, eliminating useless verbiage, on account of the waste of time in writing them and the time and cost of copying them on the records, and the enormous space the records require.

The act also provides that sheriffs and coroners' deeds shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds, and not in the prothonotary's office. A dissension on these and other recommendations of the committee will be held tomorrow.

The afternoon session was devoted to the presentation and adoption of a memorial on the late Judge John J. Simonton of Dauphin county. At tonight's session Thomas R. White of Philadelphia read a paper on "Judicial Oaths and Their Effect Upon the Competency of Witnesses." Great interest was shown in the discussion on the registration of land titles by Paul H. Gaither of Greensburg, and Charles Wetherill of Philadelphia.

Mr. Wetherill's speech was in advocacy of the two acts proposed by the committee on law reform to simplify the registration of land titles.

Mr. Gaither contended that the two proposed acts introduced to furnish relief as to land registration were at variance with the fundamental laws controlling the ownership of real property. He said Blackstone held that the right of property, the right of individual dominion, was one of the bulwarks of the free status of man. Mr. Gaither analyzed one of the acts and said the entire act of 66 sections would unsettle the law regarding ownership in lands and the character of the title thereto, and the law by which lands are held would be neither allodial nor feudal, as it partook of both, and commonwealth, not the individual owner, would be paramount.

MANUFACTURERS REFUSE DEMAND

Conference Resulted in a Disagreement and the Machinists Will Strike.

NEARLY 4,000 MEN INVOLVED

Molders Will Hold Mass Meeting Tonight to Vote on Strike Proposition, and May Join Machinists in Their Fight for Advance of Wages.

The machinists will strike. The conference between the manufacturers and the committee appointed at the mass meeting Sunday failed to come to an agreement on the amount of advance to be paid. The machinists originally asked for 15 per cent. The manufacturers agreed to give 5 per cent increase. tA the meeting Sunday the machinists split the difference by agreeing to accept 10 per cent. This proposition the manufacturers yesterday refused to grant.

The failure to agree will throw out of employment nearly 3,500 machinists here, besides the other men working in conjunction with them.

At the Sunday meeting the machinists' scale and the manufacturers' proposition were considered. Several changes were made, one striking out the clause stipulating that all men be agreeable to the association. The machinists agreed to permit the manufacturers to employ whom they pleased. At the close of the meeting it was decided that if the manufacturers refused to grant the new scale, as arranged at the meeting, the machinists were to strike.

The conference lasted until after 9 o'clock last night. It began at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. As soon as the conference adjourned part of the committee went to the headquarters of the district in Arnfeld hall and notified the local officers of the disagreement. The committee then divided, part going to a special meeting held in McKnight's hall, Allegheny, and part to the regular meeting of the Turtle Creek local. James O'Connell, president of the international association, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning to take active part in the matter. The headquarters of the association are in Washington, D. C.

The indications are the molders will join the machinists in a strike. All hope of an advance of 10 cents a day seems to be at an end, as the manufacturers positively refuse to grant the increase. The manufacturers held a conference Saturday with the molders in the Youngstown district with the same arbitrators, and this conference was a failure. The molders then decided to hold a mass meeting tonight in Old City hall to decide whether or not to strike. Now that the machinists will strike, and as the molders is an allied trade working for the same manufacturers, it is thought they will vote to join the machinists in the fight for more wages.

WIFE SHOWS SYMPATHY FOR HUSBAND IN JAIL

Mrs. Kountz Tries to Visit the Man Who Killed Contractor Walsh and Shot Her—Trial Will Begin This Morning.

Realizing that her husband must stand trial for his life this morning for shooting and killing Contractor John E. Walsh on May 9, Mrs. Walter P. Kountz displayed her sorrow and sympathy for him by paying him a visit at the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon in company with the defendant's attorney, Richard H. Jackson. It is said that Mrs. Kountz now realizes the serious position her husband is in, and is willing to do what she can to save him from the extreme penalty of the law.

It has been understood that Mrs. Kountz wanted to talk to her husband for some time, but was prevented from doing so by the dead contractor's relatives. Yesterday she took matters in her own hands and communicated with Attorney Jackson, one of the men who will defend Kountz during his trial. The woman met Attorney Jackson at the court house, where they went to the jail. The attendants at the jail refused to permit Mrs. Kountz inside the building. Attorney Jackson, however, was admitted and carried Mrs. Kountz's message to her husband. The prisoner refused to be reconciled by his wife's message, and it is understood that he was not over pleased at her intended visit.

Mrs. Kountz is still at the Hotel Henry, and last night she took a long walk through the streets. Later she refused to be seen at the hotel, stating that she was too tired and wanted to retire.

PERSONALS

Miss Susan Sherman, librarian of the children's department in the Carnegie library, Homestead, for the past three years, has just returned from a visit in southern Ohio in time to introduce Miss Francis Cluley, the new librarian in that department. She will take her departure tomorrow for Bradford, Pa., where she has a position in the Carnegie library of that place. Bradford is Miss Sherman's home, and it is that she may be with her father in the evening of his life that she leaves Homestead. Miss Sherman's father, E. R. Sherman, is an oil operator and one of the best known Grand Army men in northern Pennsylvania. Miss Sherman's mother, prior to her death a year ago, was prominent in the Woman's Relief Corps in this state, and was honored with some of the highest offices in the organization. Before entering library work Miss Sherman attended the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Kindergarten college.

The Western Pennsylvania agency of the Berkshire Life Insurance Company celebrated the 25th anniversary of the foundation of the agency in this city by a dinner given by H. D. W. English at the Union club last night. The dinner was attended by the secretary and treasurer of the company, James W. Hull of Pittsfield, Mass., the officials of the agency, the medical directors of the agency and all the agents of the company doing business in Western Pennsylvania. Souvenirs of the occasion were presented to each agent.

Samuel Harper, superintendent of the Saturday and Sunday hospital association, accompanied by Mrs. Harper, sails from New York this morning for Wolverhampton, England. They will be gone several weeks.

The fertilizing plants of England are to be gathered after American methods. Gilbert Proctor of York, England, is in Pittsburgh on a tour of inspection of the plants in this country with a view of reporting to English capitalists his findings. Upon his report will depend the kind of fertilizing plants to be erected in several cities in King Edward's dominion. Mr. Proctor has been in the United States for the past four weeks and has visited all the principal fertilizing plants.

John H. Gilbert of New York passed through the city last night on the Pittsburgh Limited. He says there was much rejoicing in New York when the George A. Fuller Company agreed to effect a settlement with the trades unions.

Among the passengers on the Southwest limited last night was M. W. Sheppler of Philadelphia. He was on his way to Cincinnati. He said that business in the City of Brotherly Love is at a standstill.

The Baltimore & Ohio through train had on board several school teachers of Frostburg, Md., who are going on a vacation trip. They will visit Chicago, Niagara Falls and go over the New York Central to Boston. The trip will last 10 days.

Rev. William J. Hollowell of the Monessen Baptist church spent yesterday in Pittsburgh on business in the interest of his church. He said his members will erect a new edifice in the near future, the ground has been secured and a large amount of money obtained for its erection.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

Novel River Excursion.

Capt. C. E. F. Sayre, master of the steamer Mayflower, has chartered the boat from her owners and is booking people for a hunting and fishing trip to New Orleans and return next fall. Accommodations are being made for 100 people and the boat will be slightly remodeled to fit her for the occasion. The trip will start October 20 and the party expects to return on December 20, making an excursion of 60 days. Stops will be made at all large cities.

FIREMAN FAINTED AT WORK

Succumbed to Exhaustion From Long Fight With Flames.

Mill Ruins Blazing.

Exhausted from fighting fire for 48 hours, without rest or sleep, Hoseman J. C. Palmer fainted yesterday afternoon while throwing water on the burning ruins of Young's planing mill in Wilkinsburg. He was removed to his home. The mill burned Monday, but three times since smouldering flames broke out and the department was called out.

The proprietor is making preparations to rebuild at once. The loss of the mill has seriously interfered with building operations in the borough, as other mills are unable to fill the orders.

Fresh Air Fund Children.

Sixty children from Pittsburgh were taken to the Sewickley Fresh Air home on the Big Sewickley creek, yesterday afternoon, where they will remain for two weeks.

Found Dead In Bed.

The Dollar Savings Fund & Trust Co.
27 Federal Street,
ALLEGHENY, PA.

Issues coupon certificates of deposit, in denominations of $500 and $1,000, due in five years and bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum.

The principal is payable at any interest period by giving 60 days' notice in writing to the company. Interest payable January 1 and July 1. Attached to these engraved bonds are interest coupons in regular form, to be cut off and collected in the usual way.

The bonds bear interest from date of issue, more liberal than ordinary savings deposits, which allow interest only from the first of each month, and do not permit withdrawal without lengthy notice; then, only, with loss of interest to the depositor if withdrawn at other than the regular interest periods.

The certificates are payable to bearer, with provision for registration of principal, and are transferable. Out-of-town depositors will find them admirably convenient and satisfactory investments for surplus funds. Interest is collectable through home banks, or by mail; the certificates are negotiable, and may be used as collateral to their full face value. The absolute security of these bonds is guaranteed by the capital and surplus of over $2,000,000.00.

The reputation of the Dollar Savings Fund & Trust company is well known and the names of its officers and trustees, headed by its president, R. H. Boggs, of Boggs & Buhl, include men well and favorably known in banking and other business circles.

STATE EDUCATORS ARE HOLDING CONVENTION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, June 30.—The 48th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Educational association opened in this city today. Many notable educators are present. At the morning session Dr. G. W. Guthrie, president of the Wilkesbarre school board and city superintendent of schools, J. M. Coughlin, delivered addresses of welcome. The responses were made by J. C. Becht, superintendent of schools of Lycoming county, and Dr. John S. Stahr, president of Franklin and Marshall college.

Ex-Judge Troutman of Luzerne county followed with an address on "Compulsory Attendance." A general discussion followed and among those who took part was John A. Gibson, superintendent of schools of Butler. All the speakers strongly advocated the enforcement of the present compulsory school law.

Congressman Palmer, who was down for an address, sent a letter of regret. Papers were read by Prof. Walter Egbert of the Clarion state normal school and Miss Myrtle Magee of Oil City. This afternoon the teachers of the public schools of Wilkesbarre tendered the visiting delegates a reception at the high school building.

At the evening session there was an address on "The Training of a Teacher," by Addison L. Jones of West Chester, president of the association. The Hon. N. C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of public instruction, delivered an address on "Child Labor."

NO TELEPHONE COMBINE.

Farmers System Will Not Affiliate With Indiana Company.

INDIANA, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the general directors of the Farmers Independent Telephone Company, and the directors of the Indiana section, at the office of Smith & Getty it was decided not to accept the proposition of the Indiana Telephone Company to combine the two systems. The Indiana section will be rushed to completion and will be in working order by August 1.

The Farmers company's plan is one of co-operation. Every subscriber is a stockholder and the cost is only that actually expended for the construction and maintennace of the system. The system in Indiana town will be connected with the Farmers throughout the county.

FOUND A FORTUNE.

Heirs of Thrifty Farmer Dig Seventeen Thousand Dollars from a Wall.

BUTLER, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—A little over $17,000 was found this morning secreted in the wall of the cellar of the home of Gloat Mangel, who died a year ago in Penn township. Mangel owned a productive oil farm and was very thrifty.

He was known to have amassed a fortune, but how much his heirs did not know, and the appraisement of his estate did not tally with their ideas of what he should have. The family determined on a thorough search of the house, beginning in the attic and having patience rewarded in the final search of the cellar. The iron box containing the money was securely sealed in the wall. The family is now looking for more money.

WARREN DEMOCRATS MEET.

Nominate a County Ticket and Pass Sweeping Resolutions.

WARREN, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—The Democrats of Warren county met in convention today and placed in nomination the following ticket: For sheriff, Robert L. Thomas of Tidioute; prothonotary, H. C. Mead of Youngsville; district attorney, Earl H. Beshlin of Warren; C. E. Bordwell was elected county chairman and E. W. Cooney and S. E. Walker delegates to the state convention.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the last legislature for passing the Salus-Grady libel bill and Senator Cummings and Assemblyman Baker for "voting at the dictation of the state machine," and concluding with a resolution condemning the "irregularities and mismanagement of the postal department of the United States."

BOARD DEADLOCKED ON ITS CHOICE FOR PRINCIPAL

BEAVER, June 30.—(Special.)—A deadlock exists in the school board in regard to the election of a principal, the incumbent, Prof. John W. Springer, having three votes on each ballot taken at a meeeting of the board last night. Among the other applicants for the position were Prof. J. H. Hugus of Pittsburgh, Prof. Edward Lester of Beaver Falls, Prof. A. E. Colgrove of Bradford, and Prof. J. B. Colelig, assistant principal of the Beaver high school. Miss Brunton of Beaver was elected teacher of room No. 8.

Burned by Gas Explosion.

COAL CENTER, June 30.—(Special.)—R. B. Drumm, general superintendent of all the coal mines of the Jones & Laughlin Company in this vicinity, was badly burned this morning by an explosion of gas at his home. The explosion blew out the kitchen door and the porch loose from the house. Drumm saved himself by rolling in a rug on the floor.

Lunatic Had a Long Walk.

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—Robert Hamilton, an escaped lunatic from the Newburg insane asylum, Cleveland, was arrested here by Officer Patterson. Hamilton said that he escaped three days ago and had been walking ever since. If this is true he walked 30 miles a day to get here. He will be sent back.

NEWS OF THREE STATES.

GREENVILLE, PA.—State Senator George W. Wright and his nephew, were injured in a runaway accident at Jackson Center.

CANTON, O.—Ralph Hardesty, 12 years old, substituted dynamite for gunpowder in loading a toy cannon. Two fingers were lost.

HANOVERTON, O.—Robert Brice, an umbrella mender who was in jail for drunkenness, committed suicide by cutting his throat.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—David Buehrle drank Monday night, then quarreled with his wife. Then, going to the barn, he shot himself and will die.

SHARON, PA.—John Bozlough, who was caught and whirled by a fly-wheel in the Sharon steel works, died from the effects of his injuries.

OIL CITY, PA.—A fire of unknown origin in the warehouse of the McCollum Lumber Company, caused an estimated loss of $10,000, partially covered by insurance.

FAIRMONT, W. VA.—Charles Leeper, the 7-year-old son of Samuel Leeper of Monongah, shot himself in the head with a toy pistol and is now dying of lockjaw.

WASHINGTON, PA.—Arrangements have been completed by the Hazel-Atlas Glass Company here to rebuild their Atlas plant, recently destroyed by fire, at a loss of $190,000.

CANTON, O.—The Carnahan Tin Plate & Sheet Company has signed the scale of the Amalgamated association. The men say the increased limit of production increases their wages about 8 per cent.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—Reports from Bedford county, Pa., place the loss from high water in the past two days at half a million dollars. The water was only a few inches beyond the high water at the time of the Johnstown flood.

CONSTABLE HAD HARD TIME CAPTURING A PRISONER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PUNXSUTAWNEY, June 30.—Wallace Long, who escaped from the Huntingdon reformatory a year ago, was captured here last night after a fight in Elk Run, during which he was shot in both legs. Constable Walker arrested him at Anita. While riding in a street car with his prisoner, Walker was knocked senseless by a stone thrown by a friend of the runaway's, as the car was crossing Elk run bridge. Long leaped into the water 20 feet below. Before Long could join his friend on the shore the constable recovered and jumped into the water after the fugitive.

Walker pursued and finally ran Long down in the water and recaptured him. The constable had to shoot Long twice, each bullet taking effect in a leg. The prisoner was brought to the lockup here and given surgical attention. While the doctors dressed the wounds he smoked cigarettes.

On him was found a quantity of jewelry. The officer this morning searched Long's home and found it to be a typical thieves' den. Scattered around were jewelry, cutlery, tools and counterfeit money.

Long gave the name of the man who tried to rescue him and the police say they are the men who tried to enter the Punxsutawney Hardware Company's store here Wednesday night. Officer Birt of Huntingdon took Long back to the reformatory tonight.

STOCKHOLDERS' NAMES WILL SOON BE KNOWN

Government Will Soon Learn if Officials Are Connected With Franklin Concern.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Government orders placed with the General Manifold Co. of Franklin, Pa., continue to form the principal topic of discussion in connection with the postoffice investigation. Intimations have been made that stock of the concern is owned by government officials, who have been instrumental in getting contracts for the company.

It is likely that the matter will be settled officially soon, and all the stockholders of the General Manifold Company will be known by the officials, who are conducting the investigation. This work will fall to the bureau of corporations of the new department of commerce and labor, which is empowered by the act creating the department to ascertain all facts of this kind. Consequently it will not be difficult to find out who the owners of the stock are.

The facts ascertained by the bureau of corporations will not be made public, however, but under the provisions of the law they will be reported to the president, and he may make such use of them as his judgments dictates. If he thinks best, he can give the facts to the public, but otherwise they will remain confidential. If the bureau of corporations is assigned to the collection of this data it will be the first specific investigation conducted by the new department under the anti-trust law, so far as the public knows.

The postmaster of New York has been authorized to make 806 promotions in his office, involving $85,600, and 100 additional clerks at $800 a year, all to take effect July 1. In addition $15,000 has been authorized for emergency clerk hire. These lists were held up for investigation following the resignation of George W. Beavers as head of the salary and allowance division.

L. W. STRAYER.

Think He Was Murdered.

FREEDOM, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—Relatives of Tsvin Tsvanovet, an Austrian laborer found with his head crushed on the railroad tracks below Baden station yesterday morning, want Coroner McCartney to look into the murder theory. Early yesterday morning Tsvanovet started to walk from here to Ambridge with three Austrian laborers, and they were seen quarreling among themselves when passing Connelly station. Effort will be made to apprehend the three companions at Ambridge.

BASIS OF UNION WILL BE DISCUSSED HERE

Representatives of Three Religious Denominations to Meet Today.

A meeting will be held today in the Y. M. C. A. building at which representatives of the Methodist Protestant, United Brethren and Congregationalist churches will endeavor to adopt a basis of union of the three denominations. A meeting was held here in April, at which the union was practically agreed upon. The meeting will bring a number of distinguished men to Pittsburgh and will be of general interest in the religious world. When the basis is agreed upon definite and final action will be taken at the next general meeting of the church. The general conference of the Methodist Protestant church will be held in May, 1904, and that of the United Brethren and Congregationalist churches on the following day. The amalgamation cannot therefore take place before 1905.

PASTOR GIVEN GIFTS.

Silver Jubilee of the Rev. Dr. P. M. Reidenbach Appropriately Observed.

The Rev. P. M. Reidenbach, D. D., was tendered a reception at St. John's German Lutheran church, Fordieth and Howley streets, last night, by the Young People's and the Ladies' Aid societies. It was the social celebration of the silver anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. Reidenbach. A silver tea set, a gold-headed walking stick and a purse of $50 were given to the pastor by Julius Krause, president of the church, on behalf of the church people. The pastor also received many gifts from individuals of the congregation. A musical program was rendered during the evening.

The celebration of the church anniversary will take place next Sunday, when appropriate services will be held. Among the speakers of that day will be the Rev. Rudolph Reidenbach, a son of the pastor. Dr. Reidenbach has been in the ministry 40 years, 25 of which have been spent as pastor of this church. The church has had a steady growth in that time and is now one of the largest of this denomination in Western Pennsylvania.

Lutheran Synod Adjourns.

The closing session of the Lutheran synod, in convention during the past week in the English Lutheran Evangelical church, Morewood avenue, was held yesterday. The Church of the Ascension, New York, was selected as the meeting place for next year. Prof. A. W. Myers presided and Prof. Henry Stipplewirth of St. Louis discussed "The Blessings of the Christian Day Schools." William Dellman, chairman of the committee on colleges, stated the trustees of Concordia college, at Conover, S. C., were ready to turn over to the synod the college free from debt.

HOW TO GET FAT.

Use Mi-o-na, Says Druggists Schilling Bros. Co., and Put on Good Flesh.

The almost universal interest in physical culture is the best evidence that can be offered as to the need of a simple and scientific method of making thin people fat, regulating the digestion and restoring health.

Athletics when carried to an extreme, result in often straining the vital organs. How much better it would be for the average person to regain health, strength and flesh by using Mi-o-na. This flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it enters the stomach; it helps the weakened digestive organs to take care of the food; it strengthens them and gives natural and normal digestion. As soon as one begins the use of Mi-o-na good flesh will be formed and the plumpness of health will be gained. When one has used Mi-o-na for a short time he can eat what and when he wants without any fear of pain or discomfort.

Mi-o-na has been so successful in curing dyspepsia and making thin people fat that Schilling Bros. Co., Frankstown and Penn avenues, the popular druggists, sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit. No other medicine for the cure of dyspepsia can afford to make an offer like this, but Mi-o-na succeeds in 98 per cent of the cases where it is used.

An offer like this certainly shows remarkable faith in the powers of Mi-o-na to do all that is claimed for it. No one should suffer any longer with poor health for nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is the result of stomach troubles.

RECORD-BREAKER IN REAL ESTATE

EVIDENCE OF PROSPERITY

Great Demand in Pittsburgh and Allegheny for Sites for Manufacturing Plants and Residences—An Enormous Amount of Building Being Done.

Prosperity in the broadest sense of the word is stamped upon the record of real estate and building operations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the first six months of 1903, which ended yesterday. Compared with the two preceding years, record-breaking periods in Greater Pittsburgh's history, the totals of the past few months show big gains all along the line. Through the efforts of enterprising brokers, real estate as a safe investment has been so forcibly impressed upon local capitalists that they have bought more and larger parcels than ever before. The number of home buyers has increased fully one-third, a striking proof of the good times that the masses of wage earners have been enjoying. Every line of realty has been boomed to good advantage, and the records of local sales fail to show a single instance where investments have been made at a loss. In building the showing of the first half of 1903 is even more flattering. With strikes constantly hindering the builders since January 1 and the prospect of a complete tie-up in midsummer, the records show that a large gain has been made. Although fewer skyscrapers are under way than a year or two ago, the number of building projects costing from $100,000 to $300,000 is on the increase. House building, too, has kept up a steady pace, and the summer is likely to see more than the average number of houses erected.

Boom Reduced to Figures.

The following tables, showing a comparison for the past three years, were obtained through the courtesy of the officials in the city registrar's office in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, and of the bureaus of building inspection in the two cities. The first table shows the number and amount of the real estate transfers in Pittsburgh for the first half of the past three years.

1903—4,155 transfers	39,238,000

This shows the remarkable gain of $12,837,700, or 46 per cent, in the amount of real estate marketed in Pittsburgh so far this year. When it is remembered that the past two years were heralded as record-breakers, which the pessimistic onlookers maintained could never again be equaled, the record is doubly satisfactory to every Pittsburgher, and especially to the 200 or more brokers who have made it their business to bring to the attention of investors the possibilities of gain in local property. The report, too, is a most convincing argument to show that Pittsburgh is growing very rapidly.

Pittsburgh's Grand Growth.

Not only is every available site within her business limits being snatched up, generally to be improved with a building more suitable for the growing needs of some well established business, but her territory is spreading out and new residence sections are being established every month. To the student of industrial progress, perhaps, the most interesting feature in the report is the number of big purchases that have been made by local manufacturers to enable them to increase their output.

Thus on the North Side there has been a gain of $663,724, or 16 per cent, over the amount of last year, and nearly double the amount sold in the first six months of 1901. This gain may be attributed very largely to the activity in business property along Federal street and adjacent thoroughfares. Last year the phenomenal record was attributed rightly to the extensive purchases of the Ft. Wayne railroad along Church avenue and other points for its elevated tracks.

Demand for Business Property.

This year the railroad has bought less, as shown by the transfers registered at the city hall, but there has been an enormous increase in the amount of business property marketed. Manufacturing sites along the river have also added largely to the six months' totals. Many Allegheny residents the most hopeful feature of the report is the increase in the number of first-class residences bought for homes. The old and handsome properties in Allegheny, deserted a few years ago in the exodus to the East End, are now coming into prominence, and recent sales and inquiries indicate that the fine residences around the park are in good demand for homes. The average of the realty sales, about $5,000 each, shows that a large proportion of them have been residence deals.

The following table shows the amount of real estate sold in every one of the 15 wards of Allegheny since January 1:

First	$ 281,619	Ninth	$118,879
Second	522,085	Tenth	283,105
Third	538,866	Eleventh	484,231
Fourth	1,174,096	Twelfth	85,732
Fifth	497,177	Thirteenth	64,487
Sixth	244,642	Fourteenth	62,219
Seventh	10,229	Fifteenth	166,586

Pittsburgh Building Operations.

Still more remarkable are the gains made in building in the two cities. In Pittsburgh the table below gives the totals of building operations for the three periods designated:

1903—2,022 permits	8,759,000

A gain of $1,911,697, or 28 per cent, over a building record of the first six months of 1902 will be a surprise to many who have thought that the strikes and kindred troubles were holding up a large amount of building. With good weather and favorable conditions for the remainder of the year this year's record bids fair to surpass that of any year in the city's history. The number and amount of building permits for June, 1903, was estimated at the building inspector's office, where the work of making out the monthly report began yesterday. June will have a gain of at least $400,000 over May, and the number of applications being received now is proof that a large amount of building is booked for midsummer starting.

Building in Allegheny.

In Allegheny the first six months of this year compare with the last two years as follows:

1903—413 permits	1,217,375

The gain in North Side building over last year is $150,225, or 15 per cent. It is to be remembered that in the 1902 record was included the permit for the Allegheny General hospital, amounting to $325,000. This year no large permit has been issued, so that the total shows that the general run of building operations has been much more favorable. The fact that nearly double the amount of building has been authorized this year than for the corresponding period of 1902 should be a powerful argument in favor of the growth of Allegheny and her opportunities for investment.

Philadelphia Chemist Testifies to Finding Arsenic, Antimony and Sulphonal in Stomach.

FIVE WITNESSES ARE HEARD

Sensational Testimony Expected in J. O. Brown Inquest Upon the Resumption of the Case on Next Friday Afternoon—Slowly Lifting Veil of Mystery.

Deadly poison was found in the vital organs of Recorder J. O. Brown, Prof. H. H. Eckles of Philadelphia, who made a chemical analysis of the abdominal viscera to discover the presence of deadly drugs, testified at the coroner's inquest yesterday that antimony and sulphonal were found in quantities that might have produced death. It is the general impression that evidence will be produced which will lead to a verdict of death by violence. After five witnesses had been heard the inquest was adjourned until Friday at 1:30 o'clock.

The promise of sensational developments at the inquest is likely to be fulfilled. Experts are positive that dangerous poisons were taken into the patient's system and subsequent testimony, which will be taken upon the resumption of the hearing, is expected to unfold the mystery as to how he swallowed the fatal potion.

Cyanide of potash, which was contained in the box mentioned in the first day's testimony, was not found by the chemists. Morphine also was lacking, but arsenic, antimony and sulphonal were present in generous quantities. Arsenic is an ingredient of the embalmer's fluid, but the other poisonous substances are supposed to have been taken into the sytem before death.

Deadly Poison in the Room.

Dr. W. H. McKelvey, the recorder's family physician, will be one of the important witnesses in the inquest. Dr. McKelvey stated yesterday that if Mr. Brown had taken any of the capsules in the box of medicine found in his room that death would be produced almost instantly. As previously stated in The Gazette, these capsules contained cyanide of potash. This poison, however, was not mentioned in the testimony, and some of the theories held by J. R. P. Brown, the recorder's brother, are broken down in consequence.

It is the general opinion that the jury will bring a verdict of death by violence. "That is almost a foregone conclusion now," said a physician. "This case will be fought to the bitter end by those who have planned to break the recorder's will. It will likely go through the courts, and this is only the beginning of tedious sittings in the case."

There was a small attendance in the coroner's court when the inquest was resumed yesterday afternoon. The first witness was Elias J. John, the recorder's nephew. He recited in detail the story of the recorder's last days.

Examination Was Unproductive.

"Did Mr. Brown ever say to you that he feared bodily harm?" asked the coroner.

"No, sir."

"Did he ever say that he was being slowly poisoned?"

"No, sir."

"Did anyone else ever say he was being slowly poisoned?"

"No, sir."

"Did Mr. Brown dictate a paper in reference to his wife which worried him a great deal?"

"He dictated a paper, but I could not say whether it worried him or not."

"Did Mr. Brown ever tell you to send for his wife while he was sick?"

"No, sir; he never mentioned Mrs. Brown."

Dr. W. H. Ingram, who conducted the autopsy on the recorder's body at the Bull Creek church, was the next witness. He read from notes taken at the time of the autopsy and described with elaborate detail all the circumstances connected with the post-mortem. All the organs, he stated, except the liver and kidneys, were normal, except for the usual post-mortem influences. With Dr. Ingram were Drs. J. Guy McCandless and R. H. Gilliford. The intestines, the stomach and portions of all the other vital organs were removed and sealed in jars after a superficial examination.

Poison in the Stomach.

Prof. R. S. Eckels of Philadelphia, who had made an examination of portions of the brain, liver, stomach, kidneys, intestines and heart, was the next witness. He said the stomach contained cholestria. He examined for cyanide of potash and for morphine, but found neither. He tried for aconite and found none. An experiment was made to develop an alkaloid of morphine, but it likewise was missing. The stomach contained no quinine.

In the walls of the stomach Prof. Eckels testified that he found arsenic, antimony and sulphonal. Undissolved in the intestines he also found sulphonal. In the liver he found three drugs. In the intestines he found corrosive sublimate of mercury. Antimony and sulphonal, the chemist said, are not ingredients of the embalmer's fluid. At this point the witness was excused. He was not asked as to the quantities of poison found or of the conditions of the organs which were affected by the poison.

Drs. McCandless and Gilliford were called to the stand. They substantiated the testimony of Dr. Ingram.

Witnesses yet to be called will furnish much testimony which will lift the cloak of mystery from the case.

TENNIS AND POLITICS JUDICIOUSLY MIXED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 30.—From Theodore, Jr., down to Ethel, the Roosevelt children are eager to play and defeat the president at tennis. Sunshine succeeding the driving rain of yesterday gave opportunity for the first game at Sagamore Hill since the president's return. He played with Ethel, as Theodore, Jr., and Kermit had taken an early train for a short visit away from home.

"The west is solid for Roosevelt; that goes without saying," remarked Senator Chester I. Long of Kansas, who, with Gov. Hunt of Porto Rico and former Postmaster General Bissell, lunched with the president. Senator Long came to talk about a successor to Judge Beck of the United States district court in Kansas, but no decision was reached. In addition to this the president and Senator Long, who was the capable administration whip in the Cuban reciprocity fight in congress, talked over the extra session of congress, which will be called on November 9, for the purpose of ratifying the Cuban reciprocity treaty.

"I merely came down here," said Governor Hunt, "to have the president make appointments of Jarvis at San Juan."

Five thousand members of the societies of the Holy Name, an organization for the encouragement of reverence for the deity and suppression of profanity, will be received in Oyster Bay by President Roosevelt July 26. The Rev. J. Power, rector of St. Dominick's Roman Catholic church of Oyster Bay, is making preparations for the event.

President Roosevelt will witness the international yacht race. He will go to the course on the Mayflower, Sir Thomas Lipton recently extended to the president a cordial invitation to witness the races from his yacht, the Erin, but President Roosevelt felt obliged to decline.

FIRE IN AN OLD MILL CAUSES GREAT ALARM

Building Destroyed Was Worthless, but Several Dwellings Were Damaged.

Much excitement and $5,000 loss was caused by a fire at South Third and McKean street about 5 o'clock last evening. The abandoned South Pittsburgh planing mill, which was about to be razed to make room for Wabash improvements, was burned down, and several dwellings close by, belonging to T. D. Maloy, with their contents, were damaged by fire and water. There was no loss on the mill, as all the machinery had been removed and the building was worthless.

For a time it was feared that Catalne Sullivan, 5-year-old child of John Sullivan, of No. 105 South Third street, had been burned to death. She was playing in the old mill shortly before the fire broke out. The firemen searched for her, and finally found her outside the fire lines.

Wabash railroad employes had been quartered in the mill, but recently they were removed. Yesterday a number of children were playing in the building, and it is supposed they started the fire.

The firemen responded quickly to an alarm from box 828, but it was almost 30 minutes after their arrival before they could get water. The air was filled with sparks, which settled on the shingle-rooted dwellings in Third and McKean streets. The occupants saw their homes about to burn and started to remove their furniture and clothing. The planing mill adjoined the bottling establishment of G. J. Ramiack and the Joseph S. Finch distillery, and they added to the excitement.

Second and third alarms brought companies from the downtown district. Ladders were placed against the dwelling houses and the firemen mounted them with Babcocks and soon put out the burning shingles on the roofs. The dwelling of Mrs. James Cochran, at No. 107 Third street was most damaged by the fire and water. The home of David Welsh, at No. 228 McKean street was also damaged.

JUDGE CYRUS GORDON WAS ONCE MORE NOMINATED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEARFIELD, PA., June 30.—The Republican county convention was held today and Judge Cyrus Gordon renominated by a vote of 85 to 56 over Oscar Mitchell. The contest for sheriff was not settled until the last delegate came in and even then it reversed the figures as that district, Tyler, had been counted for the other man. James P. Stayer of Clearfield won out over Harry Carlisle by a vote of 71¼ to 67½. W. I. Swoope received the district attorney nomination unopposed. M. H. Henderson of Woodward, was named for jury commissioner and J. M. Ross of Dubois for coroner. B. F. Chase was re-elected county chairman for the year 1904.

The feeling of the Mitchell men was so bitter that the Gordonites did not seek to make the nomination unanimous. Had they done so several Mitchell men were loaded with red hot speeches which they intended to fire. Many of the Mitchell delegates are making threats tonight against Gordon and say he cannot possibly be elected. Judge Gordon made a speech in the convention in which he said he did nothing as judge or candidate, of which he feels the least ashamed.

Recruits for the Marine Corps.

The June report of the marine corps recruiting station in the Federal building, in charge of Lieut. J. G. Muir, shows that 92 applicants had been received and 17 accepted. During the past three months 262 applications have been received, and 47 men accepted. Two of the men who enlisted from here recently deserted from the navy yard at Philadelphia, and they will be returned if caught. The United States army recruiting station has accepted 11 men during the past month.

Minister Accepts Fourth Call.

ORANGE, N. J., June 30.—(Special.)—After having declined three calls to become pastor of a church at Niles, O., the Rev. Paul J. Lux decided to accept a fourth call, which he has received from the place. Mr. Lux has been pastor of the Washington Street Baptist church for seven years. He is a member of the Orange board of education.

LAWLESSNESS IS STRONGLY SCORED

LYNCHING ALSO DENOUNCED

Presbytery Minces No Words In Condemning Negro Hangings, Murderous Assaults and Mob Violence—Dr. Little's Resignation Accepted.

Strong resolutions denouncing the recent lawlessness in Wilmington, Del., following the brutal assault on and murder of a young girl, by a negro, were adopted by the Monongahela presbytery of the United Presbyterian church yesterday. The meeting was held at the Hebron church, on the Verona road, and the subject was opened b the Rev. J. T. McCrory, pastor of the Third church, Pittsburgh, who presented a resolution with a preamble reciting recent lynchings throughout the country. Continuing the resolution provided:

Resolved, First: That this presbytery puts itself on record as holding in the utmost abhorrence and condemnation the brutal and murderous assaults which have incited various communities to the lawless torturing and killing of inhuman miscreants.

Second: That we condemn unconditionally resort to violence under any circumstances as anti Christian.

Third: That we would insist that the courts of justice shall hesitate themselves to administer swift and condign punishment on those who are guilty of crimes of lust and violence.

Fourth: That we would solemnly admonish the christian and law-abiding public that the prolific root of all lawlessness is to be found in the open disregard of the law of the Sovereign Ruler of the Universe; that, therefore, so long as we foster and encourage lust by the practical licensing of prostitution in our cities under the form of police regulations and debase and imbrute young men; so long as our marriage laws abor the disregard of marital chastity; so long as we offend against heaven by legalizing the brutalizing liquor traffic which destroys in multitudes the last vestige of moral sense and humanity; so long as we continue to set at naught the fourth commandment of the decalogue and secularize the Sabbath by sports and holiday excursions and the open defiance of the laws for its sanctity and quiet observance we cannot hope to prevent deeds of lawlessness or put upon the people the restraint of moral obligation which is the only safeguard of civil society.

The resolutions proved acceptable to all the members present and were adopted unanimously and with considerable enthusiasm, many members rising and making brief addresses in favor of them.

Moderator W. H. McMurray presided and as this meeting is the last until September considerable business was transacted. The Rev. Dr. D. S. Littell of the Second United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, presented his resignation. He resigns because the congregation voted to install an organ, and Dr. Littell is opposed to instrumental music in connection with religious services. The resignation was accepted and Dr. Littell is to preach his final sermon next Sunday.

The presbytery licensed J. B. Fortunato to preach. He has charge of an Italian mission in the Third church, Pittsburgh, and is at present a student in the Allegheny Theological seminary. The Rev. F. S. Scott and the Rev. Mr. Whitmire preached their ordination sermons before the body and the former accepted a call to the Woodville church and the latter to a church at Sheraden.

Series of Illustrated Lectures.

A new series entitled "The Great Religious Works of History," will be inaugurated in the Second Presbyterian church this evening, when "The Pilgrim's Progress" will be presented by stereopticon, with paintings of celebrated artists reproduced in colors, and Pastor S. Edward Young will follow with special bible study. This series of meetings is free to the public.

WORKMEN ARE NEEDED FOR ORANGE HARVEST

California Promotion Committee Asks for Men to Work in Orchards and Vineyards.

So great is the prospective orange crop in California that an appeal has been sent out for workmen to assist in its harvesting. W. H. Murray, representing the California promotion committee, an institution composed of the leading commercial organizations of the Golden Gate state, is in Pittsburgh to enlist recruits here to fill the ranks of the workers needed in California's orange groves.

Mr. Murray is not hiring workmen himself, but recommends them to the promotion committee, which will give written assurances of employment. Laborers in the orange groves are paid from $1.50 to $2.50 a day.

"California is no longer a state composed only of cattle ranges, sheep pastures and mining and lumber camps," said Mr. Murray, who is stopping as the guest of W. C. Dobbs of No. 428 Fourth avenue. "Today these features are overshadowed by vast areas covered with blooming orchards, vineyards, small fruit farms, sugar beet fields and other industries which require intelligent manual labor.

"The committee is not only trying to induce all good citizens to come to California as wage-earners, be they union or non-union men, but also is bringing thousands of people into the state who are taking up land in a small way and consequently will give added employment to the wage-earner. The fruit season is now open and there is great need of women to work in the canneries. A very good class of women do this work and are well paid. Owing to the climatic conditions the cost of living is comparatively inexpensive, affording them an opportunity to see some of the wonders of the great west."

CRAWFORD NOT CHOSEN

Murry A. Verner Succeeds the Twentieth Ward Man On Citizens City Committee.

Charles S. Crawford, president of common council and first chairman of the Citizens party, will not be a member of the new Citizens city committee. His seat is to be taken by Murry A. Verner.

The Twentieth ward committee was reorganized last night. These officers were chosen: James W. Clark, chairman; S. S. Leslie, vice chairman; Harry H. Sotzley, secretary; H. J. Thoma, treasurer. Verner was elected a member of the city committee. Crawford still has membership in the county committee.

DECLINES THE CALL TO THE EAST END

The Rev. Samuel H. Moore, pastor of the New Castle Presbyterian church, has formally declined the call to the East End Presbyterian church, to succeed the Rev. Alfred Nicholson, resigned. Mr. Moore's congregation has urged him to remain and he has decided to do so. It is probable now that the Rev. Dr. T. J. Porter of Oxford, O., will receive a call to the East End church.

New Auto Motor Truck of the Duquesne Brewing Co.

Probably one of the most interesting sights witnessed in Pittsburgh streets for years first came before the public last week, when the Duquesne Brewing Company put its new mammoth auto motor truck in service.

The huge vehicle, loaded to its full capacity with products of the brewery in glass and wood, was the cynosure of all eyes as it moved noiselessly and gracefully over the downtown thoroughfares or stopped in front of some leading cafe to make delivery of goods. Crowds lined the sidewalks wherever the giant vehicle went and many were the flattering comments made concerning it, mingled invariably with words of admiration for the enterprise of the Duquesne Brewing Company.

The truck is entirely different from any auto vehicle used for commercial purposes that has ever been seen in Pittsburgh. Electricity is the motive power, and although it has a carrying capacity of 25 barrels, this monster machine quickly responds to the slightest twist of the steering wheel and is more easily controlled than many of the pleasure automobiles.

This wonderful horseless wagon of the Duquesne Brewing Company was built specially to their order by the New York Equipment Company. The contract for it was placed and the specifications forwarded through Seely's well-known automobile depot in the East End, this city.

A technical description of this magnificent motor vehicle would hardly interest the average newspaper reader. Suffice to say that it is built on entirely new lines, the construction being different from that of any other machine on the market today. In most electric vehicles the bodies are mounted on the old-style "reach" running gear, involving many objectionable features. These have been completely eliminated by the use of a patent steel frame "pedestal" gear, which is a feature of the Duquesne Brewing Company's machine. The "pedestal" is a single steel casting fastened to the steel body frame. The axles are placed in the jaws of this pedestal and have absolute freedom vertically. The steel frame relieves the vehicle body of any strain or tendency to buckle and at the same time offers substantial support for suspending the battery, leaving the inside of the immense wagon absolutely clear.

The handsome auto-truck is supplied with two motors, one operating independently each rear wheel. The controller is located under the seat and is operated by direct connection with a hand lever. There are four speeds ahead and two reverse.

The steering and braking devices on this "swell" delivery wagon of the Duquesne Brewing Company are of superior strength and reliability, making its operation in the streets of Pittsburgh absolutely safe. The tires are solid rubber throughout, so that there can be no difficulty with punctures. The truck has a carrying capacity of 60 half-barrels (five tons); speed per hour is six miles, and it will cover a distance of 25 miles on one charge. President Benz and Secretary Succop are delighted with the splendid behavior of the big auto-truck during the initial week of its operation.

The Duquesne Brewing Company's new delivery equipment is bound to result in a great saving of labor. By rough calculation, one of these motor trucks will do the work of four horses and two wagons and in a much less period of time. The rapidity of the service, compared with the horse-drawn wagons, is another feature in favor of the electric auto-trucks, so that all things considered it is not at all improbable that within a very few years "beasts of burden" may entirely disappear from the streets of busy cities like Pittsburgh. In any event, the Duquesne Brewing Company is to be complimented for its enterprise in being the first brewery to substitute mechanical traction for horse-drawn vehicles in a business that necessarily requires heavy hauling.

SHRINERS AT SARATOGA.

Nobles from Syria Temple Are Going in Fine Style Next Week.

Members of Syria Temple, Ancient Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will leave Pittsburgh next Monday evening at 7 o'clock over the Pennsylvania, to attend the 29th annual session of the imperial council, to be held this year at Saratoga Springs. They will go via Jersey City, going over the West Shore road from that point, and will reach the springs at 1 p. m. Tuesday. They will be met by the reception committee of Damascus temple, which will escort them to their rooms at the Grand Union hotel. They have arranged for a stay of three days, with numerous side trips, including Lake George, Saratoga Lake, Fort William Henry and a trip through the Adirondacks, and one on the St. Lawrence river.

The parade will occur on the evening of July 8, and the Syria temple nobles will be escorted by their famous Arab patrol, under the command of Chief W. C. Wright, and Downing's brass band. On Thursday the Pittsburghers will distribute at their headquarters the Syria Souvenir, one of the finest ever made in Pittsburgh.

Leaving Saratoga Friday over the Delaware & Hudson, they will arrive in Albany at 8 a. m., where they take the Hudson river boats for a daylight ride down the Hudson, reaching New York at 6 p. m.

Their special train will consist of one baggage car and five Pullmans and will be under the personal supervision of Thomas E. Watt, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania. The committee is composed of W. S. Brown, potentate (ex-officio); George W. McCandless, A. S. Bishop and W. J. Griffith.

CANOVSKY MUST PAY THE PENALTY

DAMAGING NOTE TURNED UP

Defendant Denied Beating His Wife, but Acknowledged Hitting Her Once.—Will of Bernard McKenna Leaves Estate to Family.

Joseph Canovsky was convicted yesterday evening of first degree murder for the killing of his wife, Mary. The jury returned its verdict after a short deliberation and it was received quietly, the court room being almost free of spectators. The doomed man stood up at the command of Clerk Lawrence Fagan and with his body posed like a soldier and his big chest heaving, listened to the words that sealed his fate.

The case was given to the jury at 3 o'clock. About one hour later they sent a card to Judge Marshall Brown asking for further instructions. Owing to the absence of the stenographer another had to be obtained, and it was 5 o'clock before the jurors were brought into court and instructed. They asked the court if it was necessary that the intentions of the defendant be proven, and if such could be fixed by them by inference.

Judge Brown replied that they could draw from the circumstances in determining the prisoner's intentions, and then mentioned as circumstances the condition of the woman with six ribs broken on one side and three on the other, in addition to other internal disorders caused by the beating. The jury retired after these instructions and returned with their verdict about 20 minutes later.

The case was resumed yesterday morning. District Attorney Haymaker offered in testimony a letter written in the Slavish language by Canovsky during his incarceration, to one of the state's witnesses, who had been in the house during the murder, in which he asked that the witness and the others who were in the house at the time, all countrymen, leave the county and go somewhere where they could not be called upon to testify.

In opening for the defense, Attorney H. L. Christy said he would not ask for an acquittal. He said he expected to prove that the woman was addicted to drink, had taken a vow before a priest to abstain and had violated the pledge and also her marriage obligations. A confession of the latter caused the husband to strike her in a fit of anger. He said the verdict should be voluntary manslaughter.

Canovsky testified he found his wife drunk on reaching home, he upbraided her about it, and she then began setting breakfast. She was so drunk, he said, that she fell in the fireplace, cutting her head. He took her into another room, he said, and went for aid.

He denied striking her but once, and that was when she replied: "None of your business, Joe," to his question asking where she obtained liquor.

During his arguments to the jury Mr. Haymaker said the case was the most fiendish that had ever been told about on the floor of the court room, and that the defendant was so much the brute that he hardly deserved the liberties and privileges of a trial.

The will of the late Bernard McKenna was placed on file in Register George H. Stange's office. The value of the estate is not given. The entire estate is bequeathed to the decedent's wife, and at her death it goes to the children, Catherine McNulty, J. Frank McKenna and William B. McKenna. The paper is dated April 17, 1900, and J. Frank McKenna is made executor. By a codicil, dated June 6, last, the executor is empowered to sell any or all of the real estate at public or private sale.

J. G. Vogeley, late of Tarentum, bequeathed a $41,000 estate to his widow, Annie C. Vogeley. By the will of Dennis Lyons, late of Pittsburgh, a $25,000 estate goes to his widow.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The will of Thomas E. O'Malley was filed and letters taken out by Celia O'Malley. Attorney James H. Smith represents the executrix.

Permission was given to the receiver of the Natalie Anthracite Coal Company to lease its interest to the Shamokin Coal Company from July 1 to November 1 next.

The Philadelphia Company filed a bill in equity against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company to restrain it from dumping earth on gas pipes laid near Renova street.

A motion for a new trial in the case of the B. P. Young Company against the George A. Fuller Company was refused. The action was to recover for marble furnished for the Frick building.

In the United States district court the following were discharged from bankruptcy: James H. Mussina, Lock Haven; Jacob Frank, New Castle; John Ross, Pittsburgh; W. H. Gill, Pittsburgh; Joseph Stein, Pittsburgh.

Decrees in divorce were granted as follows: Margaret Walker against George Walker; Mary Culleper against Max W. Schleiper; Elizabeth Smith against Joseph Smith; Elizabeth Larson against Frederick E. Larson, all on the grounds of desertion and Elizabeth B. Gill against Andrew L. Gill for infidelity.

Lydia Blough entered suit against Mrs. M. M. Smith for $1,000 damages. The plaintiff states that she is a dressmaker and rented a room at No. 6109 Walnut street from the defendant. She declares that while she was absent from her room Mrs. Smith broke into it and carried away several articles of furniture.

In the United States circuit court, Judge M. W. Acheson handed down an opinion allowing Mary C. Delafield interest from May 5, 1902, in the condemnation by the city of property owned by her near Aspinwall. Mrs. Delafield was awarded $110,200.75 on the date mentioned. The property was taken for a filtration plant.

Too Many Empty Beer Kegs.

More than 1,000 empty beer kegs have been collected to date by the street commissioner of Homestead, who is making an effort to rid the borough of the many empty kegs thrown on streets and alleys. The kegs are gathered and hauled in a wagon to a vacant lot adjoining the borough lockup, where they are stored awaiting the brewing companies, who will be charged 10 cents for each keg before they can secure them.

Forcible Hugging Not Immorality.

Prof. Samuel H. Gardiner, principal of the Torentum High school, has been exonerated from the charges of immorality brought against him. He was accused of forcibly hugging and kissing Miss Agnes Roberts, a pretty 18-year-old girl who lives near Beading. The school board reached the conclusion that the hug and kiss was merely friendly, and the charge of immorality not sustained.

Brewery in McKeesport.

McKeesport business men propose erecting a new brewery at Walnut street and Twelfth avenue to cost about $150,000. A charter for the Tube City Brewing Company has been applied for and a site has been purchased for the building, costing $25,000. Michael Gross, select councilman, has been elected president of the company; John H. Malloy treasurer, and W. B. Fell secretary.

SUICIDE ZONE SHIFTED IN JUNE FROM ALLEGHENY TO PITTSBURGH

According to the coronial report for June, the suicide zone seems to have shifted from Allegheny to Pittsburgh. Of the six persons who took their lives during that month, five of them lived in Pittsburgh and one in Allegheny. Three of these persons ended their lives by shooting, two by poison and one by hanging. During the month 116 cases were reported to the coroner's office. Of this number seven were murdered. Twelve boys died from lockjaw as a result of injuries received from firing toy pistols. The accidents from warm weather pastimes are already showing themselves. Seven boys and two men were drowned while swimming during the month. Twenty-three persons were killed on railroads, 11 by falls, five by street cars, six from alcholism, three by burns, 12 by apoplexy, 14 from heart disease, eight by mill accidents, two from infirmities of age and two from the effect of the heat. During the month of May 150 cases were reported to the coroner's office.

George J. Gould Says Wabash General Offices Will Remain in St. Louis

All reports to the effect that the Wabash headquarters would be removed from St. Louis to Pittsburgh or elsewhere have been set at rest by a statement made by George J. Gould, the active managing owner of the Wabash and other Gould lines. The statement is made in a letter from Mr. Gould to President John Schroer of the Mercantile club of St. Louis. The letter is in answer to an anxious inquiry from Mr. Schroer. In the letter Mr. Gould says:

"I want to assure you that you and my St. Louis friends are under a misapprehension. There is no move on foot to change the headquarters of the Missouri Pacific or the Wabash from St. Louis, nor has such a thing ever been contemplated. I have worked too long trying to develop the interests of the city of St. Louis and trying to give it good service with my various roads, to make any change now.

"What I presume the story grew out of is the fact that A. C. Bird, who has recently been appointed traffic director of our lines, has an office in Chicago. He also has an office in St. Louis and one in New York. His having an office in Chicago has no bearing on the case. As a matter of fact, he lives on his car about a quarter of the time and is all over the United States.

CAST IRON WHEEL STRONG.

Charles T. Slocum, president of the Keystone Car Wheel Company of this city, takes exception to the statement that the demands of modern traffic call for a solid steel wheel. He says:

"It seems to have been overlooked by some people that the chilled iron wheel has been improved to a very great extent in the past three years and is under over 90 per cent of all the cars built or in service at the present time.

"When steel cars were first made light wheels were used similar to those which had been in service for many years, but a very little experience developed the fact that a wheel which was sufficiently heavy for a 40,000 or 80,000-pound capacity car need not necessarily be, and as a matter of fact was not, strong enough for a car of 100,000 to 140,000 pounds capacity or load. A number of the more prominent car wheel manufacturers not only increased the section of weight of the wheel, and improved their mixtures, but also developed and improved the process of annealing, as practiced by at least two concerns for more than 20 years, and have made it possible for the manufacturers to be able to know positively that the wheels he furnishes will unquestionably fulfill the demands of the modern severe service, caused by heavy cars, immense traffic and greater speed."

E. A. Ford's Newspaper Training.

E. A. Ford, the general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, and one of the veterans in the passenger department of American railroading, has recently been called upon to tell of one stage of his life that has been little known. The Fort Wayne News tells the following:

"No long ago E. A. Ford, the veteran general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Company's lines was in this city for a few hours, and the News, in speaking of his visit, said that he began his active life as a printer. A metropolitan paper, in noticing the News article, denied that Mr. Ford had ever been so engaged. Interested in the matter I wrote Mr. Ford concerning the matter, and this is his answer: 'I have your favor and in reply will say that I did not begin my active life as a printer. It is, however, true that while I was teaching school in Missouri in 1859 I learned a little about setting type in a newspaper office. I used to scribble for a newspaper called the Union Furnace, which was published at Ironton, Mo., and then would set up my own articles, read the proof, help print the paper on a hand press and sometimes act as 'devil.' like the d—l.'

"From this I should say that Mr. Ford must have been considerable of a printer. Indeed, he must have been 'the whole thing, editor, printer and devil combined.' In fact, he would, with this journal, have made it nice around a newspaper office in case of a strike on the part of any of the force. He could move along to the side of General Reub. Williams, Hon. Jerry B. Stull, or any of the old-timers. He seems according to his own confession, to have been through all the polishs,' and could run a country newspaper all by himself. The grand old passenger agent is entirely too modest. He is entitled to a card in the Typographical and Pressmen's unions and also to admission as a member of the Press club."

Big Freight Movement Continues.

Chicago reports of freight movements are considered one of the most reliable indications of the country's condition to be found. The reports so far have shown an excellent record is being made for 1903, one that will compare well with the high-water mark of 1902, if not surpass it on both the lines east and the lines west of Chicago.

One feature is that the movement of empty cars to the east is lighter, as there is enough grain, flour and miscellaneous freight being shipped to absorb the excess of cars arriving from the west in the general movement of merchandise, steel and coke.

Shipments of flour increased 11,162 barrels for the week and 22,000 barrels over last year. Grain shipments decreased 112,000 bushels for the week and increased 78,000 bushels over last year. The movement of provisions was reduced 4,807 tons for the week, an increase of 2,196 tons over last year.

N. Y. CENTRAL ACCEPTS THE CONDITIONS IMPOSED

NEW YORK, June 30.—(Special.)—Contractors will begin in a few days upon the work of depressing the tracks in the New York Central tunnel and of substituting electricity for steam as motive power. An agreement between the city and the railroad companies had been drawn up and it was understood that if it were satisfactory to the city authorities the company would accept it. This was done at today's meeting of the directors.

Special Epworth League Train.

Epworth league members and their friends making the trip to the convention at Detroit July 16-19 will have the advantage of a special train out of Pittsburgh over the Pennsylvania lines. The special will leave here at 7:45 p. m., July 15, and will connect at Cleveland with the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company's steamer to Detroit. The rate will be one fare for the round trip. It is also pointed out that persons wishing to go to Cleveland for the Fourth of July from Pittsburgh can take advantage of the special low rates by using the midnight train of the Pennsylvania from here.

Can Now Lay New Tracks.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 30.—(Special.)—The double tracking of the Baltimore & Ohio and the construction of the third and fourth tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie can now be completed through Mahoningtown, as a result of an agreement reached last night between councils and the railroad companies. The railroads pay the expenses of undergrade crossings at Liberty street and Ashland avenue.

Railroad Granted Concessions.

NEW YORK, June 30.—At a meeting of the directors of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, and the New York & Harlem Railroad Company, the agreement with the city for depression of tracks in Grand Central yards and for changes from use of steam as a motive power was approved and the contract has now been executed.

Railroad Notes.

The new "manifold," by which the records of freight shipments is much simplified, will go into use this morning on all parts of the Baltimore & Ohio system.

J. T. Campbell, traveling auditor of the Baltimore & Ohio, with headquarters at Butler, with this morning become division agent of the Pittsburgh division.

L. F. Loree, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, with his family, will sail from New York on the Kronprins Wilhelm next Tuesday to spend the summer in Germany. They will locate on the edge of the Black Forest and return during September.

The new La Salle station in Van Buren street, between La Salle and Sherman streets, Chicago, will be opened July 12. All trains of the Lake Shore, Rock Island and Nickel Plate will arrive and depart from the new station after that date. The new station is the finest and most convenient in the west.

WATER RENTS FOR 1903 ARE OVER A MILLION

Total water assessments of the city for 1903 amount to over $1,000,000, the report of the bureau, made yesterday, showing an assessment of $1,087,375.56. This is the first time it has gone over the million dollar mark. The assessment for 1902 was $967,265.64, the increase this year over last being $120,309.92.

The assessment applies to only 23 of the 38 wards of the city. Of the remaining 15 wards there are 14 on the South Side, the inhabitants of which pay tribute to the Monongahela Water Company for an alleged water supply, and the fifteen-rd, the Thirty-seventh (Brushton), obtains its supply from another private concern which supplies Wilkinsburg and other contiguous boroughs.

In the 23 wards which come under the assessment there are increases to be noted in 20 of the wards, decreases in the other three, which are the Twelfth, Fifteenth and Seventeenth.

Owing to the delay of the bureau in making the assessments the collections begin a month late this year. They start today. The city treasurer will receive water taxes during July, and after this month a penalty of 5 per cent will be added.

CHLOROFORMED AND ROBBED

Burglars entered the residence of James Potts, Fifth avenue and Neville street, late Monday night, chloroformed the owner and thoroughly ransacked the house, securing a small amount of money and two watches. When Mr. Potts awoke yesterday morning he found a sponge beside him on the bed. He had a severe headache and when he examined the sponge it smelled strongly of the drug. The house was entered from a rear window.

The jewelry store of Goldbloom Bros., No. 111 Smithfield street, was entered on Monday night and $5 and a check for $34 were taken from a cash drawer. The store was entered through a rear window by some one familiar with the store.

SUNDAY DESECRATION.

McKeesport Bapists Are Going to Talk to Mayor Falkenstein About It.

At a meeting of the advisory board of the First Baptist church of McKeesport held yesterday the matter of Sabbath desecration in that city was earnestly discussed and the city officials condemned for permitting it to exist.

The ministers of the city have interested themselves to the extent of making a personal canvass of the city for the purpose of locating stores and business enterprises that have been allowed to do business on Sunday unmolested. The ministers say that they will this week make a formal call upon Mayor George F. Falkenstein and demand that something be done to put a stop to the practice. The Rev. James A. Maxwell of the First Baptist church, is taking a prominent part in this crusade.

TO TEST POLICE FUND RIGHTS

SUIT BROUGHT TO RECOVER

Mrs. C. D. Mackey Alleges Association Cannot Refuse Her Claim When Husband Was Forced Out Through No Fault of His Own.

The rights of the police officers and the Police Pension Fund association will be tested in a suit brought by Attorney R. M. Ewing in behalf of Anna M. Mackey, widow of C. D. Mackey, a former policeman, who was discharged from the police bureau for political reasons April 4, 1903, and died April 28. Mackey had been a member of the association and paid his dues regularly since its inception. He was said to have been in good standing with the association at his death, and it is alleged, he was discharged from the city's service summarily and without charges being preferred when Mayor Hays took office. The association has refused to pay his widow $1,000 death benefits and suit is brought to recover.

The determination of this question at this time is of the utmost importance to hundreds of officers and firemen who were in good standing in the association when summarily discharged through politics. If Mrs. Mackey wins her suit the families of many men now employed in other pursuits will be enabled to draw death benefits the same as if the men, so discharged, were members of the police and fire bureaus. The final result may cause the disruption of the entire corporation, as if will be unable, it is said, to compel members not on the city payroll, or who were discharged without cause, to pay dues, and may have to pay back to them all the money they have paid in during long years of service.

In the statement is is alleged the defendant association was, on December 16, 1893, duly incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania, and by an amendment to its articles of association on September 1, 1894, it is stated that the purpose set forth for which this organization is formed is to accumulate a fund from the dues of its members, from legacies, gifts and other sources, in order that from this fund pensions may be paid to members of the association, and to the families of deceased members, the amount of which pension, the circumstances under which they shall be paid, and the parties to whom they shall be paid, to be determined by the by-laws.

These by-laws, it is alleged, provident for the payment in case of death to his proper legal representatives, $1,000 in case the surplus of the association reaches or exceeds $25,000. It is claimed that Mackey had been an employe of the police bureau for 15 years previous to his death, and that he at all times paid his dues and performed his duty to said association in the form and manner provided by these by laws. Mrs. Mackey, it is said, notified the association of her husband's death and made a demand for $1,000, which was refused.

It is alleged that the association had no legal right to refuse this payment, when Mackey paid in money for 15 years, and through no fault of his own was forced from the city payroll. The suit was entered in court of common pleas No. 3 and, will be heard within nine months or one year.

TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH.

Mills in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek Valleys Will Close.

Independence day will be appropriately celebrated in the Monongahela and Turtle Creek valleys. Carnegie Steel Company officials at Braddock, Homestead and Duquesne will have fireworks displays at their homes in the evening.

Every mill and workshop will suspend operations for the day. The Carnegie mills will stop at 6 p. m., Friday, and resume at the same hour Sunday evening. The Westinghouse and other plants will shut down Friday evening and resume Monday morning.

All the stores and offices will be closed the entire day and the saloon keepers of East Pittsburgh will close their bars at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

DISPUTE MAY NOT BE ARBITRATED

Stone Masons Will Not Withdraw Their Selection of the Pittsburgh Attorney.

Indications are the dispute between the bricklayers and stone masons will not be arbitrated. The executive committee of the bricklayers will hold a meeting today to decide on what course to pursue. Thomas R. Preece, national organizer, who was deputized to carry on the fight for the bricklayers, sent a telegram to the executive committee stating the names of the stonemasons' arbitrators. Following the message was a letter stating objections to the Pittsburgh attorney and asking advice as to whether to call off the plan of arbitration and call out the men, or select an attorney to equalize the stonemasons' choice.

Mr. Preece, accompanied by some of his assistants, held a conference with the stonemasons' officials yesterday morning regarding the matter. The stonemasons claimed the right to name whom they pleased and would not change those selected. Preece in speaking of the trouble said:

"I will follow out the orders of the executive board. If they refuse to permit an attorney to sit as an arbitrator, the stonemasons must select another man, or I will notify the contractors that the arbitration is off, and they must not employ members of the National Stonemasons' union. I will call out every bricklayer at work where the independent stonemasons are at work Monday, and will fight the matter to a finish."

NEW COUNCIL LAWS.

Constitution and By-Laws of Structural Trades Council.

The constitution and by-laws to be adopted by the new structural trades council, now forming, were drafted last night at a meeting of the committee appointed for that purpose. The constitution will permit only the members of crafts directly engaged in structural work, as was outlined in The Gazette several days ago. The committee was appointed at the last meeting of the delegates from the labor organizations selected to form the new council.

The constitution and by-laws will be taken up for consideration at a meeting to be held tomorrow evening by the delegates. They specifically read that no sympathy strikes must be countenanced and no strikes will be allowed unless the contractors refuse to submit the disputes to arbitration.

The stone cutters' is the last labor organization to signify its willingness to affiliate with the new council. It will have representatives at tomorrow's meeting.

No. 1 No. 2 No. 3 No. 4 No. 5 No. 6 No. 7

THERE is no reason for the hasty "rush to cover" on the part of some makers of summer shirtwaists, just because June happens to be cool. There's bound to be plenty of warm weather before the summer is over. But these makers are either naturally scant or have too much capital tied up in goods. It's just such trade happenings as these, however, that enable us to make such surprising offers as those mentioned in this adv.

Waists just like illustration "No. 1," 1.98. Made of fine sheer lawn, trimmed with Val lace insertion and embroidery medallions, pleated back, pouched sleeves—waists that ordinarily would sell for $3.00.

Waists just like illustration "No. 2," 2.49. Made of fine French lawn, with rows of Val lace insertion at front, tucked back, large pouch sleeves, lace cuffs and stock collar—waists that would sell ordinarily for $3.50.

Waists just like illustration "No. 3," 1.49. Made of good quality white lawn with embroidery trimmed large pleated front, pleated back, large sleeves, embroidery trimmed cuff and stock—waists that would ordinarily sell for $2.50.

Waists just like illustration "No. 4," 2.49. Made of checked or barred mercerized madras in black and white effects, large pleated full front, pleated back, large sleeves, white stock tie to match waist—real value $4.00.

Waists just like illustration "No. 5," 95c. Made of nice white lawn, all-over embroidered tucked front, tucked or plain back, large tucked sleeves, fancy stock collar—waists that ordinarily sell for $1.50.

Waists just like illustration "No. 6," 1.25. Made of white India linon, embroidered and hemstitched yoke effects, diagonal tucks, tucked back, large sleeves, with stock collar—waists that would easily sell for $2.00.

Waists just like illustration "No. 7," 75c. Made of percale, oxford, cheviot, madras, tucked and pleated front, pleated or plain back, large sleeves, with stock collar, white or colored, real value $1.00.

The above waists are "out of the common," each being conspicuous for originality and dignity of outline, for stylish and correct point in fashioning and trimming, for sterling worth of material. You can't go wrong, no matter which line you select from.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Champions piled up eight runs in the third inning this afternoon, and broke up the game, at the same time driving Manion's California wonder, Schmidt, to the club house. Pounds, a native of the Buckeye state, relieved Schmidt in this inning, but the handicap of 12 runs, made by Clarke's men in three innings, was too much for him to overcome.

What the visitors didn't do to Schmidt's delivery in the hitting line you could tell on the back of a postage stamp, while Leever's delivery was not hit so you could notice it, comparatively speaking, until he had put this game away safely.

The locals were clearly outplayed, both in the field and at the bat, and seemed to be beaten from the start. The visitors played nothing but all through the game, notwithstanding their big lead at the start, and kept their bats working overtime. Beaumont, Clarke and Wagner adding four hits each to their batting averages. Wagner moved over to first in place of Brashear, who took a rest today. Kruger taking Wagner's place at short, both played brilliant ball.

In the first inning singles by Beaumont and Clarke and Wagner's long fly netted Pittsburgh one run. The second inning was productive of three runs for the visitors. Ritchey died at first, but Phelps reached second on Schmidt's wild throw to Doyle of his run. Leever walked and Beaumont flied to center. Clarke doubled to left, Wagner pushing the gift to Sebring and filled the bases. Wagner's long single scored both Leever and Clarke.

In the third inning every man but Sebring made a hit, and aided by two runs on balls and Doyle's error, the Pittsburghs piled up eight runs, every man scoring but Capt. Clarke. In the fifth inning Wagner pushed one over the centre field fence for a home run, it being the longest hit ever made at Washington park. Leach hit for three-quarters of the circuit in the fifth and scored on Ritchey's fly.

Beaumont and Clarke hit safely in the seventh, the latter was doubled up with Sebring on a fast double play. Beaumont scored on Wagner's triple, and on Dahlen's error on Kruger's hit, Wagner scored. One run was added, making 17 in all, in the sixth inning, on hits by Ritchey and Beaumont.

Brooklyn scored two runs in the fifth, after getting two men on bases Sheckard scored them with a hit through Kruger's legs. In the sixth Brooklyn scored three more on hits by Ritter, Bergen and Dahlen, and Brooklyn added one in the seventh. Eighth and ninth innings.

Clarke still shows signs of his encounter with Bowerman, and when he came on the field he was heartily welcomed by the people who extended him all kinds of sympathy. It is doubtful if Catcher Bowerman will be with the Giants on their next trip to Pittsburg. The wound received in Shibe park Sunday so penetrated the bone that Draw has sent him to his home in Michigan to recuperate. The score:

BOSTON HAD THE LUCK.

Lived Ewing's Curves and Beat the Reds.

BOSTON, June 30.—After going out in order four innings, the locals solved Ewing's delivery and batted out a victory over Cincinnati 7 to 4. Aubrey's first hit since he joined the Boston team brought in two runs. Steinfeldt's home run in the eighth made the score nine. Boston played in good luck. Score:

DAVIS' COSTLY ERROR.

It Helped Cardinals to Victory Over the Giants.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Shane fielding by Dan Davis sent down the scores to the New York's locals' game here today. The visitors bunched their hits nicely, but David made an expensive error in the sixth inning. St. Louis scoring three runs on three hits and the misplay. A splendid stop and throw by Lauder and two very fast double plays on the St. Louis side were the features. Score:

RACES POSTPONED.

Final Efforts, However, Will Take Place Tonight at Colosseum.

Owing to the rain last night the grand wind-up of the big six-day cycling carnival at the Colosseum was postponed and will take place tonight. It is one of the closest races on record, each team having ridden 235 miles in the five nights past. A strong rivalry exists between Frank Kramer, the American champion, Iver Lawson, champion of Australia, Floyd McFarland, the handicap king, and Willie Fenn, who holds the 5 and 10 mile championship trophies. In their nightly struggles these riders have fought it out inch by inch, and on the showing each made in the present tournament, there is little to choose between them. Each has out-sprinted the others at different times and not until the final tonight can the question of supremacy be definitely settled between them. Eddie Root, George Schreiber, Walter Borgel and Floyd Krebs have also shown such unexpected speed that there are many cycling fans in this city who are dubious about one of the champions winning the large end of the $2,500 prize, and profess to believe that one of the youngsters is liable to capture it.

PETER MAHER AGAIN.

NEW YORK, June 30.—(Special.)—Peter Maher, who still styles himself the champion of Ireland, despite the fact that he has been knocked out more times than any other heavyweight in the profession, has decided to engage in one more battle. Maher had intended to quit fighting when George Gardner put him to sleep in one round in Boston.

He was made a fair offer, though to take on Joe Grim, the Italian heavyweight, in a six round bout at Industrial hall, in Philadelphia, on Wednesday night, and he changed his mind about quitting the ring. Maher will be tackling a tough customer in Grim. The latter has stood off "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, "Kid" Carter and Jim Jeffords.

C. P. GRENEKER.

Shamrock's Sail Smashed

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Shamrocks started at 12:38 p. m. from Sandy Hook lightship. Fifteen minutes after crossing the line something holding Shamrock III.'s main sheet gave way and her main sail was lowered and she headed for Sandy Hook under jib. Shamrock I. followed her. The accident was not serious. Erin took Shamrock III. in tow for Sandy Hook. Today's proposed race was abandoned. It was to have been a 15-mile beat to windward and return. A 12-knot breeze was blowing at the time of the mishap.

Sharon to Dedicate Park.

SHARON, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—Sharon's new baseball park will be dedicated tomorrow with a game between Sharon and Greenville. Burgess Buchholz will pitch the first ball.

Disputing Decision Was Costly.

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—As the result of a dispute over the umpire's decision at a ball game, Michael Vogel was struck on the head by a brick and his skull fractured. Trephining saved his life.

Lynched Negro and Shot Sheriff.

SCOTTSBORO, ALA., June 30.—Fifty men marched from Larkinville last night and took Andrew Diggs, colored, from jail here and lynched him. Diggs had been arrested for assaulting Miss Alma Smith, white, at Larkinville, last Saturday night. Sheriff D. O. Austin resisted the mob until he was shot down and the keys taken from him.

ST. LOUIS CLUB OWNER STANDS BY HERRMANN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, June 30.—President Herrmann of the Cincinnati club today received a letter from President Frank De Haas Robison of the St. Louis National league club, which upholds Mr. Herrmann's stand in the Davis case. He also inclosed a copy of his letter written to President Pulliam in answer to the latter's letter to President Johnson relative to the case. His letter to Herrmann follows:

"Hon. August Herrmann, President Cincinnati club:

Mr. Herrmann—I fully concur in everything you have said to Mr. Pulliam. The fact is that Elberfeld was awarded to the Detroit club. This was unanimously agreed to by every member of the National and American leagues. This made Elberfeld an asset of the Detroit club. It had the right to dispose of the release of Elberfeld to any other club, either a member of the National league or American, provided the consent of Elberfeld was obtained to the transfer. The Detroit club, in disposing of Elberfeld's release, had a perfect right to do so, and in no way or manner did they break the peace agreement. George Davis was awarded to the Chicago American league club and in the asset of that club until there is a disposal of his release, and the New York National league club has no right to the services of George Davis until it seems fit through the proper channel. I entered into and signed the peace agreement in good faith, and I shall certainly stand by that action. You may use this letter for publication. Sincerely,

(Signed) "FRANK DE HAAS ROBISON."

Mr. Robison's letter to Pulliam states that he entirely disagrees with Pulliam's position taken in the Davis-Elberfeld case, and at length explains his reasons for his stand, practically reiterating his expressions in the above letter to Mr. Herrmann.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—New York took the second game of the series with St. Louis today. The game was a pitcher's battle and the winning run came in the eighth inning on a base on balls, a sacrifice and a hit. The feature was Williams' home run drive into left field. Attendance 1,100. Score:

WON IN NINTH.

Umpire Rendered Queer Decision at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, June 30.—Bay's single sent Cochnaur across the plate with the winning run for Cleveland in the ninth inning. The game was characterized by a most peculiar decision by O'Loughlin, which, if allowed, would have resulted in Cleveland protesting the game had Philadelphia won. With one out, Lajoie on third and Hickman on second, McCarthy hit to first base. Davis touched first, but his throw home struck McCarthy on the head, knocking him unconscious. The ball bounded to the grand stand, and both Lajoie and Hickman came home. O'Loughlin, however, sent Hickman back to third. Score:

SOCIETY

MRS. ALEXANDER MILLARD, who has been spending the last two months with her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Millard, in Amberson avenue, Shadyside, sailed on Saturday for Scotland. This was Mrs. Millard's first visit to Pittsburgh since her son was married, and her visit was made most enjoyable by the social attentions which were shown her by the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Millard. The younger Mrs. Millard gave a porch tea for her, which was followed by a series of informal affairs, presided over by Mrs. Maxwell K. Moorhead, Mrs. James McCrea, and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Millard accompanied Mrs. Millard to New York and after bidding her good-by at the steamer, went on to Greenwich, Conn., where Mrs. Millard and her little daughter will spend the summer. Mr. Millard is expected home in a couple of days, but will return to the seashore in August, to spend the remainder of the season there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham Brown will leave the middle of July for Point Pleasant, where they usually spend the summer, and will not open their house in Forbes street, Squirrel Hill, until fall.

Art Prize Winners.

An exceptionally fine exhibition was held yesterday afternoon in the school rooms of the Stevenson Art school in Wood street. H. S. Stevenson's pupils have done some excellent work during the past year and much of it, together with the prize winning pictures, covered the walls of the studios yesterday, during the reception which Mr. Stevenson and his pupils gave to their friends and the artist fraternity.

Six prizes were awarded. Miss Amelia Beckwith winning that offered in the oil class painting from life; M. E. Eckley for life drawing; R. W. Walton, antique; M. E. Eckley, sketches; M. E. Eckley, decorative work, and E. D. Kornhauser, composition.

The honors were given as follows: In the antique class, honorable mention to A. Dietrich; No. 1, Fred Demmler; No. 2, Miss Lillian McKee. Sketches, honorable mention, Miss D. M. Walker; No. 1, Miss Beckwith; No. 2, Miss Crider.

During the afternoon Mr. Stevenson received in his studio, assisted by Miss Clarissa McCracken, Miss D. M. Walker, Miss Amelia Beckwith, Miss Jessie White, Miss Buehbinder and Mrs. P. Buehbinder. The prize winning paintings and drawings, together with the best of the class work shown in the exhibition, will be exhibited during the next two weeks in Boyd's art store, Wood street. Mr. Stevenson has organized a sketch class which will begin its work on Monday, July 6, painting in the neighborhood about Castle Shannon, where the artist and his wife have their home.

On Monday evening the students had their annual studio party. Music and dancing were the features of the entertainment, the musical program being presented by Mrs. Longdon, Mr. Jones, Mr. Mohr and Mr. Goldsmith.

Bushfield-Howard.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Justus A. Dawson Clevenger, in Center street, Wilkinsburg, last evening the marriage of Miss Grace Bushfield and Thomas Hudson Howard, also of Wilkinsburg, was solemnized. The wedding took place at 8 o'clock, the marriage ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. Parry, pastor of the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church. The house was filled with guests. The decorations were in green and white, roses and carnations being effectively combined with ferns and graceful vines.

The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Justus A. D. Clevenger, and her only attendant was her niece, Miss Adele Clevenger. Dr. Harry McMahon of Detroit was the best man and the two ushers were nephews of the bride, W. D. Clevenger and A. T. Clevenger. The bride wore a gown of white silk trimmed with duchess lace. Her veil was fastened with an aigrette and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor wore a pretty gown of white mousseline de soie over green taffeta and her bouquet consisted of maidenhair ferns.

After the reception and supper Mr. and Mrs. Howard left for a wedding trip. Mrs. Howard was born in Washington county, but has spent a number of years in New York. She is a graduate of the Hollidaysburg seminary. Mr. Howard, who is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Howard of Wilkinsburg, is well known in business circles in Western Pennsylvania, being an official of the Phoenix Glass Company.

Farrell-Haverty.

The wedding of Miss Ida Mary Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William James Farrell of South Highland avenue, and John Michael Haverty took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the Roman Catholic Church of the Epiphany, in Washington street, the Rt. Rev. Regis Canevin, coadjutor bishop, officiating. The bride was attended by her three sisters—Miss Blanche Farrell, who was maid of honor, and Miss Marie Farrell and Miss Stella Farrell, bridesmaids. James J. Horan was the best man and Edward A. Weiss and J. F. McGrath the ushers. The music was rendered by Miss Carrie Neumont, assisted by a trio of little girls from St. Rose's parish, Miss Marie Daly, Miss Myrtle Snyder and Miss Camilla Carey.

The bridal gown was of white chiffon over white taffeta, and with it was worn a large white hat trimmed with white plumes. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor wore white voile and the bridesmaids white organdie, all three wearing large white hats and carrying bouquets of white sweet peas. After the breakfast the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip. They will make their home after September 1 in Dennarch avenue, Greenfield.

Rosser—Backofen.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rosser have issued cards announcing the marriage last evening of their daughter, Mary, to Julius R. Backofen. The wedding was a quiet affair, at the bride's home in Forbes street, in the presence of only the immediate friends of both families. The Rev. I. A. Barnes of the Second Methodist Protestant church officiated. There were no attendants.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white crepe meteor, fashioned with a long train, and trimmed with Irish point lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, and wore the bridegroom's gift, a diamond and pearl brooch. In the lace-covered bodice was a tiny spray of orange blossoms worn by her mother at her marriage in England over 30 years ago.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding dinner at the Hotel Schenley in one of the private dining rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Backofen left last evening for an extended eastern trip. They will be "at home" to their friends on Wednesday evenings, September 16 and 23, at their new home, No. 405 Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg. Mrs. Backofen is a cousin of David and Delos Rosser, the photographers, and her wedding of last evening was of interest to a large circle of friends. Mr. Backofen belongs to one of the oldest families of Pittsburgh and has been connected with the Westinghouse company for some years.

Sheekey—Newell.

One of the largest church weddings that has taken place in Braddock during the present year was solemnized in St. Brendan's Catholic church by the pastor, the Rev. P. Molyneaux, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The contracting parties were Miss Rose Sheekey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Sheekey of Camp avenue, Braddock, and Albert R. Newell, son of John Newell, former proprietor of the Hotel Newell, now a resident of the East End. The wedding was solemnized with nuptial high mass in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The bride was given away by her father, and the attendants were Miss Mary Sheekey, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and Frank O'Day as best man. Charles Spiegelmire and Eugene Sheekey were the ushers.

The bride was attired in an imported lace gown and wore a picture hat. The shower bouquet she carried was formed of sweet peas. Her sister wore a gown of white silk, and carried bridesmaids' roses. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the Sheekey home in Camp avenue, and later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Newell left for a trip over the lakes. They will be at home after September 1, in a new home recently erected by Mr. Newell in Hays street, East End.

Handsome Wedding at Meadville.

MEADVILLE, PA., June 30.—(Special.) Seth Sprague Terry of New York and Miss Gertrude Sackett of this city were married this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Sackett, in Liberty street, the Rev. Jenkins Lloyd Jones of Chicago, an uncle of the bride, officiating. The house was beautifully decorated with foliage, roses and marguerites, and about 100 invited guests witnessed the ceremony and partook of the wedding dinner. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha Sackett, and the groom's best man was Charles F. Townsend of Lockport, N. Y. The ushers were Ward M. and Edgar H. Sackett, brothers of the bride, and Congressman Arthur Bates and Walter Irving Bates, the latter a brother-in-law of the bride.

Mr. Terry's present to his bride was a costly diamond-and-pearl pendant, made up of seven large diamonds and six large pearls, with a chain of about 30 smaller diamonds supporting one large pear-shaped gem. To his best man and the ushers he gave gold pins, and the bride's gift to her maid was a gold brooch.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins Lloyd Jones and daughter, Mary, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Klehison and daughter, Miss Josephine Gutman and the Misses Frances and Grace Wilson of Pittsburgh.

Cotillion at Edgeworth Club.

A handsome cotillion was given at the Edgeworth club, Sewickley, last evening, by Mrs. Edward O'Neil, in honor of her daughter, Miss Florence, who is home from school, at Ogontz, for the summer. There were 150 guests present, nearly all being the school set, quite a number being from out-of-town, young people who are visiting their class mates in the valley. Miss O'Neil received with her parents. The ball room was elaborately decorated in green, palms and ferns being used effusively; yellow Marguerites were also used in bouquets. There was an enjoyable program of dances, the American Military band furnishing the music. Among the seminaries and colleges represented at the ball are: Ogontz, St. Margarets, Wellesley, Smith, all estern schools; Miss Bennett's on the Hudson, Walnut Lane seminary, Philadelphia; Miss Baldwin's at Bryn Mahr, and Miss Ely's of New York. The boys institutions were: Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Harvard, Montauk Point, Annapolis and Bryn Mahr.

McGee-Swearer.

In the Walton Methodist Episcopal church the wedding of Miss Clara Adelle McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McGee of Sidney street, South Side, and Robert Leeman Swearer occurred last evening at 8 o'clock. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Wolfe, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lottie McGee, as maid of honor, and Miss Dorothy Hedrick, Miss Olive Barkey, Miss Jessie Durr and Mrs. W. R. Pratt as bridesmaids. Clyde Swearer was his brother's best man, and the ushers were another brother, Howard Swearer, and Joseph W. Keffer, W. R. Pratt and the Rev. William Loughsteuter of Vandergrift. It was a pink and white wedding and the decorations of the church and of the house were carried out in these colors. The bride wore a wedding gown of white crepe de chine trimmed with lace, while her attendants were gowned in white and carried pink flowers. A reception and supper followed the wedding and later in the evening the bride and bridegroom left for a trip.

Stange-Carroll.

In the presence of hundreds of friends and relatives Miss Ella N. Stange and Daniel Campbell Carroll were married yesterday morning in St. Peter's procathedral, Allegheny, with high mass celebrated by a brother of the bridegroom, the Rev. L. A. Carroll of Irwin, Pa. The bride was attended by Miss Estella Saterlee bridesmaid, and John C. Carroll was best man.

After the wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents in Bell avenue, Allegheny. Later in the day the young couple left for an eastern wedding trip. On their return they will reside in Bell avenue, Allegheny.

Reno-Porter.

A quiet home wedding last evening in the East End was that of Miss Florence Hughes Reno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson Reno, and Harry Vernon Porter. The event took place at the home of the bride in Maryland avenue. She was attended by Miss Ida May McClure and Miss Lillian May Sarver of Allegheny. Percy Martin of Los Angeles was the best man. The two ushers were Edward Rossiter Reno and John Francis Porter. After the wedding supper the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip. At-home cards will be issued after their return.

Wedding at Homestead.

In St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic church at Homestead at 8 o'clock yesterday morning Miss Ida Agnes Rossert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Rossert, of Fourth avenue, Homestead, and John F. Heuer, were married by the Rev. J. J. Bullion, pastor of the church. The attendants were Miss Emma Rossert, a sister of the bride, and William Heuer, a brother of the groom. A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The usual wedding trip will be dispensed with and they will reside in Homestead.

Shipley—Eddie.

The marriage of Miss Mazie Virginia Shipley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Benton Shipley, and Charles Carey Eddie occurred last night at the home of the bride's parents, Latrobe, Pa., the Rev. Dr. Pruner of Pittsburgh officiating. The bride was daintily gowned in incusseline de soie over white satin, with French lace trimmings. She carried a cluster of white roses. The ceremony was followed by a reception and supper, after which Mr. and Mrs. Eddie left for a western tour. They will be at home to their friends after August 1 at No. 12 Rosedale avenue, Pittsburgh.

Hallam—Kuhns.

Miss Gertrude F. Hallam and Charles D. Kuhns, both of Washington, Pa., were married last evening at the home of the bride's mother, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. B. Risk of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The affair was a quiet one on account of the recent death of the bride's father, only immediate relatives of the couple being present. The bride is a graduate of the Washington seminary and a daughter of the late Lewis F. Hallam. After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Kuhns will be at home in Pittsburgh after August 1, where Mr. Kuhns is in business.

Mrs. Knox Goes to Beverly Farms.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Knox and her youngest son, Philander Knox, Jr., left today for Beverly Farms, Mass., and will be absent until next October. Mrs. Knox has invited several companions of her son to spend the Fourth at her summer home.

The secretary of commerce and labor will spend July 4 at Franklin, Pa., visiting relatives. The two sons of Secretary Cortelyou have been in Franklin for the past fortnight and will remain there until July 15, when the family will go to Hempstead, L. I.

Miner—McNish.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., June 30.—(Special.)—The wedding of Dr. Thomas Ting McNish of Allegheny and Miss Elizabeth Miner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Miner of this place, was solemnized at their handsome home this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Miner Critchlow of Franklin, a cousin of the bride. The couple were unattended.

Notes of Society.

The Business Women's club of Allegheny went to Harmarville yesterday for their annual outing.

Mrs. John T. Findley of Walnut street, Sewickley, entertained a few of her friends at luncheon yesterday morning.

Fifty children were taken to Valencia, the new summer home of Kingsley House, yesterday. The children will spend two weeks in the country and then return to the city to give another party of 50 a two weeks' outing.

About 16 were present at the home of Miss Grace Jackson in Sewickley last evening for the little affair given by Miss Jackson and Miss Edith Ritchey in honor of Miss Ritchey's guest, Miss Brooks of Canton, O. Games and music were indulged in.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Sarah Sutton of Greenfield avenue, Braddock, and Joseph Franklin Kelley of Lilie avenue, Braddock. They will be wedded July 1 at the bride's home. A linen shower will be given for the bride this evening by Miss Jennie Snyder and Miss Ida Miele, at the home of Miss Miele, in Greenfield avenue.

Closing Summer Playgrounds.

The summer playgrounds that have been conducted under the auspices of the Homestead Woman's club at the Second ward school building will be closed July 17. The grounds were opened as an experiment for six weeks and they have proved a success beyond all expectations. Next year the club expects to have similar playgrounds on a larger scale in each ward in the borough.

Hurt On His First Trip.

CUMBERLAND, MD., June 30.—(Special.)—Early this morning an eastbound freight train ran through a derailing switch and was wrecked. Seven cars of mixed merchandise piled up behind it. Engineer Coleman escaped with very slight injuries. Fireman Groves of Newburg, W. Va., had his foot and ankle so badly crushed that the leg was amputated. It was his first trip.

MORE LIFEGUARDS AT THE SEASHORE

35 HAVE BEEN APPOINTED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier, ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 30.

Today was one of the first real days of summer the resort has seen and from the number of arrivals here it would seem the season has begun at last. Just as an indication that this belief is prevalent among those who govern the city, Mayor Stoy today appointed 35 extra life guards for the protection of the bathers who will within the coming week throng the city. The men will on on duty tomorrow and while the people of the city have been clamoring for these men since the first drowning accident some days ago, it was not considered necessary to place more than six of them in action before tomorrow.

Women Engage in Fisticuffs.

The guests of a prominent hotel were somewhat startled last night by the peculiar action of a man and woman in the cafe who arose rather hastily and attempted to leave suddenly as a beautifully gowned woman ablaze with diamonds came hastily in through the door. Within a moment and before the couple, both of whom were in evening dress, could escape, the newcomer attacked the wife of the man and shortly put her in a condition to require the services of a surgeon. In fact, it was a regular prize fight for a few moments and the husband took the opportunity to make a hurried exit. The head waiter in his zeal to quiet the disturbance and save the pair of women from damaging each other, seized the wife by the waist and threw her bodily out of the place. He then requested the woman who had caused the trouble to take herself out by another entrance.

Admiring Doctor Lorenz.

Dr. Lorenz is the center of attraction on the boardwalk at the present time. He is seeing everything from the padded cell in the department of public safety to the loop the loop, the bathing suits and the mysteries of a cracked mirror, a broken comb and the slippery slip towels in the bath rooms of the bathing pavilions. Several times during his promenades along the boardwalk he has been stopped by admiring crowds who then followed him along the promenade. When he attempted to enter the water the word was quickly passed that the great Viennese was about to take a plunge and he was practically forced to form himself into a flying wedge and rush himself through the crowds to the water.

No More Liquor Licenses.

The council refused last night to increase the number of liquor licenses in the city. Several communications asking for the withdrawal of applications were received and a large majority of residents along the beach front appeared to oppose any liquor license that might come up.

Indian Delegate Coming.

A real live Chippewa Indian has been announced as one of the delegates to the Federation of Catholic societies that will convene here in a short time. The following set of resolutions was received here today by the secretary of the order in this city. They are from the government Indian bureau at Washington, and explain themselves. In substance the resolutions are as follows:

We, the chiefs, head men and braves, having been informed that the religious Catholics of the Big Pines country have formed a union to protect the Great Father, the church of God, are of one mind, that we send one of our braves to their convention to be held at Atlantic City, and lend our aid to fight in the great cause of the church of God.

The set of resolutions is signed by 18 Indian chiefs and was drawn up and acted upon at White Earth, Minn., during a convention of Indians, and as Father Gauss was in attendance the document was forwarded through him.

Hotel Agnew in Court.

In chancery court yesterday, before Vice Chancellor Reed, the matter of the sale of the Hotel Agnew, one of Atlantic City's finest hostelries, was brought up by Thomas E. French, representing some of the claimholders. Mr. French showed that the hotel as it stood was worth $170,000 and would be idle from now till next fall, during which time it would lose. This would make the matter most expensive and hard to bear by all parties.

CONTRACT LABOR LAW IS OFTEN VIOLATED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Prosperity is making lots of trouble for the Immigration bureau. Commissioner Sargent is kept busy looking for violations of the contract labor law. During May there were 208 deportations under that statute and June is likely to exceed that record.

The bureau has a case at New Castle, Pa., where five immigrants are suspected of having come to this country to work at the plant of the New Castle China Company. They have been sent back to Ellis island and the United States attorney has been notified of the case.

It is believed that a large proportion of immigrants are violating the law, but it is difficult to prove cases against them. They know the sort of answer to give the inspectors, saying that they have come to visit relatives or that they have money enough to keep them for a time, etc. However, there is ground for the belief that they know where jobs are awaiting them.

Walter Allen's Body Found.

EAST LIVERPOOL O., June 30.—(Special.)—The body of Walter V. Allen, the 8-year-old son of Howard B. Allen, who was drowned at Neville island, Pittsburgh, last Thursday, was found in the river at Wellsville today and identified by the father. The remains were prepared for burial and taken to the home of the parents in McKees Rocks.

RISE WAS CHECKED BY HIGHER MONEY

The Rate on Call Loans Reached 10 Per Cent in Wall Street—Advance in United States Steel Stocks a Leading Feature.

By JOHN O. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was some irregularity in the eastern stock market yesterday, but on the whole the improved sentiment was well maintained and the volume of business large, the sales reaching 622,000 shares. London quotations were strong and higher, and foreigners handled about 40,000 shares, buying about 15,000 shares more than they sold. Reading was one of the conspicuously strong features of the early dealings, being helped by the remarkably fine statement of earnings for May, showing an increase in net earnings of $1,320,000. Of course, the comparison was made with the same month last year, when business in the anthracite region was interrupted by the miners' strike, but taking this into consideration, the showing was regarded as exceptionally flattering as indicating the continued healthy condition of the trade. Pennsylvania opened ½ higher at 125⅞ and advanced to 126¼, the offerings after the price crossed 126 being sufficient to check a further rise. All the low-priced coalers were active and firmer, Erie crosing 34, Ontario & Western advancing to 26⅜, Chesapeake & Ohio reaching 40 and Norfolk & Western crossing 67. The grangers were helped by the weakness in wheat, which was based upon the reports of rains in the spring wheat country, and by the reports of fine corn-growing weather. Amalgamated Copper rose to 56⅜ on the advance of 15 shillings in the London market for the metal. Sugar rose over a point and the steel stocks were firm and fractionally higher. By the end of the first hour there was some profit-taking, which caused a slight reaction from the highest prices of the early part of the session. It was the expectation of members of the stock exchange that a holiday would be granted for Friday as well as Saturday, and there may have been some selling on the theory that the impending long holiday would induce an evening-up of accounts; but the governors of the exchange refused to grant the petition, and the stock exchange will remain open on Friday. There was a slight recovery in the general list following this action, and then trading became dull.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The advancing tendency during the afternoon was checked by the rise in rates for call money, which had been ruling around 7@6 per cent. Later in the day the rate advanced to 8 per cent, and finally to 10 per cent, at which the last loan was made. The feature of the late trading was the sudden advance in United States Steel stocks, particularly the preferred. The common rose to 31⅝ and closed at 31½. The preferred, which had opened at 89½ and had hung around 89½@89¾ during the greater part of the session, advanced quickly to 92 on bidding by a firm that is credited with affiliations with the syndicate. This firm bid for all the stock offering at 92, and the price crossed that figure and rose to 92½ closing at 92¾. The movement occurred at a time when rates for money were the highest and also at a time when selling was taking place in the railroad list. The new bonds of the corporation were also strong, closing at 88¼ old. Several rumors were current to account for the movement. It was not until after the close of the market, however, that the announcement was made of the appointment of W. E. Corey as assistant to Mr. Schwab to perform the active duties of the president of the corporation. This appointment, it was stated, was at the request of Mr. Schwab, owing to his continued ill health. This appears to be a very happy solution of a situation that was beginning to attract widespread comment in financial circles. It was evidently so construed by those who had advance information of the change. The rise in United States Steel imparted a firmer tone to the general list and checked the decline in the grangers. The close was about steady, with Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul and some of the coalers showing slight net changes, while Missouri Pacific, Atchison and the industrial stocks were firm and not far from the best prices of the day.

The advance in the rates for call loans was not unexpected in Wall street, and was not regarded as specially significant. Today will see the beginning of the disbursement of millions of money for interest and dividends, and a return to normal rates may be looked for within the next week or two, provided there is no large increase in the volume of speculation. In Pittsburgh yesterday there was some calling of loans and rates were quite generally marked up to a 6 per cent basis, but it is expected that within 10 days the local money market will become easier.

There was very little change in the local stock market yesterday. More than half the total dealings was furnished by United States Steel. The common opened at 31 and advanced to 31½, while the preferred opened at 89¾ and advanced to 91⅝. Both closed at the highest prices, the movement being in sympathy with the rise in New York. Crucible Steel common sold at 15 and the preferred advanced to 80¾, closing firm. There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Coal common, but the bidding advanced to 28, and no stock was offered under 28⅝. The preferred advanced to 86½. River Coal preferred was unhanged at 40⅜ cash, and closed at 39 bid ex-dividend. With the exception of Ohio Fuel Supply, which declined to 41, a drop of a dollar a share, the natural gas stocks were firmer. Manufacturers Light & Heat advanced to 39½, and Philadelphia Company was ¼ higher at 42⅛ cash, the stock closing at41¼ bid, ex-dividend. The Westinghouse stocks were strong. Electric first preferred advanced $2 a share, selling at 96, and the second preferred, after selling at 95½, advanced 85⅛. Airbrake sold at 153½, a net advance of 2½, closing at 153 bid. Harbison-Walker common rallied 1¼, selling at 16, and National Fire Proofing common and preferred were firmer.

The action of several banks and trust companies in increasing the regular rate of dividends or declaring extra dividends seemed to have a strengthening effect upon this department of the market. Dollar Savings Fund & Trust was the feature, advancing $31 a share over the highest price ever quoted for the stock. Real Estate Trust was also strong, advancing to 295, a net gain of 9 per cent. Iron City Trust was 2 per cent higher at 154¼. The others in the list were firm and unchanged. There were no transactions in American or Colonial Trust. The latter was nominally quoted at 580 bid, 600 asked. There was nothing doing in the bond list, and prices remained unchanged.

FINANCE AND TRADE IN JUNE.

The month of June recorded the lowest average price of stocks for more than two years. The liquidation which had been in progress for months reached a climax on June 10, when prices fell below the average level of the May panic of 1901. The shrinkage in market value represented hundreds of millions of dollars, and all classes of securities participated in the loss. Pennsylvania railroad at the head of its class declined to the lowest price for five years, and United States Steel at the head of the industrials, sold at the lowest prices on record, with the single exception of a momentary drop on May 9, 1901. Authorities are not yet agreed as to the real cause of the liquidation, but the general opinion leans to the belief that it was due to the forced sales of large interests which were loaded with premature schemes which the public refused to absorb. The revelations in connection with the United States Shipbuilding Company, the collapse in the market value of the International Mercantile Marine Company, and the uncovering of other weak spots, produced a feeling of uncertainty that affected all the markets at home and abroad.

Other influences at work were the unprecedented floods in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys; the damage to the crops by unseasonable weather, the average condition of winter wheat falling more than 10 points below the backward condition of the corn crop; the large export movement of gold to Europe; and the labor troubles which brought large building operations in Chicago and elsewhere to a standstill, the delivery of iron and steel, but caused some large corporations to call a temporary halt upon projected improvements, because of the increased cost of labor and material.

The chief financial feature of the month was the floating of the $75,000,000 new stock of the Pennsylvania railroad at a premium of 20 per cent over par. At one time the extreme weakness in the stock threatened to throw a large percentage of the issue into the hands of the underwriting syndicate, and it now appears that there were some apprehensions as to the success of the deal. The announcement on Monday, however, that the only had the $75,000,000 new stock been taken, but that 90 per cent of the subscriptions were full paid, giving the company between $80,000,000 and $85,000,000 cash, produced a good feeling in stock market circles.

There was no change in the money market throughout the month, rates for call loans ruling at 2@3 per cent, reaching 10 per cent at the close yesterday. The New York associated banks reduced their loans for the month to the extent of $6,960,600, gained about $1,000,000 in cash, and increased their surplus reserves by $3,900,000. Interior money markets were relatively much firmer than in New York, and in Pittsburgh stringency prevailed, the banks being considerably below the legal reserve line. Foreign bank rates declined, that of the Bank of England to 3 per cent, the lowest of the year, but Europe continued to make drafts upon our gold. The exports, however, are generally believed to represent the payment of loans negotiated by the United States in the foreign markets earlier in the year.

The chief event in industrial circles was the fixing of the rate on steel rails at $28 a ton for next year's delivery and the placing of enormous orders at that price. This has a good effect upon the market as a whole.

In the respect of increased capitalization and the promotion of deals for consolidations, Pittsburgh differed from the rest of the country. The greatest activity was among the local manufacturing companies. The stockholders of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company authorized an increase in the capital stock of the company from $21,500,000 to $25,000,000, and at the same time authorized additional bonds to the extent of $5,000,000, the latter to be pay for properties already acquired and to make improvements on the same. The Union National Gas corporation increased its capital from $3,000,000 to $9,000,000, and the Peoples Natural Gas and Pipeline Company authorized an increase in its capital from $500,000 to $800,000. The Pittsburgh Oil and Gas Company, organized this year with $6,000,000 capital, authorized an issue of $1,000,000 bonds. The stockholders of the Union Switch and Signal Company authorized an increase of $1,500,000 in the capital, and the directors offered $500,000 of the increase for sale at $70 a share, or a premium of 40 per cent over par. In the banking department of Pittsburgh the Safe Deposit and Trust Company authorized an increase in the capital from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 for the purpose of taking over the People's National bank. Announcement was also made during the month that the Farmers Deposit National bank would be included in the long-pending Colonial-American Trust consolidation, which contemplates the organization of a group of financial institutions that will give Pittsburgh the largest bank between New York and Chicago.

Financial operations in Pittsburgh were unusually active, the clearings for the month exceeding $222,000,000. This is $57,000,000 larger than the total for the first month of 1903, and is with one exception the largest for any month in the history of the local clearing house. The total exchanges for the half year ending yesterday were in excess of $1,250,000,000, an increase of $196,500,000 over the corresponding period last year, and nearly $450,000,000 larger than for the first half of 1900.

This unprecedented increase in local bank exchanges has been concurrent with unusually light trading in the stock market, and for the month June with the establishment of the Pittsburgh stock exchange clearing house, which has greatly reduced the number and amount of checks used in the settlement of stock market transactions. In some measure the increase was due to the financial operations already referred to, but in the largest measure it is due to the continued activity of our industrials, the output of mills, factories and railroads being maintained at the maximum.

The local stock market, as stated, was dull throughout the month and the tendency of prices was downward. In the case of some of the newer industrial shares, prices touched the lowest on record, but the largest declines were in bank and trust company shares, representing the liquidation of speculative accounts, which had been greatly inflated earlier in the year. At the close of the month a somewhat better tone prevailed.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

According to street gossip, the capital of the Dollar Savings Fund and Trust of Allegheny will be again increased and the new stock offered at $320 a share. The stock yesterday sold at 341 and closed at 342½, the highest price ever quoted.

The calling of loans and the marking up of rates to 6 per cent by local banks yesterday was merely in preparation for the disbursements that will begin today. By the 7th inst. it is expected that the local money market will be in a much easier condition.

The new earnings of Canadian Pacific for May increased $216,000.

The 50-point break in cotton yesterday was thought to foreshadow the collapse of the bull speculation, which has had a bad effect upon the Cotton manufacturing trade.

The surplus earnings of Wisconsin Central for May increased $11,000.

The New York banks and trust companies which assisted last year's bull movement started their season, and there is every reason to believe that the most important financial interests in the street will view with disapproval any attempt to inaugurate a bull market at this time.

Dividends Declared.

Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, 16 per cent quarterly. This is at the rate of 64 per cent per annum, and is the first Pittsburgh stock declared by the company which has been paying 6 per cent per annum.

The Traders and Mechanics Bank, 2½ per cent semi-annual. This is an increase of 1 per cent per annum.

The Allegheny National bank, 4 per cent semi-annual. The directors have added $100,000 to the surplus fund.

Penn Salt, 1¾ per cent quarterly.

Freehold Bank, 6 per cent quarterly.

Union National Bank, 1½ per cent quarterly.

National Bank of Western Pennsylvania, 3 per cent quarterly.

Peoples National Bank, 3 per cent quarterly.

Northern Liberties Bridge Company, 40 50 a share out of the earnings of the past six months.

Duquesne National Bank, 2½ per cent quarterly.

Fort Pitt National Bank, 4 per cent semi-annual.

German National Bank of Allegheny, 4 per cent quarterly.

The Harbison-Walker Refractories Company has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, payable July 20 to stock of record July 10.

Ohio Valley Bank, 3 per cent semi-annual, payable July 1st to stock of record June 20.

Second National Bank, 1½ per cent quarterly.

German Savings and Deposit Bank, 3 per cent quarterly.

Farmers Deposit National Bank, 6 per cent quarterly.

The 4 per cent semi-annual on Farmers and Mechanics Bank is payable July 10.

United States National Bank, 3 per cent.

East End Savings and Trust, 1½ per cent quarterly.

Fifth National Bank, 3 per cent semi-annual.

WALL STREET

TWO EAST END HOUSES BOUGHT

One Is in South Negley Avenue and the Other in Bartlett Street.

SALE OUT FIFTH AVENUE

Webster Avenue Property Brings $17,500—Local Speculator to Build 25 Houses in Ohio—Three Small Manufacturing Plants Assured.

Two modern residences in the East End exchanged owners yesterday. One belonged to John Laughlin and was sold to Frank J. Lanahan through the agency of the Real Estate Trust Company. It is a pressed brick colonial house containing 12 rooms and stands on a lot 60x121 feet, at the southwest corner of South Negley and Friendship avenues. The consideration was $20,000 and the purchase was made for an investment.

The other residence was owned by Harry M. Gross, who sold it to a local broker, through the W. H. Skivington company. The house is No. 5825 Bartlett street. The lot faces 70x150 feet on the east side of the street between Murray and Shady avenues and has a depth of 150 feet. The house is a center hall brick containing 14 rooms and provided with the modern improvements. It was sold for $18,000 and will be occupied by the purchaser as a home. This makes four out of a total of 15 similar houses on South Gross built on Bartlett hill this year, a good proof that first class property will sell as quickly and as well as any other kind of real estate.

Good Bargains Secured.

Through W. H. White and Howard Hain & Bro. No. 2122 Fifth avenue has been sold for $15,000. It belonged to John Travis and was bought by E. Scheinman and J. Weisberg for an investment. The front of the lot, which measures 20 feet, is a two-story and mansard brick house and a two-story frame dwelling stands on the rear of the lot and fronts in Ann street. The property is on the south side of the avenue near Seneca street and, considering the fact that the buildings could not be replaced for less than $10,000, is considered the best buy made in that neighborhood for some time. James J. Gannery has sold to Michael Power No. 620 Webster avenue for $17,000. The deal was handled by C. C. Hamilton. The lot measures 24x110 feet between Dimmick street and Sixth avenue and has on it a three-story brick building in front and two frame houses in the rear. These are all rented and bring in a fine income on the investment.

Building Takes a Decided Spurt.

Charles L. Devenny, who has done considerable speculative building the last few years, is taking bids on eight frame houses in Riverview park, McKeesport. The houses will contain five rooms and bath and will cost about $1,850 each. He is taking bids on seven similar dwellings to be built in the Beechwood district. The contract will be awarded in a few days for a third bunch of 25 frame houses which Mr. Devenny will build near Rice Co. at a cost of $1,500 each. The contract for the office building of the Carnegie Steel Company at Duquesne has been awarded to George L. Bollinger. The total cost will be $40,000.

Bollinger Bros. have the contract for building the boss distillery at Port Royal. The building will be seven stories high and fireproof.

The latest announcement in building at Pittsburgh is the proposed hotel to be erected there by Joseph Goldberger and Sons, at a cost of $50,000. It will be three stories high, 73x51 feet, and will be the first building of its kind in West Pittsburgh.

The English Lutheran church of East Pittsburgh has bought a site and is considering the matter of building a brick and stone church to seat 500 persons.

Six Months in Realty and Building.

In another column will be found a complete resume of real estate and building operations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the first one-half of 1903. When compared with the corresponding period last year the showing is very satisfactory. In Allegheny especially the increased demand for good property has been a marked feature of the six months. The old Grant Allegheny property, dead but recently disinterred by the efforts of enterprising brokers, and now there is no part of Greater Pittsburgh where the general activity is more pronounced than on the North Side.

The trustees of the First Congregational church at Fifth avenue and Washington street have voted not to sell the church property at present. An offer of $107,000 was submitted for it two weeks ago when it was reported sold, but the deal was never consummated. The reputed buyers were members of the Columbia Realty Company.

In the register of deeds office yesterday it appeared that Henry M. Hall takes title to the Bank of Commerce property in the interest of the Home Trust Company. The sale of the property at the northwest corner of Wood street and Sixth avenue was made through the agency of Samuel W. Black & Co. The exact consideration was $650,000 and the lot measures 73x99 feet. Today the Home Trust Company opens for business in the building, the first floor having been remodeled for its use.

Manufactories Arranged For.

Several important building permits were issued in Pittsburgh yesterday. The Union Steel Casting Company will build an ironclad addition to its foundry at Sixty-first street and the Allegheny Valley railroad, to cost $20,000. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company received a permit for a power house and planing mill on the south side, to cost $10,000, and also for a brick planing mill at Thirty-third and Carson streets, to cost $10,870. The Holy Family Roman Catholic church will build a school house at Forty-first and Foster streets, to cost $15,000. B. J. Steele & Co. got a permit for a brick addition at Howley avenue, to cost $2,000.

In Allegheny permits were granted to L. P. Adler for a frame house in Belmar avenue, to cost $4,000, and to William Ansing for a frame house in Halsey place, to cost $2,000.

Collins avenue: J. A. Young & Co. sold for H. F. Cincotti to William L. Murry a lot 50x120 feet, on the west side of Collins avenue, near Rodman street, for $9,000. Also for William Mochel to John M. Dasher an improved lot 23x120 feet, in Mt. Vernon street, for $1,700.

Sickels street—Sisters of Mercy sold to William E. Buck an improved lot 40x143 feet, at the southeast corner of Sickels and Harrison streets, Thirty-seventh ward, for $4,000.

Building Permits Issued.

Pittsburgh building permits in which the cost of the proposed new structures aggregate $1,300,000, were issued yesterday. One of them was for the new St. Paul's Cathedral at Fifth avenue and Craig street, in the Fourteenth ward. The contractor, Thomas Reilly of Philadelphia, to whom the permit was issued, estimates the cost at $800,000. The material will be granite, steel, brick and stone combination, timber. A permit was also issued yesterday for the new Nixon theater, now being built in Sixth avenue, near Smithfield street, the cost of which the contractor, the John H. Fuller Company, estimates to be $200,000. It is to be of steel, brick and terra cotta, and the front is to be five stories high, to be occupied by offices.

A permit was also issued to the Holy Family Roman Catholic congregation for a three-story brick school house, to be built at Forty-first street and Morest alley. Twenty-first ward, to cost $15,000; to Mrs. Sofara Cebool board for a three-story brick addition to the school house in Solway street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $50,000; to the Union Steel Casting Company for a one-story meshed planing mill in Sixty-first street, Eighteenth ward, to cost $20,000; to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for a one-story brick planing mill at South Thirty-third and Carson streets, to cost $10,000; to William Levy for a three-story brick store and dwelling in Wylie avenue, Eighth ward, to cost $2,450, and to E. L. Speck for a two-story brick dwelling in Lloyd avenue, Sixteenth ward, to cost $2,000.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5@10 points under liquidation following lower European cables, but turned steadier as the session progressed as a result of continued covering in the absence of offerings. The close was steady, unchanged to 5 points higher. Sales were reported of about 20,250 bags, including July at 3.90@3.70c; September, 3.90@3.95c; October, 4.00c; November, 4.05c; December, 4.35@4.40c; January, 4.45c; February, 4.55c; March, 4.60c; May, 4.65@4.70c; July, 1904, 4.75@4.80c. Spot Rio quiet; No. 7 invoice, 5½c; mild, quiet; Cordova, 7¼@11c. Sugar—Raw, unsettled; fair refining, 3¼c; centrifugal, 96-test, 3 9-16c; molasses sugar, 2¾@2¾c; refined steady.

LARGE OAT RECEIPTS SEND PRICES DOWN

Another Advance in Flour Expected—Home Grown String Beans Now Offering.

Some increase in the amount of oat receipts caused a weakening in the market, and offerings were as low as 45½c for No. 2 white. This occasioned an easier feeling all around, and a reduction of a cent a bushel was made in quotations for all grades. Whether this will continue as a fixed range of prices, or whether it is due entirely to a temporary surplus in the amount of stock offering, remains to be seen, but the market is fairly steady at the decline. Hay is unchanged, and the situation has lost none of its firmness. Eastern crops of timothy are short, and supplies are likely to command a high range of figures all season. Corn and millfeed continue to sell as last quoted, while straw is quiet and without special feature.

Flour is strong, and prices at which spring patent is selling here are not at all commensurate with actual conditions. Local jobbers are quoting flour at about the same price as present mill quotations. This being anything but a profitable condition for the millers, it is all unlikely to suppose higher prices will prevail here before long. Sugar is unchanged and is selling fairly well, though the demand is not equal to that of a month ago. Roasted coffee is unchanged, and retailers are buying from hand to mouth, not feeling at all certain as to what will happen in the sugar situation. Green coffee is also unchanged, prices for rolled oats and oatmeal being now much above figures which ruled last week.

The more seasonable weather which has prevailed for the last few days has had a marked effect on home grown produce, and lower figures are ruling for several lines. New onions are easier. Home cucumbers have dropped from the situation, demand, though large, not being sufficient to clean up the market as yet. Berries are coming forward in fair quantity, and prices are just about what they were yesterday. Currants are scarce in this vicinity, and few home grown will be offered, but shipments from the lake region, where they are generally a good supply, have not yet started.

Butter is more active at the decline of Monday, the market showing more firmness than for several weeks past. Cheese is still slow and prices weak. Cheese is holding steadily to quotations, with demand active, and supplies moderate. Eggs are unchanged; receipts are fairly large, but Pittsburgh and egg shippers are consigning much of their stock to New York. This may cause higher figures to prevail here.

Poultry is unchanged since the decline of Monday. Demand is good and quotations are steady.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 18 cars hay, 1 car straw, 1 car bran and stray, 13 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 2 cars corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 10 cars hay. Total receipts, 66 cars.

ALL CEREALS CLOSED LOWER IN CHICAGO PIT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 30.—Favorable weather cannot weaken in the wheat pit today, despite the fact that the lowest, September, cash sale for new wheat, rate of 1c and provisions from 12½@13c to 37½c lower.

Wheat ruled active, with a large amount of liquidation going on throughout the entire session. Opening prices were weak on decidedly bearish news, reports from the northwest being to the effect that rains had fallen over a large portion of the spring wheat belt, thus dispelling all fears of a drought. A special Bureau crop report estimated this year's yield at about 100,000,000 bushels, the largest on record, under these influences September opened ½@¾c lower at 73½@73¾c, sold up to 74¼c. The strength in corn helped the market for a time and with fresh buying September advanced to 77½c, but without outside support the market soon weakened and on pressure of September sales broke sharply, September declining to 76¼c and closing at 76¼@76¾c, a net loss of 1¾c. Primary receipts were 2,530,000 bushels, against 507,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 235 cars, with local receipts of 41 cars, two of contract grade, which 1,400 bushels. In the three points of 296 cars, against 269 cars last week and 322 cars a year ago.

Corn was surprisingly strong in the face of the weakness in wheat, the higher cables and the dry weather. Local demand being largely responsible for the firmness. There was considerable liquidation as a result of the favorable weather conditions, but the offerings were readily absorbed by commission houses. The weakness in wheat was a new factor, and much of the gain was lost, September closing 1c lower at 50¾c, after selling between 50½ and 51¼c. Local receipts were 582 cars, with 37 of contract grade.

There was only a moderate trade in oats, but prices were firm the greater part of the day due to good consumption, home demand, and the fact that a weak feeling in wheat resulted in a general covering of shorts. There was about steady, with September at 39c, after it had sold between 38¾c and 39¼c. Local receipts were 218 cars.

Unfavorable crop reports caused a weakness in provisions and most of yesterday's gains were lost. Late buying by brokers caused a steadier tone, but prices showed little recovery. September lard closed 5c lower at 8.45@8.47½, September pork 50c off at 18.20@18.25, and ribs 12½@13c at 8.65@8.67½.

EMPEROR GOES ON A CRUISE

Germans' 14-Oared Cutter Defeated American 12-Oared Cutter in Two Mile Race—American Crew Had 15 Seconds Time Allowance.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

The American squadron sailed from Kiel at 6 o'clock this evening. As each American ship passed along the line of German vessels the Germans cheered and their bands played "America." Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia, on the bridge of the German flagship, stood at the salute until the last ship had passed.

The American officers, though interested in the proceedings here every day of their stay, were glad to get away from the necessity of changing uniforms three or four times a day and from long periods of duty. Rear Admiral Cotton and the captains of the American ships were also relieved to depart without any untoward incident having occurred. They, with Ambassadors Tower and Meyer, had been daily in contact with Emperor William and were impressed with his sincerity and earnestness. They still said that they felt he could have done nothing more to show his appreciation of the visit of the squadron to Kiel or his desire to win American good will.

The presence of the squadron, from the side of the German public, is regarded as a demonstration of friendliness, especially as the battleship Kearsarge was sent at five days notice to join the squadron and also because the administration at Washington expressed definite sentiments toward Germany through Ambassador Tower's speech. Personally, the emperor's bearing was unaffected and even joyful. He has often spoken with singular openness.

The 14-oar cutter of the German turret ship Kaiser Wilhelm II. beat the United States cruiser Chicago's 12-oar cutter today in a race over a two-mile course, covering the distance in 28 seconds better time. The winning German cutter, on account of having an extra pair of oars, started 5 seconds after the Chicago's cutter and finished eight seconds ahead.

The Kaiser Wilhelm II.'s cutter is the champion of the German squadron and won a cup from 12 other German 14-oar cutters yesterday. The crew, which was in excellent training, challenged the best boat on the American squadron, which was the Chicago's, the winner of several competitions in Mediterranean ports this spring. After about a mile and a quarter of the course had been covered the nose of the Kaiser Wilhelm II.'s boat drew level with the stern of the Chicago's boat and, eventually, inch by inch, passed the latter and pulled away from her. The Americans kept up a losing race most manfully, but they continued to lose ground until the finish.

The last salutes of the imperial standard were fired as the Hohenzollern sailed for Eckernfoerde this morning. The emperor started for Eckernfoerde on board the Meteor at 7 a. m. The empress was on the Hohenzollern, which also started for Eckernfoerde.

MAD MULLAH WHIPPED, 1,000 SPEARMEN SLAIN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 30.—The war office today received a dispatch from Col. Rochfort, one of the British officers with the Abyssinian force in Somaliland, which says the Abyssinians, May 31 after a series of forced marches, struck the Mad Mullah's forces near Jeyd, surprising them at dawn, and killing 1,000 spearmen and capturing almost all their cattle and sheep and 1,000 camels.

Rochfort adds that the Abyssinians have effectually closed to the Mullah all the watering places south of the Gerlogubi-Geladi line, and he hopes they will soon be in contact with the British forces and thus be able to co-operate in the pursuit of Mullah, who is delayed in his movements by the fact that he is crossing a waterless part of the country. The colonel's dispatch was dated June 14.

BRIEFS OFF THE CABLE.

LONDON—George Meredith, the novelist, whose condition was announced to be critical, is better.

CONSTANTINOPLE—Crops in several provinces have been seriously damaged by recent torrential rains and hail.

ST. PETERSBURG—The congress of Russian writers, lately in session here, has resulted in the formation of an association to promote copyright.

YOKOHAMA—An order has been issued requiring foreign fire and marine insurance companies to deposit as security the minimum sum of 250,000.

ROME—Prof. Count Angelo de Gubernatis, the famous oriental scholar, is leaving Rome for a three months' course of lectures before American universities.

ST. PETERSBURG—An official forecast of the winter grain crops shows them to be generally satisfactory throughout the empire. The conditions favored spring sowing, so the outlook for the harvest is good.

PARIS—The historic mansion on the Place des Vosges, in which Victor Hugo spent the most active years of his life, was formally presented to the municipality of Paris by the grand children and other kin of the great author.

William P. Hubbard Is Elected President of the Wesleyan Alumni—Vote of Censure.

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., June 30.—(Special.)—Wesleyan alumni today elected William P. Hubbard ('83) of Wheeling, W. Va., president and passed a vote censuring those members of the alumni who late last Saturday night amused themselves by burning a fire near Webb Hall college, the girls' dormitory, and so badly frightened them by a cry, "Let's burn the quad roost!" that an alarm of fire was sent in. When the firemen arrived there was a row between them and certain of the young alumni.

The alumni voted to endeavor to raise $100,000 within two years on promise that $100,000 more should be raised among the college friends for the endowment fund.

Mallalieu, resident bishop of New England, subject "Methodism in New England."

WHISTLING OFFICER CAPTURES A ROBBER

Culprit Thought It Was His Pal Who Was Warbling "In the Good Old Summer Time" and Fell an Easy Prey.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 30.—Their loot satchel was stuffed with stolen goods until it resembled a sucking pig. "This won't do," said Frank McCoy to his pal after they had robbed a dye factory on West Fortieth street. The robbers decided to hide in a hallway to arrange the stolen articles.

"I'll wait outside," suggested the pal, "and say you'll hear me whistling 'In the Good Old Summer Time,' if things go all right. If anybody hoves in sight you'll hear me stop whistling."

Farther down the street Policeman Gray came sauntering along. The whistling struck a responsive chord in his breast. He moistened his lips, puckered them and waited for the refrain. Then with a shrill, clear blast he followed bar for bar and walked on in the direction of the master whistler. When Gray's stout figure was outlined against the dim gaslight and the pal broke off in the middle of the song and moved away in a sudden and rather unceremonious manner. Policeman Gray by this time was opposite the hallway and whistling very loudly he peered into the space.

There sat McCoy bundling up his things. He didn't look up because the strains of "In the Good Old Summer Time" still beat against his drums. "Hey, what is you've got there?" said Gray, leaving off the song.

"Boxing gloves, that's all," said McCoy. "Me and my pal been having a little bout." But he couldn't explain away a sealskin coat and other feminine articles and Gray hauled him in. In the Jefferson market police court this morning he was held in $1,000 bail.

BALANCE SHEET FOR FISCAL YEAR

Treasury Department Issues a Statement of the Country's Financial Affairs.

SURPLUS IS OVER $52,000,000

Revenues from All Sources Were $558,887,526 and Expenditures $506,176,590. Available Cash in Treasury is $231,545,012—Effect of War Revenue Repeal.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Keep has made a summarized statement of the principal financial operations of the government for the fiscal year closed today.

The revenues from all sources were $558,887,526. The sources of revenue were: Customs, $283,891,719; internal revenue, $230,115,256; miscellaneous, $44,896,551. Expenditures were $506,176,590, as follows: Civil and miscellaneous, $125,018,-932; war (including rivers and harbors), $118,540,883; navy, $82,696,893; Indians, $12,931,556; pensions, $138,428,618; interest, $28,556,618. The surplus is $52,710,936.

In comparison with 1902 the revenues show a decrease of $6,500,707, and expenditures an increase of $34,985,732. The surplus shows a decrease of $36,676,439. The revenues from customs increased $20,447,010. Internal revenue decreased $41,764,806, due wholly to the war revenue repeal act. Miscellaneous receipts increased $8,727,148. More than half of this increase is due to larger sales of public lands. The surplus for 1903 is $9,710,938 greater than was estimated. These figures do not include the revenues and expenditures of the postal service.

Cash in the Treasury.

The available cash in the treasury is $231,545,012, an increase of $14,357,631 over 1902. The total amount of gold is $631,889,808, an increase of $71,439,508. Outstanding gold certificates, less the amount of same in the treasury on June 30, 1903, were $379,386,789, an increase of $72,657,780 over the net amount in circulation at the beginning of the year.

The treasury notes of 1890, which amounted to $30,000,000 at the beginning of the fiscal year, have by the coinage of silver bullion into standard silver dollars and subsidiary silver, been reduced to $19,243,000.

The amount of public moneys held by national bank depositories June 30, 1903, was $120,938,067, and on June 30, 1902, $151,724,432, an increase of $27,741,365. The number of depositories on June 30, 1903, is 710, an increase of 138 for the year.

Under the provisions of the secretary's offer of March 26, 1903, the amount of bonds refunded to June 30, 1903, was $74,-292,400. In effecting this exchange the government has paid out $8,221,024 in cash for adjustment of premiums and accrued interest, and the annual interest charge of the interest-bearing debt of the United States has been reduced $1,368,962.

Purchases of Bonds.

Bonds to the amount of $16,629,500 have been purchased during the year for the sinking fund, reducing the annual interest charge by $861,487.

The total circulation of national banks on June 30, 1903, was $413,670,659. The increase for the year was $55,098,559.

The comptroller of the currency reports that 597 new national banks have been organized. Of these new banks 359 have capital of $25,000 each approximately, and have been organized in places having a population of less than 3,000. Of these new $25,000 banks, about 42 per cent are not strictly new financial institutions, but are conversions or reorganizations, under the national bank laws, of state and private banks already in existence. Five national banks have failed during the past 12 months and 72 have gone into voluntary liquidation.

HOUSE HAD BEEN STRIPPED

Mrs. William Kennedy of McClure street, Homestead, returned home yesterday after a brief visit to Huntington, Pa., to find her house, which presents to her going away, was handsomely furnished, stripped of its furniture and only a few articles left.

For some time Mrs. Kennedy was unable to account for the missing furniture, and thought the house had been entered by thieves. Later she was informed that her husband had carried the stuff off.

A warrant was issued for the husband and two of his companions who are said to have assisted him in selling the furniture. At the hearing they pleaded guilty and were sentenced 30 days to the workhouse. The men refused to tell where the furniture had been sold. The goods taken were valued at $500.

TORTURING DISFIGURING

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in Eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in acne and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete local and constitutional treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all else fails.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 50c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 50c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors.

UNCLE SAM'S EMPLOYES COUNT HIS CURRENCY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 30.—A count of the money in the treasury was completed today and every dollar accounted for. Treasurer Roberts is responsible for the money in those vaults and today his subordinates reported that the tally was correct to the dot. The total amount counted was $403,000,000.

The vaults contain all the paper money that is held in reserve for circulation purposes, and all of it is in brand new bills in value from $1 to $10,000. Thomas E. Rogers, chief of one of the treasurer's divisions, has had charge of the count, and under his direction were 22 counters and five balers and sealers.

When the force of clerks began the count there were 9,253 bundles of currency, each bundle containing 4,000 notes. Inside these large packages were forty packages each containing 100 notes. A bundle of paper money containing $4,000,000 was identically the same size as a package containing only $4,000, inasmuch as a $10,000 note is the same size as a $1 bill. All of these packages were unwrapped and unsealed and the bills carefully counted by lady employes of the treasury, and upon each package being verified it was turned over to the balers and sealers, who wrapped it, labeled it, and placed it in the same kind of package as before it was opened.

Treasurer Roberts recently had a count made of the United States bonds in the bond vault of the treasury department and the count demonstrated that everything was correct.

HEARINGS ON VIRGIN ALLEY WIDENING

City viewers yesterday began hearing testimony upon the widening of Virgin alley. Attorney H. O. Evans submitted abstracts of deeds showing Henry W. Oliver's holdings on which $868,595.41 damages are claimed. Smith Shannon, representing the First Presbyterian church, submitted a plot of the church property, but stated that he would not be ready until today to present a claim for damages. His plans showed two pieces of land, one containing 2,840 square feet and the other 960 square feet, the latter being leased for 99 years.

Safe From Summer Complaint

All mammas, and papas too for that matter, dread the heat of summer with its danger for the little folks, especially the babies. It is simply heart-breaking to read year after year about the great death rate among children caused by the summer's heat. Yet it is easy to protect the infants against summer complaints, because we know that all these fearful perils begin their beginning in stomach and bowel troubles, and we have a perfect family medicine that will keep the delicate machinery in a child's body clean, regular and in healthy working order in the hottest weather—CASCARETS Candy Cathartic. The plump, bouncing crowing baby shown here is a CASCARET baby. He feels that way winter and summer. Nursing mammas take a CASCARET at times, and it makes their mother's milk mildly purgative and keeps the baby just right. Older children like to take the fragrant, sweet little candy tablet, and are safe from colic, gripes, diarrhoea, sour rash, prickly heat and all the mean troubles that summer brings with
